The grand jury, under a recent ruling of the United States supreme court, was also obliged to ignore the charge of improper use of the mails loiged against a fellow named W. H. Hocking, who is now in fail at Keekuk. The case is a most peculiar one, and it almost broke the hearts of the members of the grand jury and the attaches of the district attorney's office when it was discovered that his case was covered by the decision of the high court. Hocking wrote a grossly obscene letter to a man with whom he had been having some trouble and who was threatening to prosecute him for theft and other scrous offenses. The federal statute under which such offenses have been heretofore punished prohibits the sending of obscene and lewd writing through the mails, and the supreme court has held that obscene matter alone is not indictable, but the letters must contain lewd expressions. The expressions in this letter were very gross, but there was nothing that could be construcd into lewd expressions, and under the instructions of the district attorney the

CASES IN THE DISTRICT COURT.

J. J. Shea's Latest List of Injunctions Excites Some Interest.

Yesterday was the last day for filing cases to be tried at the March term of the district court, and during the day only two cases were filed, besides the batch of injunctions against the saloons applied for by J. J. Shea.

The saloon cases were filed early in the day and were looked over by a number of attorneys and others interested in the morals of the city. All of the petitiens were made out on the blanks which Shea had printed in bulk when he first began his systematic at-tacks upon the saloons in 1895, and all as originally printed were for the November term of that year. The necessary changes were made to bring them up to date, but in a number of them the old claim for $100 at-torney's fees was allowed to stand. Salocu scepers all over the city felt a good deal of interest in the new attacks, and all of those interest in the new attacks, and all of those whose names did not appear in the list printed yesterday morning hunted up their old receipts and busied themselves in accer-taining how they stood in relation to Shea and his legal claims upon their earnings. Whether more are to follow is only a mat-ter that is known to Mr. Shea. Mrs. Ella Wilson filed her petition for di-vorce from her husband, Amos Wilson, al-leging that his temperament has become so sullen and morose in recent years that she has found it impossible to live with him. Wilson is a switchman employed in one of the local railway yards and well known in the city. Mrs. Wilson alleges that her hus-

She alleges that on March 7 he tried to shoot her. She asks for the custody of their children, five in number

A suit was filed by Scott & Davis, a firm of attorneys in Princetco, III, against Mrs. Catherine Hensel, claiming of her $4,000 attorneys' fees, with costs sufficient to raise the amount to even $5,000. The firm alleges that she employed it to act for her in some business matters relating to the sale and transfer of a tract of 240 acres of land in Bureau county, Illinois, and several lots in the town of Princeton.

Remembered by the President.

Remembered by the President. President McKinley has shown his love for music by rewarding Mar. Bouricius of Council Bluffs for all he has done for the make of music. He has sent him the pictures of some of the best composers of music, which he held in his possession. They have now arrived and can be seen in the window of Bouricius' Music House, 325 Broadway, where the organ is on top of the building. Catalogue of their immense stock of 10-cent sheet music free by mail.

Sandruski Goes Back to Lincoln. W. B. Baird, clerk of the police court at Lincoln, came to the city yesterday for the Lincoln, came to the city yesterday for the purpose of taking back Sam Sandruski, the bicycle thief. The wheel, which he had in his possession and which he claimed to have bought in Chicago in 1895, proves to be the property of Frank Fisher, a reporter on the Lincoln Journal. It was stolen from the Journal office at 2 o'clock in the morning on the day previous to the arrest of the thief in this city. Sandruski is serving a thief in this city. Saturdiant is serving a sentence of ten days in the county jail here for the theft of a valies at the Milwaukee depot, but Clerk Baird had no difficulty in getting the court to release him. Sandruski admitted that he had stolen the wheel and did not object to returning to Lincoln for trial. Baird says he is an enterprising thief, who is well known to the Lincoln police, and that there will be no difficulty in sending him over the hill, as he is much older than he claims to be.
