EUGENE MOORE NOT YET FREE

Attorney General Will Make One More Effort to Convict Him.

SMYTH PREPARING MOTION FOR REHEARING

Supreme Court to Be Asked to Reopen the Case of the Ex-State Auditor to Allow a New Argument.

LINCOLN, March 28.—(Special.)—Attorney General Smyth is preparing a motion to present to the supreme court for a rehearing in the Eugene Moore case. To a great extent the motion will follow the lines marked out in the dissenting opinion by Judge Sullivan, but will go further and controvert the idea that the law is unconstitutional as declared in Commissioner Irvine's opinion. He will ask for a more full consideration of the question in the matter relating to fees, and will, to sustain his position, set out to the court that both the statutes and the constitution require the auditor to turn all the fees paid to him over to the state treasurer, that the money paid by the insurance companies was paid as the property of the state, and that by retaining it Moore was embezzling money from the state. It is expected that the motion will be presented at the next sitting of the court.

STAYS UP THE POPS.

The publication of the Bee of the article from the Holt County Independent this morning caused great consternation among Auditor Cornell's friends. They have agreed to make it look as if the Holt County Independent of O'Neill has a hand in working up the trouble in Holt county, and that Harrington's close relations with Chairman Edmiston make it look as if the chairman of the populist party also has a hand in the deal. One of the attaches of the auditor's office said this afternoon that it looked like Harrington and Edmiston were trying to fix things so that none of the present state officers could be re-nominated. He intimated that while this attack was on the auditor alone, it would be intended that the case of the state officials is to be shut out of a re-nomination the others will have to go too.

NEW DEAL IS NEEDED.

One member of the Gage county delegation, Mr. F. M. Davis, said: "I think the present state officials have made so many blunders that none of them ought to be re-nominated. If they are placed on the ticket this fall they will surely be defeated. The only way the reform forces can win is to put up a new set of men. There are surely plenty of good men in the democratic and populist parties, capable of holding the office in a creditable manner, and they ought to be found and nominated. I think the republican party is pretty thoroughly purged of its bad elements, and that a very strong ticket will be put up by that party this fall. On the other hand, the fusionists will have to make a campaign of explanations. The only way to explain is to nominate a new set of men." Mr. Davis' views were heartily endorsed by the other members of the delegation.

the work of the investigating committee would do much to fuse the opinion, as it had been characterized by unfairness and incompetency all through the investigation. He had watched Muts and Silver in their work on the books at Hastings, and had often seen Muts fall asleep while pretending to foot up columns of figures. He was quite certain that the presence of Muts was a serious hindrance to any good work Secretary Silver might have done, as the chairman often stopped the work in order to discuss political schemes.

LAWSUIT HAS EVAPORATED.

Dr. Fall was asked what had become of the suit against him for the collection of $150 shortage, the details of which were given out by the Board of Public Lands and Buildings about three months ago. The doctor said: "I read of that promised lawsuit in the Bee at the time, and that in the last few weeks at Hastings, and that he had often seen Muts fall asleep while pretending to foot up columns of figures. He was quite certain that the presence of Muts was a serious hindrance to any good work Secretary Silver might have done, as the chairman often stopped the work in order to discuss political schemes."

COMMUTES A SENTENCE.

William P. Trester, who was sent to the penitentiary on a three years sentence from Cherry county for cutting with intent to defraud a local telephone system at Pawnee, has been commuted to one year, two months and fifteen days. Trester had been a man of good reputation, and the alleged crime was committed while he was having trouble with a son-in-law named Fox, and the showing was made to the governor that Trester acted in self-defense and that he had not had fair chance in the trial in district court. The prosecuting attorney joined with the judge in asking for the commutation.

BRAKEMAN GETS A GOOD SCARE.

Man Whom He Orders to Jump from Train Falls on the Track. PLATTSBROUGH, Neb., March 28.—(Special.)—The train crew on the Burlington northbound freight No. 77 suffered a bad scare at Orespolis junction, seven miles north of here, early Sunday morning. A man going by the name of Isaac Updegrave boarded the train here and succeeded in eluding the brakeman's vigilance until the train had nearly reached Orespolis when he was discovered and ordered off the train, which was moving at the rate of nearly fifteen miles an hour. In obeying the brakeman's order to jump he slipped from the step and he fell headlong under the cars. The brakeman, badly scared, signalled the train to stop and went back to pick up the man, who was badly injured. He found him some distance behind on the track, quite alive, but with five broken ribs. The engine had detached from the train, and at once brought the injured man to the city where he was placed in care of a physician. Updegrave says he went under the cars in some mysterious way and in a little while escaped the wheels, but how it happened he cannot say. He has a wife and five children living at Clair, Mich., and says he was going to Omaha to seek employment.

hands since 1894. The county commissioners in that year made a levy of 10 mills exceeding that prescribed by law.
