BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETING Chairmen of Standing Committees Submit Their Reports.

At a special meeting of the Board of Education last night the chairman of each standing committee submitted a full report, giving all of the details connected with his department of the school management. These were read and approved. The size and character of the volume that is to be printed was more fully indicated by the voluminous report submitted by Superintendent Hisey, who estimated that it would occupy altogether about 120 pages of the book. About seventy pages of this report will include the courses of study and reviews, twenty pages will be devoted to the High school, ten pages to and five to seven pages to the exposition of the kindergarten work. The teachers' committee's report and also that of the janitors and supplies, will show the number and as signment of the teachers and janitors, the wages paid and other matters of interest. The report of the buildings and grounds committee goes exhaustively into the subject of school property and contains many suggestions for improvement.

All of the reports were referred to a com-nittee appointed by the chair, which will act as a supervising committee to have charge of the publication and be empowered to receive additional reports and make such clerical changes and corrections as may be necessary in the manuscripts.

The city republican convention yesterday attracted a large crowd at the south room of the county court house, notwithstanding the fact that it was called in the busiest part of a busy afternoon. There were fully as many democrats as republicans in the crowd that filled all the available space outside of the railing and they apparently felt as deep interest in the result of the deliberations of the seventy-odd delegates. of the exposition,

Leonard Everett was chosen chairman and conducted the work of the convention in strict accordance with parliamentary rules. He refused to accede to the demand for a speech and thanked the convention for the honor conferred, after declaring that the gathering was a meeting of business men charged with the duty of naming the men who were to constitute the city administration for the next year. The suggestion that it should be a business convention was accepted and a motion was made and curried that there should be no nominating speeches. To avoid further delay it was agreed that there was no necessity for the appointment of the usual committees and that the published lists of delegates should constitute the convention.

E. R. Olendorf was made secretary. It was observed that all of the delegates selected at the caucuses were not present and each delegation was instructed to cust the full vote of the precinct. L. M. Shubert endeavored to have the plan of shutting off speeches reconsidered, but failed to carry

The first candidate to be selected was for mayor and an informal ballot was taken for nominations, E. E. Mayne and Thomas Metcalf were appointed tellers. On the roll call of precincts J. P. Hess received 3 votes; Alexander Wood, 9; C. B. Randlett, 27; Dr. H. B. Jennings, 23. A. T. Flickinger had requested the delegates not to vote for him, but despite this some of them did so. W. J. Jameson also received three votes. A formal ballot was then taken, with a re-sult that Randlett received 37 3-5 and Jennings 26 2-5 votes. As only 34 were necessary to a choice this gave Randlett the nomination. The announcement was loudly cheered and the chair was instructed to appoint a committee to bring Mr. Randlett before the convention. The committee, con-sisting of L. M. Shubert, F. H. Hill and William Arnd, left the room, and after an interval of several minutes found the candidate and escorted him into the room. RANDLETT'S ACCEPTANCE.

Mr. Randlett was not a whit abashed by the suddenness of the shower of honors poured upon him and mounted the platform beside the chairman and made a hearty speech, after he was formally presented by of surprise as well as satisfaction and de-clared that he stood before the convention as a candidate for the highest office within the gift of the republican party of Council Bluffs, untrammeled by pledges and with no promises of any kind that would interfere with his determination and the desire of the party and the people to give a clean, honorable and progressive administration. He regarded the nomination as being ent to election and he feit that when ne was thanking the convention for the

he was thanking the convention for the nomination he was also thanking the republicans of the city, and some democrats, for his election. He asked for the mature judgment, kind easistance and suggestions of the members of the party and all other good citizens to support his wish and determination to give an honest, business-like, clean and progressive administration. He begged for the honest and hearty support of the republicans and promised the port of the republicans and promised the democrats that they chould have a wide-awake campaign. The speech was well re-ceived and heartly applauded.

were the candidates. On the formal ballot, which gave Straub 23, Wilson 24, and Brewick 18, Straub attempted to withdraw his name, but wee not permitted to do so. On the next ballot he received 39, and the nomination, Wilson getting 24 and Brewick 5.
For city solicitor the informal ballot brought out the names of A. S. Hazelton, O. D. Wheeler, S. B. Sayder, A. W. Askwith and H. J. Chambers. Hazelton received 33 on this ballot and Wheeler 22. The formal ballot gave Hezelton the nomination with

The convention closed with the presentation and adoption of the union label resolution of the Bluffs City Typographical union, pledging all of the candidates to insist upon the presence of the label upon all printing work used in their offices or required in the city campaign.

RANDLETT'S PEDIGREE. C. B. Randlett, the republican candidate for mayor, is a young man who has achieved considerable distinction. He was appointed as a cadet to West Point from New Hampshire and almost completed his course in that great military school, when he reached the conclusion that a military life was not what he wanted. He resigned and returned to his home at Concord and was immediately to his home at Concord and was immediately appointed to the position of assistant secretary of state. At the close of the term of office of his principal he was nominated by the republicans and elected to the position held by his principal. He was still serving in his important office when he made a visit to Council Bluffs a little more than six years to Council Bluffs a little more than six years ago. Shortly after coming here he became acquainted with Miss Langmade, shortly after resigned, married and has since been one of the most progressive and successful business men in the city. If he is elected there is no doubt of his ability to make good his promise in the convention that he would have the convention that he would give the city an energetic, wide-awake amb businesslike administration.

LUTHERANS AND SUNDAY OPENING

"General Synod" Lutherans, as follows:

The Transmississippi Exposition is to be held in Omaha from June to November. The Ministerial union of Omaha has been exerting itself to secure the closing of the gates of the exposition on Sunday. A committee of the Ministerial union was appointed to wait upon the directory of the exposition, if possible, to secure this, and another committee was appointed to secure the co-operation of the presbyteries, synod and conferences and the support of the various young people's organizations in this effort. The various denominations and young people's societies have endorsed the effort of the Ministerial union to secure Sunday closing. At the last regular monthly meeting of the Ministerial union the committee to wait upon the directorate of the exposition reported that "the executive committee of the exposition directory declines to confer at the present time with the committee in regard to this matter." Upon recommendation of the committee the Ministerial union declared itself opposed to Sunday opening of the exposition.

CITY BANK FAILS

Home Savings Bank is Compelled to Close Its Doors.

City School "Diktriet, $50,000, Are Tied Up in the Failure.

SIOUX CITY, March 16 .- (Special Teleram.)—The Home Savings bank of Sloux City closed its doors this afternoon and later on a receiver was appointed for the institu tion. This is the first bank failure Sioux City has had since the fall of 1896, when five banks went to the wall. The worst feature of the suspension of this bank is the fact that it has the money of the school district of Sloux City on deposit. The amount is $50,000, all of the available cash of the district.

The primary cause of the bank's failure is the fact that H. S. Hubbard, the cashier, was formerly the treasurer of the school district, but a few days ago a new treasurer was elected. Hubbard would have to turn the money over to him in a few days and was unable to do so, owing to the condition of the bank. The treasurer is under bonds to protect the district against loss. The assets of the bank are given at $100,000, with total liabilities of $65,000. The capital stock was $50,000. The receiver says from what he has seen of the condition of the institution it will pay out all right in a short time. It has been known for a long time that the bank has been in close financial straits, and the deposits have been drop-ping off every month. The bank did not close until 3 o'clock and consequently there ping off every month. was no run on any of the other banks of the city and it is not thought that there will be any excitement. This leaves Sloux City with but one savings bank, all of the others having failed for various amounts.

VICTORY FOR BOARD OF CONTROL Bill Will Pass the Senate Today With

out a Doubt. DES MOINES, March 16 .- (Special Telegram.)-When the senate adjourned at 6 o'clock this afternoon it had been in session for seven hours, working all the time on the board of control bill. The day had been one of repeated victories for the measure. The ways and means committee had been in the saddle. It carried every point, no amendment could be passed without the consent of the committee. Scores of them were defeated because the committee whips indicated displeasure. The opponents of the bill made a fight for a motion to reduce the salaries of members of the board from $3,000 to $2,500, but were defeated. They made another fight on the amendment to except the Soldiers' home from the operations of the law; it likewise failed. Late in the afternoon Lewis of Poweshiek offered a substitute for the whole bill. It was merely a scheme to kill time and embarrass the committee. The managers of the bill made a fight and on roll call the privilege of introducing the substitute and having it printed was denied, an almost unheard of thing. During the afternoon the ways and means committee applied the cloture and although the opposition squirmed and shouted "gag," the committee carried everything. An effort was made to reach, a vote on the bill and twice the time of the session was extended, but it was impossible. The vote will be reached was impossible. The vote will be reached tomorrow, when the measure will pass by an overwhelming majority.

The most sensational incident of the session was precipitated when at 3:55 p. m., Funk moved to extend the time of the ses sion till 5 o'clock. Healy instantly moved the previous question on this motion; the comas the roll call on the previous question was concluded Blanchard, with a glance at the clock, demanded that the roll be verified. It was plainly a move to kill a few more seconds of precious time. The verifi-cation was had and there was half a minute left. Lothrop rose and with great delibera-tion announced that he desired to change his vote. It was another effort to squander the seconds. Blanchard followed with the announcement that he wished to change his vote. Carroll came to the rescue with the point that changes must be made before the verification. It was instantly sustained and there were ten seconds left. "The question is on the motion of the senator from Dick-inson," announced Lieutenant Governor dilliman, gavel in hand and his eye on the clock. "Those in favor will say aye."

There was a chorus of excited "ayes."
"Those opposed, no." A discordant burst of
"nays" came from the determined opposition, a dozen of whom were on the floor clamoring for recognition, when the chair put the question, ignoring them all. It was done in less time than is needed for the telling. It was plain from his manner that Lieutenant Governor Milliman was getting his choier aroused. "The motion is carried," announced the chair. The hand of the clock stood at the hour of 4. re was a burst of applause for the chair There was a burst of applause for the chair as the announcement was made. But a mo-ment later the chair announced: "The jourment later the chair announced: "The journal clerk insists that the negative vote was not taken until after the expiration of the time and declines to record it. I have instructed him to record it and he still declines. The matter is in the hands of the senate." Journal Clerk Miles had taken matters into his own hands. He, too, had been watching the clock. As he saw it the clock's hands jumped before he heard the negative vote. The presiding officer saw it differently. The senate must decide.

"I move, Mr. President," announced Senator Berry, "that the senate instruct the journal clerk to record the vote, as announced by the chair."

Carroll promptly seconded the motion.

Carroll promptly seconded the motion. Again Blanchard came to his feet. He was the head and center of the fillibustering "Mr. President, I see no reason why such a question should be taken up now and its unseemly details discussed by the sen

The chair was by this time thoroughly aroused. He did not propose to submit to any more of such treatment. "For the preservation and protection of the authority of the senate as exercised through the chair, this matter must be decided and decided at once," replied the chair with spirit. This declaration was received with another burst of applause. "The question is on the motion by the senator from Warren, to instruct the second assistant journal clerk to record the vote as announced. Those in favor will say aye." There was a shout of "ayes," accompanied by applause; not a negative vote was cast. Judge Blanchard sat white but uncast. THOUSANDS ATTEND THE FUNERAL.

Remains of General Rosecrans Arc Placed in the Tomb. LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 16.—The funeral of Major General W. S. Rosecrans today was one of the most impressive and it disease germs into your body. They elaborate this city has ever witnessed. Thousands ascembled to honor the dead warrior. Business was interrupted during the ceremonles.

The remains were removed from the bier at the city hall, where they had been lying in state, to the cathedral at an early hour, and in a quiet manner. The special military escort provided by General Last accompanied the remains and resumed the watch in the cathedral.

Promptly at 10 o'clock requiem high mass was celebrated at the cathedral, Rt. Rev. Bishop Montgomery officiating, assisted by members of the clergy from all parts of the

The casket rested in front of the altar and upon it were many beautiful and striking floral pieces. The decorations about the altar and throughout the cathedral were extremely beautiful and in great profusion. After the service, which lasted about forty minutes, the military took charge of the funeral.

The column formed with General Last at its head. They were followed by a troop of cavalry, the Seventh regiment band, the cavary, the Seventh regiment band, the signal corps, Colonel Berry and stuff, com-panies A, C, F and I, Seventh infantry, N. G. C.; delegation of the Sons of Veterans, Confederates' association, Grand Army of the Republic, Loyal Legion and Union Veterans' league following. Then came the hearse and directly behind it a rideriess horse was led. The family of the deceased rode in car-riages, following the hearse, and behind these were many other vehicles containing members of civic bodies and representatives

The column marched south from the ca-thedral on Main street to Washington, thence to the cemetery.

The services at the cemetery were brief. There were vocal music and short addresses by Rev. W. A. Knighton, Hon. F. Glaze, Captain J. C. Oliver, F. W. Stein and F. H. Poindexter. At the conclusion of the services one of the infantry companies fired a salute of three volleys over the tomb, taps were sounded and the warrior was left to his
