Council Confronted by a Question More Than Usually Formidable. The city council is confronted by a serious roblem in the way of street cleaning during March. There has been no street cleaning work done during the winter and the result is that the streets are in a terrible condition and the demands for the abatement of crying nulsances in the form of accumulations of filth in the gutters that accumulations of filth in the gutters that have been growing since last fall are coming from all directions. The problem that confronts the council is a financial one. The streets and alleys committee, under whose direction the street cleaning work must be done, has only been given the customary amount of $200 to be expended on the streets during the month. Nearly two-thirds of this will be consumed in the payment of salaries in the department and the resalaries in the department, and the re-mainder will be more than used in the small amount of crossing work that has already

The whole question of city expenses for the month of March is a most serious one for the city administration. The difficulty is brought about by the change of the law which makes the fiscal year end on April 1 instead of March 1 as formerly, and the financial calculations for the whole year candidates for ward aldermen, were the centers of the greatest strife. In all of ing the extra month added by the new law these the crowds were large and noisly ensurmounting the obstacles is the problem that confronts the council. The receipts L. A. Casper, the present member of the council from that ward, had announced his determination not to again be a candidate.

This determination was adhered to until department without any funds whatever to ing of the council on Monday night the matter was referred to the committee and the mayor and city attorney to see if some method could not be devised for raising the money necessary to do the work. The first effort was made yesterday, but the investigations did not produce any encouraging promises of ultimate success.

The discussion brought up again the whole question of the methods of street cleaning that have been in vogue for years and which have caused the expenditure of large sums of money and not improved the condition of the streets. Last spring over $1,400 was expended in hiring men and teams to scrupe off the mud from the paved streets and cart it away. The work was in progress about two weeks and at the end of that time there was nothing in the appearance of the alleged cleaned streets to show that any cleaning at all had been done. The conviction is becoming more and more fixed that the only sane method of street cleaning to be em-ployed is the use of street sweepers and regular sweeping on all days possible, in win-ter and summer.

The street sweeper campaign which was inaugurated and waged with considerable energy by several members of the council last summer and with the approval of about all of the business men and large property owners will no doubt be reopened again and urged with greater persistency than ever by a still larger number. It has been conclusively shown that the cost of operating at least one large power sweeper sufficient to cover all of the business portions of the city two or three times a week will be no greater than has been paid each year for a lot of utterly worthless hand work. During the winter about all of the street sweeper manufacturers in the country have sent in circulars describing their devices, and the aldermen have become familiar with the good and bad points of all of the sweepers made. It is safe to say that a majority of the members of the present council would now vote for the present council would now vote for the purchase of at least one sweeper if the matter was brought up. What the feeling will be when the four new mem-bers to be elected take their seats in April is a matter of speculation merely but it asserted that some of the candidates already nominated are favorable to a trial of street cleaning by the use of modern power ma-

CHANGES IN THE SCHOOL LAWS

Superintendent Barrett Undertake to Make Provisions Plain. The ambiguity of some portions of the new school laws that went into effect for the first time with the issuance of the new code has caused a good deal of trouble. The discovery has been made in some instances that conditions imposed were absolute impossibilities. The chief trouble lies in the sections providing for election of new school boards, as at Macedonia, for instance, where there were grave doubts if the school election could be held at all this year, leaving the district in a disorganized condition that Superintendent Sawyer feared would result in temporarily closing the schools. The matter was promptly taken before the legislature and the necessary cor-rections or changes have been made. County Superintendent Sawyer yesterday received the following communication from State Su-perintendent Barrett citing the changes made and explaining the law as it now stands applying to the school elections next Monday: To Boards of Directors: The general as-To Boards of Directors: The general assembly has made very important changes in the law regarding the coming school elections on the second Monday in March. The sections printed in this circular show the law as modified and as it now stands, the acts being in effect by publication yesterday and today. It is not likely that other changes will be made in the law affecting the school elections this year. We send this information at the earliest possible moment in order that you may be governed by the new law in giving the notice of the election, if your district is affected thereby. The insertion of the words "or village" in sections 2,744 and 2,754 gives independent school districts composed in whole or in

Mr. Mynster declared that he appreciated the honor shown him, for the reason that it was the first time is his life he had been accorded the privilege of presiding over a republican convention. He looked upon it as the most emphatic exemplification of the proverb that "while the lamp holds out to burn the vilest sinner may return." He hoped that many others who had been political sinners like himself had seen the error of their ways, and, having been outside of the fold, would return and stay returned, as he intended to do. He predicted a ciean victory for all republics candidates placed before the people of Council Bluffs this spring.

There was a disposition to hurry matters along and it was decided that instead of making the customary nominating speeches and presentation of candidates that an informal ballot should be taken for the three candidates for the school board. The decandidates for the school board for the the word "town" means incorporation, and does not mean to recognize townsites platted and number of candidates before the convention, among whom were F. Necessity of Protection at Railway Grade Crossings. The motor accident at the Northwestern railway crossing on Broadway on Monday evening was the occasion of a good deal of talk among members of the city council and sity for making new regulations for the precidents much greater. The sentiment was in favor of endeavoring to induce the railway company to make such changes in its switch-ing arrangements as will reduce the number of trains crossing the street and the estabthe other the street traffic. It is only a ques-tion of time when a fearful accident will avert it. Some effort was made yesterday to fix the responsibility for Monday night's accident, but without satisfactory results. From all that could be learned the motor company believes the rallway train crew was responsi-ble. The damage to the car was found to

THE CITY'S STREETS.
Confronted by a Question fram Usually Formidable. council is confronted by a serious the way of street cleaning during the winter and the mat the streets are in a terrible mat the streets are in a terrible winter and the winter and the mat the streets are in a terrible winter and the winter and the mat the streets are in a terrible winter and the mat the streets are in a terrible winter and the winter than to have the case dropped, willing to use all her find the mother to use all her influence to have the case dropped, willing to use all her find the match to use all her influence to have the case dropped, willing to use all her for some time.

Of course he wants one—all the other boys have the case of the mother.

The other criminal cases on the assignment to escape punish.

The tribute to the doubt the match to use all her for the mother to use all her for the match to use all her fo it. We have all kinds-just received them. Shirts with collars attached—shirts without any collars—shirts with stiff bosom—shirts with soft bosom-shirts that are coloredshirts that are plain white—shirts that have ate at noon today Senator Trewin assured white body and colored bosom—all kinds of shirts. And then for the real small boy we have a waist that looks just like a shirt—stiff bosom, separate cuffs and to be worn with a white collar. The only thing that makes it look like a waist is the patent belt attachment.

TO CURE COLD IN ONE DAY Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25c. The genuine has L. B. Q. on each tablet.

CHEYENNE, March 8 .- (Special Tele gram.)-Officers Swanson and Laney reached Rock Springs tonight after a forced ride of 100 miles, bringing with them Patrick L. Johnstone, one of the murderers of Stang and Hoy. At Bassett's ranch they were forced to leave the traveled route to elude thirty armed ranchmen who wanted to lynch the prisoner. Colorado officers took the other prisoners, Lant and Tracey, and started for Hahn's Peak, the county seat of Rout county, Colorado, but it is not known if they have reached there. Excitement was intense in Rock Springs tonight over the re-cent murders and capture, and Sheriff Edgar secretly moved Johnstone to Green River City.
