Strong men and strong women make a nation strong. Neither can be strong without good health, and neither can have good health without pure blood. This is why Hood's Sarsaparilla, America's Greatest Medicine is America's Greatest Defense.

America's Greatest Medicine

The Testimonials published by Hood's Sarsaparilla are not from people anxious to advertise themselves, nor are they purchased, but they are from people who have been cured and are willing to tell the story of their cures...

NORTH OMAHA, Neb.—"My husband is troubled with nervous weakness, but whenever he has an attack he takes Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon feels well again. I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for indigestion and it always gives me relief. Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me a vast amount of good."

No Tired Feeling in the Morning. EDGAR, Feb. 2, 1897.—"Last spring I was so much run down in health that I could hardly take care of myself and family. I procured a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and began taking it, and in a short time I felt better. I did not have any tired feeling when I arose in the morning. I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla is a wonderful blood purifier, and we use no other medicine in our family."

Sore Has Disappeared. ARNOLD, Neb.—"When my daughter was 9 years old she had a running sore below her right ear for three months. The doctor advised painting with iodine, but this did no good. I then got a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. She took in all three bottles, when the sore was healed and there has been no sign of its breaking out since that time."

from medicines and became very anxious. One day I asked my druggist if he had a medicine that would do me good. He examined my neck and said if anything would cure me it was Hood's Sarsaparilla. He advised me to purchase three bottles and I did so, and began taking the medicine. In a short time there was a decided improvement, and I continued the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla until a complete cure had been effected. It is now four years since I was afflicted, and no symptom of the disease has ever returned. Hood's Sarsaparilla has done me good in other respects, and I give it all the praise for the health I enjoy."

The following are characteristic Hood's Sarsaparilla testimonials. They tell of things worth telling:

"An eruption came on my neck below my left ear, which caused me much annoyance, and as it continued to grow worse, I finally became alarmed. It refused to yield to ordinary treatment, and I consulted a physician who pronounced it a severe case of eczema. He said it would take a long time to cure it. I followed his prescriptions for eight months, but not obtaining any relief, I went to another physician. He also called the trouble eczema, and said it was the worst case he ever saw. I obtained no relief times my heart would beat so hard and fast! Oh, I cannot begin to tell you all I suffered in the past year! My doctor called it nervous prostration. At the earnest request of a neighbor I decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in a little while I was much gratified to find I could eat and sleep better. This encouraged me to continue, and in two months I improved so much that folks began to say

"How Much Better You Look" I have now taken five bottles, and am perfectly cured. All those bad feelings are gone, and I have gained in weight. I am so thankful for what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done, I cannot help praising it to everyone."

"I am pleased to have an opportunity to speak in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was miserable and dull all the time; had the blues, and could not enjoy the least fun; I felt sick all over. I could not sleep, eat or work with satisfaction. Such awful dyspepsia, distress and cramps in my stomach! My shop was but half a square from my house, and I was obliged to go home two or three times in a day to take some medicine or hot water to relieve the pain. Many a time I went down on my hands and knees or bent over a chair to get relief. I took everything I could hear of in the way of medicines but found no cure until I began the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first bottle did me good and I kept on until I had taken three. The severe pain in my back, headache, distress in my stomach, in fact, all traces of dyspepsia have ceased, and I eat, sleep and work and feel so much better that I cannot thank Hood's Sarsaparilla enough. I now have none of the blues, tired feeling or sleeplessness. I earnestly recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as the best medicine for dyspepsia and distress in the stomach."

HEARING STOCK YARDS CASE

Interesting Testimony Before Examiner in Chancery Court.

DEFENSE CALLS ON ITS WITNESSES

Ex-Manager Babcock Admits that the Business of the Yards Would Be Conducted Without the Maintenance of an Exchange.

Yesterday the South Omaha Live Stock exchange continued the introduction of testimony before Examiner in Chancery Court in the government case in which the exchange is threatened with dissolution. Two more witnesses were examined on the same lines as the day before and the evidence was substantially to the same effect.

George Brown, who has been in the commission business in South Omaha and Chicago for thirty-five years, was called as a witness and gave a history of the causes which led to the founding of the exchange, similar to that told by the former witnesses.

He said that there had been much overcharging for grain and other stuff and that short weight in animals delivered was frequent. The exchange did away with these abuses and drove out of business dishonest men. Its fixed charges enable farmers and stockmen to exchange their stock at a profit in South Omaha.

Attorney Mahoney called the attention of the witness to what Allen Root had said in the government hearing, where he said that he and the American Live Stock company had been driven out of business by the exchange because they had given rebates consisting of 50 per cent of commissions on shipments of stock at the end of six months. This affected farmers directly, because Root had testified that he was the agent of the former alliance to sell the stock of their members.

Mr. Brown said in answer to Attorney Mahoney's question that he was a salesman for the American Live Stock Commission and that he was one with Root and that the latter was not the regularly appointed agent of the alliance, although he had set himself up as such. He said also that some of the boys will dispute the charges of the alliance had ever been assigned to Root.

Upon cross-examination Mr. Brown said that he knew nothing about Root being appointed agent by the alliance at a convention at Grand Island. He did not know whether the American Live Stock Commission was ever given rebates on the work of the exchange, but he said that he had never heard of any case where buyers refused to buy of Root or the company. Once a buyer had refused to buy from him, he had later turned it over to another commission firm to sell it. But he said that he never knew that the company had fallen into disrepute because of the rebates.

The witness said the rates of commission for selling hogs and cattle did not vary whether the market price went up or down. There had been no change in the rates during the hard times. He did not think the charges should be lowered in hard times or if the price of cattle and hogs went down, because the responsibility and the work of the commission men was great. He said the rates as they are are reasonably low for the services of the commission men.

W. N. Babcock, a member of the exchange and former general manager of the South Omaha Stock Yards company, was called. At present he is not connected in any way with the exchange business, but he is one of the managers of the exchange, and he considered the exchange facilitated rather than retarded the business. Mr. Babcock said, too, that he had never known any case where the system used by the exchange, but what seemed to be satisfied. He stated that the system of docking is in favor of the purchaser, and that the exchange has no charge regarding the docking than from the seller.

Upon cross-examination District Attorney Sawyer attempted to show that the stock yards company and the exchange were intimately connected. Mr. Babcock said, however, that the yard company had no more interest in the matter than in the exchange, but wanted to see good terms between both for its own interests. In this connection he said that he had never heard of any complaint made by shippers themselves of the charges of the exchange, but that all complaints resulting in suits and the schedule of charges passed by the last legislature had been gotten up by politicians and legislators.

Were not legislators representatives of the people? asked the district attorney. "They set themselves up as representatives

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

An enthusiastic meeting of republicans was held at night, P. J. Barry, third and L streets, last night. P. J. Barry, republican candidate for mayor, made the principal address of the evening. In starting out Mr. Barry called attention to his record in the city council and asserted that so far as this campaign had been concerned no one had questioned his public record, which had been open to approach and criticism. He said that he stood before the people with perfectly clean hands, no boogie ever having passed through them. He said that the honor he earned by honest toil, and he would rather have the respect and confidence of the people than the praise of the politicians. He promised that he would do all in his power to protect the interests of the citizens and taxpayers. He claimed that the citizens demanded a change in the official management of affairs and he promised a good, clean, economical government if elected.

Burlington's Dummy Train. It was announced yesterday that the Burlington proposed putting on a dummy train to run between this city and Omaha as soon as the improvements now being made in the Fourth ward are completed. The depot, it is understood, is to be built at once and the dummy will be put on to accommodate the employees of the cooper factory to be erected near Thirty-sixth and L streets. Mr. Welch, promoter of the cooperage plant, has been compelled to resign because of ill health, but he has left the details of the plant in the hands of persons who will push the work. The most important thing is the obtaining of sufficient track facilities, and as soon as the ordinance which has been drawn allowing the Burlington the right to use an alley near Thirty-sixth and L streets is passed, the dummy train will be laid and work on the cooper shop commenced. It is stated that this new factory will give employment to about 150 men.

It Was Voted by Ensur. Barney Hughes of South Thirty-sixth street has secured a permanent injunction against the city laying a sidewalk in front of his property. The case came up before Judge Fawcett yesterday and upon the showing made the injunction was granted. It will be remembered that when the ordinance ordering the sidewalk was laid Mayor Ensur vetoed it, asserting that there was no necessity for a walk in that locality.

Increase in Stock Receipts. The receipts of live stock at the yards up to and including Saturday were: Cattle, 145,719; hogs, 410,991; sheep, 304,005. This is an increase as compared with last year of 4,984 cattle, 99,465 hogs and 141,552 sheep. The big increase in sheep is remarkable and goes to show that this is one of the best sheep markets in the country at the present time.

Democratic Campaign Opens. The democratic campaign opened last night with a mass meeting at Blum's hall, Twenty-sixth and N streets. The principal speakers were Mayor Ensur and Hon. I. J. Dunn of Omaha. There was considerable applause and close attention was paid to the addresses.

EXPLOSION AT CITY GAS WORKS.

East Wall of the Heating Room is Blown Out.

An explosion at the city gas works shortly after 8 o'clock last night destroyed a small section of the works used as a purifying room and inflicted damages amounting to about $300.

The explosion was of sufficient violence to be heard uptown and the flash of bright light that accompanied it was visible for a long distance. Apprehension that a serious accident had occurred was strengthened by the gradual dying down of gas jets all over town and was further intensified by a double fire alarm that was turned in, two boxes in the vicinity of the works being pulled.

The room in which the purifiers are housed is separated from the main building by a solid brick wall with but one opening and is located at the east end of the works. It is one story high and had walls of brick. The east wall of this room was blown out and fell into the street. Part of the roof was thrown off on the north side, but the main part of it settled down over the purifiers, completely covering them.

A portion of the roof was composed of tar paper with tinder-wood timbers. The flames from the explosion ignited this debris and there were excellent chances for a good fire. Before the department arrived employees about the works had the flames extinguished by the use of the hose at the building.

The cause of the accident could not be ascertained, but it is believed that the explosion there were none of the employees in the room or near it. The night foreman, Mr. Whaley, was in the opposite end of the works at the time the explosion occurred. Furnaces in the generating room, and the first indication they had of the trouble was the jar of the explosion. This was just sufficient to start the alarm, when the purifiers broke into the street without disjoining the wall, leaving the surface as smooth as a paved street.

Where the gas came from that caused the mischief is a mystery. It is supposed that some of the purifiers sprung a leak and the gas escaped to fill the room, but what ignited it is an unsolved problem. The purifiers hidden from view by piles of debris it was feared that serious damage had been done and the gas was shut off for a short time. A strong pressure was applied without developing any leak and the gas was permitted to flow on again into the city mains.

Men were set to work at once in cleaning up the debris and the accident will not interfere at all with the operation of the plant.

Work of a Friend. Claus Nelson, a farmer residing in East Omaha north of the Swift ice houses, is seeking the party who has stolen his horses. Last Monday night some party broke into Nelson's barn and with an ax cut a deep hole in the side of a valuable horse and the animal was again visited and two more horses were seriously injured. It is thought that all three horses were stolen from the same place. Nelson has his suspicions and proposes to do a little detective work on his own account.

Miss Mcintosh's Funeral. The funeral of Miss Emma Mcintosh took place at the residence of Mrs. W. W. Williams, 114 Sherman avenue, yesterday afternoon and was attended by a large number of the teachers of the city schools. The services were conducted by Rev. John McCue of the Episcopal church. The remains were taken to Topeka, Kan., for interment. Miss Mcintosh was born in the city of St. Louis, Mo., six years of which time had been spent in the Lake school, where during the last year she taught the eighth grade.

Regarding Remedies for Dyspepsia and Indigestion. The national disease of Americans is indigestion or in its chronic form, dyspepsia, and for the very reason that it is so common many people neglect taking proper treatment for what they consider trifling stomach trouble, when as a matter of fact, indigestion lays the foundation for many incurable diseases. No person with a vigorous, healthy stomach can afford to neglect it. Many kidney diseases and heart troubles date their beginning from poor digestion; thin, nervous people are really so because their stomachs are out of gear; weary, languid, faded out women owe their condition to imperfect digestion.

When nearly every person you meet is afflicted with weak digestion it is not surprising that nearly every secret patent medicine on the market claims to be a cure for dyspepsia, as well as a score of other troubles, when in fact, as Dr. Werther says, there is but one genuine dyspepsia cure which is perfectly safe and reliable, and as a remedy, this remedy not a patent medicine, but it is scientific combination of pure pepsin (free from animal matter), vegetable essences, fruit salts and bismuth. It is sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. No extraneous claims are made for them, but for indigestion or any stomach trouble, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are far ahead of any remedy yet discovered. The act on the food, not on the dieting is necessary, simply eat all the wholesome food you want and these tablets will digest it. A cure results, because all the stomach needs is a rest, which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give by doing the work of digestion.

Druggists sell these tablets at 50 cts per package. Little book on stomach diseases and testimonials sent free by addressing Stuart Co., chemists, Marshall, Mich.
