For a Wyoming Exhibit.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 4 .- (Special.)-C. E. Llewellyn of Omaha, traveling commissioner of the Transmississippi Exposition. is the city for the purpose of aiding the local commissioners in the work of securing a Wyoming exhibit. An appropriation for a state exhibit failed to pass at the last eco elon of the Wyoming legislature. Efforts have been made to secure funds by private subscription for the work, but without much success, and it now looks as if Wyoming will not be represented at the Omaha exposition, except through such displays as may be made by individuals of the products of the state. Mr. Llewellyn states that the Horticultural commission of Colorado will en-gage 1,800 square feet of space and that the colorado mining exhibit will be a notable one; that while the state has been slow in commencing work, it is now being pushed with energy and her exhibit will show what a wonderful state she is.

Iowa Commission Meets. DES MOINES, April 4 .- (Special Telegram.)-The Iowa Transmississippi commis sion met here today for the first time since last September as a full board. It was de cided that F. N. Chase of Cedar Falls should resign as commissioner and accept the position of secretary of the commission and su-perintendent of the Iowa building at $125 a month. The plans of Architect Joslyn of Cedar Rapids, providing for a $7,000 building, were practically adopted, although Mr. Joslyn will not arrive until tomorrow. It was decided to give agricultural and horticultural exhibits. The dairy exhibit will de-pend upon the exhibit of other states and the amount of money the Iowa commission-

NO ACTION BY HOUSE COMMITTEE.

Only Announcement Made by Members

WASHINGTON, April 4. - The house committee on foreign affairs met at 10 o'clock this morning. Mr. Gillett (rep. Mass.), ful rains of Sunday all along the lines of stated a few minutes after the committee

The house committee on foreign affairs or-dered the doors locked. No cards could be taken in to members. It is believed that he session was a stormy one. Every member of the committee was pledged to secrecy before the committee adjourned. One of the republican members, however, said, in sponse to persistent inquiries.
"We did nothing."

The committee will meet again tomorrow Members of the committee do ot expect anything to be done in the house

It was stated that the meeting was of considerable importance. Chairman Adams informed the committee that the president would soon communicate to congress his riews on the Cuban question, and that action in advance of his message would be premaure and extremely, inadvisable. Some of the democratic members of the ommittee demanded to know when the mess sage would be sent in, and Mr. Adams said that Wednesday at the outside, but he hopedthat it would be sent tomorrow. When asked why there was so much delay, and why the president did not send the messsage today, as has been expected, Mr. Adams replied that it was a physical impossibility for the president to get it ready to-day, and it might be impossible to get it ready tomorrow. It was stated the event was too momentous, end the message would be of such importance that no undue hast should be used, especially no attempt should be made at this juncture to force the presi-

Some questions were asked as to the nature of the message and what it would recommend, but no one felt authorized to speak on this point, although the impression was made on the members that it would be a recommendation upon which the house could unite. The democratic members said they had no wish to unduly crowd the pres-ident, and they agreed, upon the representa-tions made, to counsel patience on their side

There was some discussion as to the possible form of action the house should take, but it was found that the members of the committee had different views on the subject, some favoring independence, some intervention, and some demanding war on account of the Maine. The question of treating the Maine as a separate incident was also considered. On this subject there were divergent opinions. It is understood that the purpose of the committee is to prepare and report in accordance with the recom-mendations of the president, if these recommendations are sufficiently developed and the message sure to come tomorrow. It is the desire of the committee to be ready ediately upon the reading of the message, whether it comes Tuesday or

The house committee on foreign affairs omorrow will call Captain Sigsbee of the Maine and other naval officers. The report is that the committee and subcommittee have agreed that the blowing up of the Maine is to figure in the resolutions, and the investigation is for the purpose of ascertaining as many facts as possible out-side the testimony before the board. In this they will follow the lead of the senate

ANTICIPATE NO ACTION TODAY. Conservatives Laboring to Hold Re publicans in Line.

WASHINGTON, April 4 .- The conservative republican leaders, as they arrived at the house today, expressed the opinion that there would be no outbreak today, but they found among some of their associates an intense feeling of reatlessness. Mr. Balley, the democratic leader, was this morning considering the advisability of submitting a motion to discharge the foreign affairs committee from further consideration of the Cuban resolu-tion. A general view is expressed that a few republicans would break away and a general stampede would follow. The leaders are strongly urging calmness. The fact that the is one of the main reliances of the con-servatives. Party organization might hold many in line who will refuse to wait longer if they could vote on the direct question.

NOT LIKELY TO BUILD ANY THIS YEAR

Northwestern Exceptive Officers Have the Matter Under Consideration, but Their Answer is Already Foreshadowed.

While no decision has been announced by the executive officers on the application of citizens of Hoit and Knox countles of this state for an extension connecting the Northwestern lines from Emmet to Verdigre it is practically certain that neither this extension or any other in the west will be built this year. General Manager Bidwell of the Elkhorn road is authority for such a statement. Applications have been made for numerous extensions of the Elkhorn, Omaha and other Northwestern roads in Nebraska. All such requests have been referred to the heads of the Northwestern system, and some of them are under consideration. It has been decided in a general way, however, that it is not practicable to build any extensions dur-ing the year 1898. Whether the extension ted from Emmet to Verdigre stands any better show of being built than any of the several others that have been merely a matter of conjecture.

All the railroads leading into Omaha report good rains along their respective lines during Sunday. The rain was heaviest in the eastern portion of the state, being of about the same depth as in Omaha. The railroads in the eastern and central parts of Kansas reported heavier rains than the Ne-braska lines. In the western part of this state and Kansas, in Colorado and Wyoming there were snow flurries all day on Sunday and on Saturday night, and in the north there was some heavy snow reported.

CHICAGO, April, 4.-Notice was given by the Alton and the Milwaukee St. Paul roads today that they would meet the Santa Fe's cut in rates on packing house products from Missouri river points to Chicago. Dr. William J. Galbraith will remain chief surgeon of the Union Pacific railroad during the month of April. He has secured a court oder from Judge Sanborn giving him authority to remain at the head of the medical department and in charge of the hospital fund until May 1. Dr. Jonas will therefore not become chief surgeon of the Union Pa-cific this month. NEED HAVE NO FEAR OF EUROPE. such is the Opinion of Ex-Ambassador

Enstis. WASHINGTON, April 4.-Hon. J. B. Eustis, former United States ambassador to France, was asked his opinion with reference to M. Hanotaux's recent declaration in the Spanish-Cubah question. that declaration correctly represents the opinion of M. Hanstaux. Since this Spanish-Cuban question bus become serious the attitude of the French government has become one of extreme delicacy. Having frequently discussed the question with M. Hanotaux, I have always found that his attitude as regards the Spanish and American governments was exceedingly proper. The French aristocracy and the Cathelle party in France naturally strongly sympathize with the Spanish government, as against the United States, but they have no voice in the French government today, and there is no doubt that the French government would be absolutely neutral in case of a war between Spain and the United States. M. Hanotaux does not sympathize with either of these parties, and they have not the slightest influence with him. He is a man of remarkable intelli-gence, an admirably equipped diplomat, always cool, knowing when to be firm or con-ciliatory, and the sincere admirer of our peo-

Alliances in European politics have become so fashionable that they become a most important factor in settling any European question, but with us the case is different. No European power could have any possible interest in intermeddling in a question of peace or war between Spain and the United States. 'What do you think of the present crisis?" Mr. Eustis was asked.

"I think that we are unavoidably drifting into a war. From the moment that Mr. Cleveland and subsequently Mr. McKinley asserted the right of our government to in-tervene to stop the war in Cuba I have never been able to discover any pacific solu-tion of this question. Searching for Houses. Real estate men assert that there is not a vacant house in the city. Scarcely a day passes but persons looking for residences call at the agencies in hope of finding a house of some kind. The high price of building materials, especially brick, has delayed the building of quite a number of houses already planned, but it is thought that as scon as the first crop of brick is ready for market a genuine building boom will start. The brick yards in this city are all ready to commence operations as soon as the weather gets a little warmer.
