Complainant Who Preferred Charge Against Police Commissioners Insists on Strict Compliance with Law on Part of Governor.

The following correspondence, which was nterchanged yesterday, explains itself: LINCOLN, March 31 .- Victor Resewater, Omaha: Judge Tibbetts will be in Omaha tomorrow to hear charges in police commission case. Please be ready.

SILAS A. HOLCOMB. OMAHA, March 31, 1898.-Hon. Silas A. Holcomb, Governor of Nebraska: Sir-I have your telegram of this date informing me that Judge Tibbetts will be in Omaha Friday to hear charges in the police commission case and asking me to be ready. I have also had my attention called to the statement given out to the press from your office announcing that you were too much engaged with official duties to make the inquiry demanded by the charges filed by me against Police Commissioners Robert E. Lee Herdman, James H. Peabody and D. D. Gregory, that for this reason you intended to delegate that duty to a referee, and that you would require the parties to the controversy to bear the expenses thus incurred.

I respectfully beg to bring to your notice that part of section 168 of the act providing for the appointment and removal of police loners in cities of the metropolitan lass, which reads as follows:

"Any citizen of the city may file with THE "GOVERNOR written charges against any "commissioner he may deem guilty of mis-"conduct in office, and THE GOVERNOR "shall within a reasonable time investigate the same upon testimony to be produced "BEFORE HIM and shall make such finding "as to the truth or falsity of such charges "as in HIS JUDGEMENT such testimony "warrants, and in case such charges shall be sustained by the evidence HE shall at "once remove the commissioner so found "guilty and appoint another qualified to fill the vacancy thus caused. THE GOV-ERNOR when sitting to investigate charges preferred against a commissioner shall have full power and authority to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books and papers, and HE may hold such meeting at the most convenient place in the state for the purpose of such investigation."

Your excellency is respectfully reminded produced before him (not a referee), and to lins and then south by stage. The town remove the impeached commissioners in case the testimony sustains the charges. When sitting to make such investigation the governor has the power to compel the attendwitnesses and the production books and papers. There is no authority of law by which the governor can delegate this power to a referee and no hearing by referee can comply with the provisions of

If the governor of Nebraska is over-If the governor of Nebraska is over-burdened with official duties, it is much to be deplored. That, however, cannot relieve him of any duty imposed by law and his duty to make this investigation personally is as imperative as his duty to appoint the commissioners or, for that matter, any other duty by law imposed upon him.

As to the taxing of the costs upon the parties to the controversy there is no warrant of law by which this penalty can be inflicted. There is no reason why any private citizen should be made to pay the feca of a referee (especially when the governor is drawing a salary from the state treasury for performing the service) simply because he, as a citizen has taken upon himself the upon to pay the costs of prosecuting the criminals. As well might the mover of an impeachment resolution in the legislature be called on to pay out of his own pocket the expense of the impeachment trial. In view of the fact that you have a retirue of stenographers and clerks provided at the ctate's expense, who are doubtless competent to attend to all the clerical work entailed by this proceeding, and also an allowance for the contingent expenses of your office, I see no reason why there should be any question raised upon this point. If I may be permitted the suggestion, it seems to me that you fall altogether to realize the seriousness of the cituation and the gravity of the charges preferred before you. Citizens of Omaha are being nightly waylaid, slugged and robbed by criminals with whom your police authorities are utterly incompetent to cope. The homes and usiness houses of this community are constantly exposed to raids of burglars and thieves unmolested by the police officers. Strangers are regularly lured into notorious dives and described and dens, there to be swindled or plundered or taken in tow by gamblers and crooks who despoil iftem, and if they com-plain, the victims instead of the crimina's are acrested and thrown into jail. Women afraid to venture on the streets after dark and men who must be out at night are arming themselves for self protection. Every lay's continuance of this state of affairs simply adds to the already formidable list of evils for which your police commissioners, and through them you as their creator, are held responsible by the people.

I therefore respectfully give notice that I will not recognize the authority of any referee or substitute in the impeachment proceedings I have instituted, but renew the request once made in my petition "that a time and place be appointed when the gov-ernor shall hear, at Omaha, testimony as to the truth or faisity of these charges, supported by the accompanying affidavits, and that he will, if said charges are sustained by the evidence, at once remove the said Rob-ert E. Lee Herdman, James H. Peabody and D. D. Gregory, from the office of police com-missioners of the city of Omaha, as required by section 168 of the act authorizing their appointment and removal."

AT THE MOTELS.

Captain Charles O'Connell of Grand Encampment, Wyo., is in Omaha on his return from a visit to New York. Last summer Captain O'Connell, having heard of gold finds in southern Wyoming, went to the Grand Encampment river and found the ore so rich that he laid out the town site of Grand Encampment and started a town which has been attracting gold hunters from all parts of the country. Speaking of the mineral wealth of Wyoming, Captain O'Con-"There has formerly been a mistaken idea that paying dirt and ore were to be found only in Colorado and that with the Colorado boundary line the mineral belt stopped. Wyoming, in my opinion, is richer in mineral than Colorado and is practically undeveloped. It is a poor man's mining country. Claims that would bring a fabulous price in Colorado can be had in Wyo-ming for almost nothing. The mineral belt extends through the entire width of Wyoming and is much like the mining district in Colorado and Montana; in fact it is a part of the rich mineral range which runs through New Mexico and on north into Colorado, Wyoming and Montana. Rich finds have been made at Grand Encampment that the law says nothing whatever of a hearing on these charges through a substitute. On the contrary, it expressly imposes upon the governor the duty to investigate these charges himself upon testimony to be produced before him (not a referee), and to

The belt along the Grand En-campment river which has been staked off in claims so far is about twenty miles long and eight miles wide. The minerals found are chiefly gold and copper. Cobalt is also found in paying quantities. This mineral is used in decorating dishes with rich blue figures and has never been found anywhere else in America. It is valuable, being worth about $1.60 a pound. A stamp mill was set up in the camp last January and more mills will be put in operation as soon as the ma-terials can be secured. Judges Rapidly Closing Up the Dockets of the Rehruary Term.

The judges of the district court are pushing their work along at a rapid rate, and the indications at this time are that the February term will adjourn early in April, instead of during the latter part of the month, as has heretofore been the custom. Most of the big casts are out of the way and now little remains but to dispose of minor matters that have been hanging fire.

The May term of the district court will convene on May 2, and judging from the

BUSINESS IN REAL ESTATE

Very General Revival is Noted Among the

GOOD REQUEST FOR RESIDENCE PROPERTY

Omaha Dealers.

Inquiry for Desirable Small Cottages for Homes Has Become a Feature of the Trade_Rental Business is Good.

The Omaha real estate market has no been in as good condition for several year an it is at present. Buyers are beginning to inquire for properties of most all kinds Good cottages in desirable locations are most in demand. The rise in rent, due to a gen eral revival of business, has put people into the notion of buying. While cents were low it was cheaper to rent than own property At this time last year, dealers in real estate say, there was absolutely no demand for any kind of real estate, but now every day brings buyers for residence property. Inquiries concerning farm lands are coming by the hundred from eastern people who are thinking of locating in Nebraska. There is some demand for business buildings, and the scurcity of moderate-priced residence properties in good localities is creating some market for city lots.

All the real estate and rental agencies in the city give the same report. Since last year the improvement in real estate values hus been very noticeable. They report that people have money now and do not drag along in paying their rent. One agency has 900 tenants on its list, and it reports that the receipts from the properties under its charge are twice as great this year as they were in 1897. Out of this list of 900 it has not a single delinquent tenant. This agency has made an increase of from 10 to 20 per cent in rents, so it can be seen that a much greater number of houses is rented than last year and the rents are paid more promptly The only kind of houses for rent now are old houses that are out of repair and agencies turn away many prospective renters every day.

It has been said by many persons that the people who have come to Omaha recently have come to stay only through the exposition. The rental agencies are of a very different opinion. They always find out con-siderable about applicants before renting to them, and are in a position to know the nature of the new come s. They say that only a small per cent of the people who have come in during the last year are transients. Many of these people are retired farmers and people from smaller towns who have come here because of superior advantages. The exposition has doubtless been the means of attracting their attention to Omaha, but they have not come here to stay for one season only.

One of the oldest real estate men in Omaha expressed himself as being confident that eal estate values were fast getting back to where they were ten years ago. He said further that the exposition would add materially to property values, because the exposition is coming at a time when values ire on the rise and cannot help but give them an additional lift. In Chicago the tion came at a time when a great depression was threatening the country and the panic struck the boom which had been started by the exposition and made the fall in values remendous. In Omaha there is no boom, the values are at bedrock and the real estate market is so essentially a buyer's market that it can reasonably be expected that a great deal of eastern money will be in-

Indicated by Telephone Business. "The demand for local telephone service furnishes a very accurate indication of the volume of general business," said General Manager Lane of the Nebraska Telephone company yesterday. "During 1896, when business was very light in all lines, we lost telephones. In 1897 business began to pick Dunkards. Fruit and vegetables are cheap and living is not expensive as it has been in other gold camps. The miners who have taken up claims are mestly from Cripple been unprecedented. We have already re-Creek and Leadville and they all think Grand Encampment richer than any of the new business establishments that have been opened and the number is a positive indication that local business has increased during the last two months."

braska Agriculturist. John T. Brown of Connorsville, Ind., who has been in the city for some days in the interest of the forestry question in Nebraska, is now promoting a plan to reach the farmers of the state through the railroads and awaken them to the desirability of tree culture es a profitable investment. His first plan was to induce the railroads to plant their vacant land to trees, but since his arrival he has learned that the roads have disposed of most of their land that would have been available for this purpose. But he now expects to secure the co-opera-tion of the railroads in distributing literature among the farmers that will inform them in regard to forestry, with the eventual result of getting them into sympathy with the

Mr. Brown has no financial interest in the matter whatever, but he has become deeply interested in forestry through his connection with that brunch of the Department of Agriculture of the United States government, and is keenly alive to the manner in which some of the most useful species of timber are disappearing. He says that the walnut, which was once so plentiful in the eastern states, was practically used up eighteen years ago, and the supply of oak, of which so much is now being used, will last not more than a dozen years longer. Consequently the general public fails to realize how essential is that new timber should be planted before the supply is wholly exhausted

This is the morning when you go down town in a brown study trying to figure out how you can stand off your landlord until after pay day, when all of a sudden you notice a nice fat wallet on the sidewalk; and you think to yourself, well what a lucky dog I am, anyway; here it is the first of the month and bills to pay and no money, and who knows but the Lord put this in my way, and just as you stoop down to pick it up and you think of the date and you walk right along by it just as if you could't see a pocketbook in a hundred years. It ain't so easy to fool people anymore. There used to be a time when a man would walk right into a hat store and pay five dollars for a hat and think nothing of it. Now he comes into The Nebraska, picks out one of our best derbys, pays three dollars for it and walks out and says to himself, no siree, you don't catch me paying two dollars for anybody's name any more. We want to sell you your spring hat. Boro-Lithia Water

Boro-Lith's Water on account of the pres-ence of Boracic acid (combined) is an inter-nal antisepic—and therefore a safe guard against such discuses as typhold fever, etc. The very large amount of Lithia which it contains—makes it a most rapid eliminant of uric acid—thus making it the rational treat-ment for most forms of rheumatism. Below will be found some other facts about this swater.

Below will be found some other facts about this water.

While of such remarkable value in diseased conditions of the pody, it is not too much to say that the chief value of Boro-Lithia Water is to those in good health who wish is preserve it, and to those whose health is not impaired sufficiently to be counted on the sick list, but who from lack of sufficient exercise to eliminate the waste products of the body, or from over-indulgence in food or spirituous liquors, lack the tone and energy of vigorous health. From the latter, after a few days' use of Boro-Lithia Water, a customary expression is: "I never felt better in my life. There is something in the effect of that Boro-Lithia Water which cannot be described. For sale by
