FRIENDS OF MEASURE EXPECT SUCCESS

Representatives of Rival Railroad Companies Have a Hot Time Before the Executive Council... Legislative Notes.

OES MOINES, March 19 .- (Special Telegram.)-It is practically certain that the board of control bill will be reached for discussion Tuesday morning in the house. The lower assembly today adjourned until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. At that time the bill will probably be read and amendments offered. The house committee will report the senate bill with a few amendments, but it is believed the bill will pass the lower chamber by Thursday or Friday at the outside. The clause legislating the present superintendents and wardens into office for another four years promises to be one of the sticking points, although it is believed by the committee leaders that opposition to this provision will be defeated. On another point, however, the senate is more fikely to be reversed. There is a growing fooling in the house that it should have a voice in the confirmation of the board. A vigorous protest will be made for an amend-ment covering this point. The house com-mittee, among other amendments, will report one providing supervision of the finan-cial management of three educational institutions which are exempt from the interference of the board in their general conduct. It is understood they are disposed to accept the amendment without protest. Of direction and dispatch, in its consideration, however, the bill is practically assured. The house has grown impatient with the long delay in the senate and will crowd it to its earliest possible passage. The friends of the bill are backed by a good working majority and unreasonable delay will not be tolerated.

Resort on the Top Floor of the Ware Block Cleaned Out. gambling resort in the Ware block, Fifteenth and Farnam streets, has been known to the police for some time as a place where strangers were parted from their money without value received. A few minutes after 8 o'clock last night Chief-of-Detectives Cox, accompanied by Detectives Hudson and Sullivan, visited the room and served a warrant on the occupants. Two men were arrested and a quantity of poker chips, one dozen packs of cards and a poker table, made of rough boards covered with co.ton flannel, were added to the collection of similar contrivances at the police sta-the building and is said to be provided with a private exit upon the roof. This may account for the presence of only two men when the detectives had climbed three flights of stairs and entered the room. They found no game in progress, but active preparations seemed to have been under way. One of the men gave the came of Frenk Corbett and his companion said he would adopt John Doe, the name mentioned in the warrant. His real name is George Trabue and, in company with Corbett, he was arrested on March 12 on complaint of James by their dishonest practices at cards.

SIX-CLUB LEAGUE FORMED YESTERDAY

Lincoln, Nebraska City, Tekamah, Council Bluffs and Red Oak Join Omaha in a Championship Schedule.

There is going to be more high grade foot ball among the leading high school foot bail elevens of eastern Nebraska and western Iowa during the season of 1898 than there has ever been before. The Nebraska and Iowa Intercolastic Foot Ball league became a fact yesterday after a meeting lasting from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 8 o'clock in the evening. The object of the league will be to extend and improve the sport of foot ball among the high schools of this section of the country. The league will include the high schools of Omaha, Lincoln, Nebraska City, Tekamah, Council Bluffs and Red Oak. For playing purposes the league will be divided into two sections, and the winners of each trio will contest together for the championship of the league. The teams of Omaha, Lincoln and Tekamah will compose one section of the league, while those of Council Bluffs, Nebraska City and Red Oak will compose another section. The organization of the league was accomplished by the united action of representatives of all of the high school teams named, with the exception of Nebraska City, whose delegate was unable to be present at yesterday's meeting. The meeting was held in the teachers' room, on the fifth floor, of the city hall. The voting representatives present were: Knight of Omaha, Ringer of Linco'n, Martin of Tekamah, Barnard of Council Bluffs and Rodgers of Red Oak. In addition to these there were about twenty other high school foot ball players present, including Managers Bidwell and Dickinson of Omaha, and a dozen of the players of Council Bluffs, who accounts the school of the players of Council Bluffs, who accounts the school of the players of Council Bluffs, who accounts the school of the players of Council Bluffs, who accounts the school of the school of the players of Council Bluffs, who accounts the school of the school companied Manager Barnard. Profs. Leviston and Bernstein of the Omaha High school for and Benestein of the Omana Riga sensor faculty were on hand to encourage the move-ment, and Secretary Gillan of the Beard of Education was present for awhile. Frank Crawford, Thomas Creigh, Chayles Thomas, E. Buckingham and other old foot bail players were there to aid the youngsters start the movement for the first interschol-

tween Nebraska and Iowa. WORK OF THE MEETING.

The meeting was called to order by Frank B. Knight, jr., of the Omaha High school, who sent out the call for the meeting and who deserves much of the credit for having secured such an auspicious start for the undertaking. Rodgers of Red Oak was chosen secretary.

astic athletic association ever formed be-

As soon as the temporary organization had been effected some discussion arose as to the best means of arranging games among the different members of the league. It was conceded that it was desirable to have each team in the league play each of the five other teams, but such a plan was agreed to be impracticable in that it would involve more traveling and a greater amount of expense than high school teams could stand. It was therefore moved that the league be divided into two sections for playing purposes, the winning teams of the two sections to play together for the pennant of the association. This motion was at first opposed by Red Oak, but was later carried unanimously. A motion that each team in each section play the two other teams in he same section was also carried.

The following schedule of games was ther manimously adopted: Section A-Omah against Tekamah at Tekamah, October 15; Lincoln against Tekamah at Lincoln, Octo-Lincoln against Teaman at Lincoln, Octo-ber 29; Lincoln against Omaha at Omaha. November 12. Section B-Nebraska City against Council Bluffs at Nebraska City, October 8; Red Oak against Nebraska City at Red Oak, October 22; Council Bluffs against Red Oak at Council Bluffs, November 5. The championship game between the winners of Sections A and B will be played on November 19, the place to be decided at future meeting. The schedule as arranged is a strong one. All the games will be played on Saturdays. Each team will have one game on its home grounds and one game away from home. There are no two games arranged for the same Saturday, so that arranged for the same Saturday, members of one team may have an opportunity to see another team at play. The amount of traveling to be done is about venly divided among the teams.

The constitution and by-laws were duly adopted and signed by the representatives of Omaha, Lincoln, Tekamah, Nebraska City, Council Bluffs and Red Oak. The officers of the league will be a president, a vice president, and a secretary. These officers vice president and a secretary. These offices will be filled by the different schools in turn. Council Bluffs will have the presidency, Lincoln the vice presidency and Ne-braska City the secretaryship during the first year, because they come first alphabetic. The executive committee will be composed of the representatives of all the high schools. There will be no treasurer, for there will be no treasury. Each team will pay its own expenses, including its traveling expenses for its one out-of-town game.

Following are the details of play on all the boards:

Pillsbury played a queen's gambit against Blackburn, who declined to accept the gambit pawn. Later on Pillsbury managed to establish a passed pawn on the king's file, which seemed to be of great advantage. However, the advantage seemed not strong enough to win, and although Pillsbury sacrificed his pawn to get an attack, he was finally obliged to accept a draw.

Showalter's play against Burn was also played a queen's gambit declined and was masterly throughout, his brilliant sacrifice being a piece of work which gave the Kentuckian the victory.

The Bostonian, Berry, selected a queen's gambit opening against Caro. Although it looked for a time as if the latter had the better position, Barry, by a very ingenious and elever play, brought about the defeat of his celebrated adversary.

A very interesting game was played on the fourth board between Atkins and Hyme. The New Jersey champion selected a French defense and gave Atkins an opportunity to make a brilliant sacrifice of a plece. Then, however, Hymes came up to the occasion by a most wonderful defensive tactic, and secured a draw.

Not too much praise can be bestowed upon Holges, who conducted a Ruy Lopez against Bellingham. The Staten Islander excelled both in aggressive and defensive movennents and by sheer hard work he administered defeat to his rival.

Delmar was out of form in his contest. His French defense against the Scottish champion, Mills was aceakly played. The latter secured the exchange and left Delmar in a hopeless position, when he resigned.

A long drawn out game ensued between daird and Lococ's. This was an even contest throughout. From beginning to end neither side was able do claim any distinctive advantage at any stage of the game and so only a draw was the legitimate result.

The next time I will give a cup twice the size." Though the match is considered won, the games between Pillsbury and Blackburn, and Locock and Baird, attracted the greatest attention. Blackburn said:

"The last ten hours of my game have been a draw, of course. Pillsbury sacrificed his game in the interest of the match. Had the matter gone to Lasker he could not have decided except in favor of a draw."
