Congregationalists Take Up and Settle an Educational Controversy.

NORFOLK SCHOOL GOES OUT OF BUSINESS

The decision is based on the assumption that Mr. Galley and his wife spent only the The decision is based on the assumption that there is not room in the state for the two institutions on a paying basis.

Doane college had a good start and was came to the front as a rival for Congregational support. After a rivalry more or less warm, in 1891, Gates secured recognition, and there were then two Congregational colleges in Nebraska, each entitled to support from the general church. Later Chadron came in with a college, demanding recogni-tion, but was unable to show the required equipment and strength, and was only ac-corded academic privileges. About four years ago Norfolk made a bid for the removal tollege. This has gone even to the verge of imosity, with all the accompaniment of intense jealousy between the rival communi-The situation finally became unbearaole from a Congregational point of view, and recently the ministers of that denomination ok steps to bring about an adjustment of the difficulty. ROOM FOR BUT ONE. It was mutually agreed between the two colleges that there was room for only one; that it must be one of the two; that there could be no compromise, and each college bound itself to abide by the decision of the committee. The question to be decided was: Which is the Congregational college of northern Nebraska? Rev. A. L. Frisble, D.D., of Des Moines; Rev. Michael Burnham, D.D., of St. Louis; Rev. Henry Hopkins D.D., of Kansas City; Rev. F. T. Balley D.D., of Denver, and Rev. D. N. Beach, D.D., of Denver constituted the committee. Its first session was held in Omage on Tuesday, when the preliminaries of the work were gone over. On Wednesday the committee visited Norfolk and took testimony, and on Thursday a session was held at Neligh. Returning to Omaba Thursday evening the committee took up the considera tion of the evidence obtained and debate the matter until after 1 o'clock on Friday morning. Then the report was made out and signed by all.

In its findings the committee is unant-mous and thus the two colleges will be deprived of any opportunity for prolonging the contest, which is now thought to be happily GATES COLLEGE WINS.

Gates college is held to be the Congregational college of northern Nebraska. It is recommended that the newer and smaller college at Norfolk shall wind up its cor-porate affairs at the close of the present school year and go out of existence. The committee is emphatic in its statement that those who organized the Norfolk college ere true to their highest convictions and that in the consideration of the case there has been only respect for their motives; but the committee does not recognize that the institution was called for by the necessities of the cause. Attention is called to the fact that Gates college will now enter upon new responsibilities and the committee coursels the establishment of friendly relations between those now interested in the two institutions. The amalgamation of the faculties and beards of trustees is suggested, but the report does not specifically recommend this procedure. The report refers polotedly to the fact that Gates college must not in any ny become a local institution. It is not Neligh college, but a college for the whole of northern Nebraska and the toard of trustees should be representative of the

In closing the report the ministers call the fact that great care should be exercised in husbanding the money that is set aside for the permanent endowment of college. Its use for current expensed of the college is never justified.

Copies of the report and findings were mailed to Norfolk and Neligh yesterday.

BLAKE HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

Driver Thrown from His Engine While Go ing to a Fire.

HIS PRESENCE OF MIND SAVES HIS LIFE

Gives the Occupants a Bad Scare and Brings Out the Fire Department. "

Driver Blake of Engine No. 3 had a narrow escape from terrible injuries, if not death, yesterday afternoon while responding to an alarm of fire which was turned in from the Midland hotel on North Sixteenth street. A bad and dangerous street car track crossing at Seventeenth and Dodge streets was the cause of the accident.

In going to the scene of the supposed fire the engine, as well as other parts of the fire apparatus, proceeded north on Seventeenth street from Farnam in order to avoid Sixteenth street, which is ordinarily well filled with vehicles. The pavements were slippery and for that reason the teams were not driven above the sharp trot. Spectators, who were many in number, say that the team of Engine No. 3 was well under control.

When the engine struck the rough wooden block paying on Dodge street Driver Blake was jostled in his seat. Then the heavy en-Millard. Failing in securing this, the Norfolk people set up a college of their own, and since that time there has been flerce competition with Gates eastern capitalists. He reports the Grand tween the truck and the horses in front of the control of the c eastern capitalists. He reports the Grand Encampment district as being very rich in several kinds of minerals. Gold, copper and cobait prevail, and they appear in such paythe pole with the other. In that position he was dragged along with the engine. IT WAS A CLOSE CALL.

Both Engineer Anderson and Assistant Engineer Rocheford noticed Blake's fall. The latter leaped from the engine and attempted to run to the heads of the horses, but failed. Engineer Anderson, however, clambered upon the engine and made his way to the driver's dations in Grand Encampment, not even a seat. He grabbed the reins and finally brought the running horses to a stop. By made twenty years ago, but there was no way reached, two blocks away from where the driver had fallen.

Blake was assisted from his precarlouposition. It was found that he was not badly hurt, his injuries consisting of bruises on his shoulders and limbs. His escape was considered remarkable. Had he fallen to the ground he could hardly have escaped death. Either he would have been run over by the heavy vehicle or else he would have been mangled under the firebox, which extends to within a foot of the ground. In either

Another accident marred the run of the firemen. As Assistant Chief Saulter's buggy was crossing Capitol avenue on Seven-teenth street, it ran over a greyhound which has been making its quarters at No. 3 en-gine house and has accompanied the fire iad-dies to fires. One of the legs of the animal

A short time afterward, amoke was seen issuing from the floor of the second story, but it was gone when the department arrived. It is believed that some of the insulation about the wires was set afire.

The wiring was put in before the ordinance now in e latence was passed. The city electrician had condemned three-quarters of the wiring in the structure before and had sent four no-tices to the proprietor that the remainder must be replaced, but no attention was paid City Electrician Shurig asserted that he would run no more chances of having the building set on fire through defects in

If any fear existed in the mind of the Omaha theater-going public that Roland Reed, in exploiting a new play, has become other than the same old Roland, that doubt of his steadfastness was speedily dispelled last night as the action of "A Man of Ideas" improvement which can be of any value to those who ride on its magnificently equipped progressed at Boyd's. Mr. Sydney Rosenfeld has written entertaining plays-not a few. and has evidently constructed this one in strict conformity to the demands of Mr. Reed's own personality and of Miss Rush's not unnatural desire to appear in the un-wonted but decidedly becoming garb of Rosalind. There seem to be less oppor-tunities than usual in it for the actor to be funny. His part is that of a promoter of schemes, who is endeavering to work a troiley road franchise through a city council, who gets this wires crossed in the matter of a bribe, and who finally gets off his own personal trolley in a love affair with Miss Rush's widow. Incidentally, there is a this portion of the city have been whole act given up to a rehearsal for a for better fire protection, but up proposed out-of-door performance of "As You Like It," in course of which Miss is enabled to sing coon songs in the foresof Arden. As has been hinted above, she is quite charming in the "swashing and mertial outside" of Rosalind; and she shows several other pretty costumes, which set off her blade beauty admirably.

The company is in most respects the same as that which has supported Mr. Reed for some seasons past. Mr. Tupper, Mr. Abbe, Mr. Hicks, Mr. Westford, Mr. Browne and Mr. Julian Reed are the men, and Miss Monte Donico, Miss Maud White and Mrs.

That is all the more reason, however, why the public should not miss the only remaining opportunity to see it, at the matinee today. To-night a much better and more amusing play, Mr. Reed's success of last season, "The Wrong Mr. Wright," will be presented.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

Quite a number of the First ward republicans are urging W. B. Vansant to become a candidate for city treasurer. Ike Copen harve is also being urged to make the race for councilman from that ward. Mr. Vaneant has consented to stand for renomina tion for the city council, but he has no sa yet given out any decision in the treas uryship matter. A great many of the re-publicans who favor Vansant for treasurer would like to see Dr. W. H. Some of these same repub-licans want to induce Jim Jones to allow his name to be used in the convention for mem ber of the city council. Nebraska Clothing Co

It's just as we tell you it is. We are making entirely new prices on Boys and Children's suits this Spring. We are offering some of the choicest patterns and nicest goods that we could possibly find in the markets, and selling them for less-much less-than others ask for common patterns and inferior cloths. Today we will have ready the three new styles in knee pant suits for boys 7 to 14 and two new lines of those handsome Juveniles which are making so much talk. The "regular" suits will be priced $2.00, $2.50 and three dollars and the novelties will be marked $2.25 and $1.75. Today also we will have several new lines of men's suits ready, mostly in medium grades from $6.00 to $8.00, with one or two lines of fine suits that will be marked $9.50 and $12.00 a suit. Pooh! you say. They can't be very fine for that. Can't they, though? Well, you would think they couldn't, but if you will gaze in our east window or better yet, step up to our second floor and examine them, you will turn your thinkin' cap the other way round. They are not only as fine but finer than you ever bought outside of The Nebraska for fifteen dollars, and if you want to "just look" at them you had better leave your money at home, for they'll coax the money out of many a man's pocket before the season is through. They're just that fine.

Our eastern buyer is not the seventh son of a son-of-a-gun, therefore he is not gifted with second sight. He can't produce wonderful buying be-Unfortunate, Indeed, for it prevents him from running about sweat shops and tenement houses. Besides, he is for the benefit of the good, common people of Omnha. Rot! Rot! 'Tis to laugh. Such rank advertisements would draw from a wooden Indian a tear of regret.

Sorry our buyer is not such a crackn-jack_too bad, indeed. But if any great "I am" buyer will come here, we'll promise to teach him a lesson or two. If any "We are the only store" bragger will produce a 3-piece fancy embroldered boys' suits, as good in quality and as costly trimmed as ours at $1.90, then we are willing to acknowledge defeat. We leave it to the people. Come! We urge you to decide.
