Exposition Visitor.

MRS, SHUTE LAYS SOME GREAT PLANS

Centennial State to Lead All Others at the Exposition in Variety and Magnificence of Its Exhibit.

Mrs. M. A. Shute, Colorado's commissioner of horticulture, has gone east, after visiting the exposition grounds and making arrangements for a horticultural exhibit, which, sho says, will eclipse in the extent and variety of | the display anything that may be undertaken Grand Junction will come out strong Septem-

by any other state. Mrs. Shute spent all of Thursday afternoon at the exposition grounds and only returned to her hotel when there nothing more to examine. To Prof. Taylor, superintendent of the Bureau of Horticulture, who accompanied her, Mrs. Shute said, "I can only paraphrase the remark of Senator Gallinger regarding Cuba, 'You may draw any picture of the magnificence and grandeur of your exposition, and I will sign it."

To a representative of The Bee Mrs. Shute said. "I was prepared to see a few pretty buildings, and expected them to be white, but I cannot express the amazement and astonishment which filled me when I saw the magnificence and the extent of the preparations which are being made. I went all over the grounds and made a complete examination of every building. I have in my mind a bird's-eye view of the whole exposition and I cannot express my pleasure at the promise of a magnificent exhibition, and my regret that my state may not be fully repre nted in every department of her resources. "When I left Denver Colonel Bishop, one of the Colorado commission, said the action of the commission would be guided very largely by my advice after I returned. I that I shall use all my pow ers to bring this matter before them in the proper way and urge them to not let this op-portunity pass for laying before the people of this great country the advantages we have to offer to settlers. I regard this exposition as a business proposition which offers to the people of Colorado the best opportunity they have ever had to advertise the resources of that state. We have plenty for more horticulturists in our state and I believe some of the other industries are not overcrowded. I am convinced that a display at this exposition would result in ood to Colorado and I intend doing all in my power to make the entire Colorado on and the people of the state sec

COLORADO'S FRUIT. "I have reserved 1,898 square feet of space in the Horticulture building," said Mrs. Shute with a quiet smile as she mentioned the number of feet; "of this amount the Department of Exhibits has very kindly donated 300 feet. In this space we will have

Colorado's horticultural display will be the 'fruit days,' which will be held during the entire season. We will commence during he very early days of the exposition ting 'strawberry day' on June 9. On that day the people of Glenwood Springs, a strawberry district in Garfield county, on the western slope, will bring hundreds of crates of the most delicious strawberries the people of this section ever tasted, and these will be given away to all comers. The next great day will be the Feast of Watermelons on September 3. Colorado beats the world at raising watermelons and we propose to bring these julcy morsels to Omaha in carloads just to make the people who visit the exposition sorry that n't live in Colorado. The people of ber 9, with their peaches. There is no place on the foo stool which grows such large, juicy, delicious morsels as the Grand Junction dis trict and we will convince everybody within reach of our peach stand that this is a fact. September 15 and 16 will be our fruit dev and then is the time when the people of the finest pears and apples grown any-where in the world. There will be other va-rieties of fruit, but the apples and pears will he most in evidence. It is no uncommon thing for the fruit trees in some portions of our state to produce pears which weigh twenty-seven ounces, and apples measuring seventeen inches in circumference. I have in my office in Denver photographs of fruit of these dimensions, and can testify that they are not unusual in size. "We are not going to expend all our energles in these fruit days, however," continued Mrs. Shute, "but we will keep our display in the Horticultural building fully up to the highest standard. This display will be in charge of men from the western slope and the Arkaneas valley who are experts in such matters.

"Our state will make a good showing in the educational department and the state department is making extensive preparations in this direction. The agriculture display we will have a good mining exhibit. I in-tend to use my best efforts to bring about a display of our minerals and believe this

KNOX COLLEGE DAY NEXT FALL. President Finley Consults with Local

Graduates on the Plan. President John H. Finley of Knox college. Galesburg, Ill., spent yesterday in Omaha, consulting with graduates of his institution for the purpose of stimulating interest in the college among the people of this vicinity. President Finley reports that Knox is in a flourishing condition, with nearly 600 students in attendance. There are twenty-five or thirty former Knox colare twenty-nee or thirty former Knox college men in Omaha and its immediate surroundings, including John L. Kennedy, Frank
H. Gaines, C. C. George, Ed George, Charles
Martin and Victor Bender of Council Bluffs,
The suggestion has been made that Colonel Clark E. Carr, president of the State Exposition commission, and also a number of the Board of Trustees of Knox college, that a day be set for a gathering of Knox col-lege men at the exposition some time in September. The idea, if worked out, would in-clude the reunion of the graduates throughout the northwest, an address by burg of almost the entire body of students in attendance there. President Finley is con-sidering the practicability of the plan and has talked it over with the local Knox men all of whom are favorable to it. President Finley expects to spend some time at the exposition himself, and at the same time bring Knox college into closer relations with the people of this section.

the Central Association. George R. Dean, a Chicago architect who represents the industrial art department of the Central Art association, is in the city to carry out still further the work started by Mrs. T. Vernette Morse, the secretary of the association, who was in Omaha about a week ago. Mr. Dean comes for the purpose of obtaining definite data on which to base a recommendation as to just the form the display of the association shall take. These matters have been referred to the department of which Mr. Dean is the head and h is in consultation with the exposition authorities and architects.

Mr. Dean stated that it has been definitely decided by the Central Art association to make an exhibit which shall illustrate the artistic furnishing and decorating of a complete American house, according to the most approved artistic principles as an object lesson in the practical application of art education be used as far as possible and arrangements thave been partially completed for carrying out this plan. The only point that is yet unhas been contemplated, or in a separate build-ing to be erected on the bluff tract. Mr. Dean says a two-story structure is desirable although not absolutely necessary, and this could not be constructed in the gallery of the Liberal Arts building. He says it is not the desire of the Central Art association to profit by the undertaking in a financial sense but simply to forward its mission of education by educating the taste of the people. number of decorators have offered their services in carrying out the plan, asking that their actual expenses be paid, and several dealers in furnishing goods of various kinds

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the exposition was held yesterday afternoon. The session was rather short and a small amount of business was transacted. The most important matter considered was the advisability of borrowing money to tide the exposition over the rough places before the opening of the gates and the executive committee was authorized to negotiate a loan if it becomes necessary.

The first business presented to the meeting was the Sunday clesing question. It came up said he would leave with the secretary to be in the form of a protest of the Omaha Minne life. American furnishings will isterial union against opening the gates of the exposition on Sunday. Along with this came the vigorous protests of the labor unions of decided is whether the exhibit shall be made in the city against closing the gates on the only in the gallery of the Liberal Arts building, as day in the week the working men and their the city against closing the gates on the only families would have an opportunity of vislting the show. There was very little discussion of the matter, the consensus of opinion being that the time had not arrived to take this subject up for serious consideration, and all the papers relating to it were laid over. people of this vicinity considerable food for discussion was brought up and disposed of by the adoption of the following resolution introjuced by General Manderson. Resolved, That it is the sense of the dibars and the sale of whisky, liquors, etc., on the grounds be prohibited.

When the reports of departments were called for Manager Rosewater presented a written report of the Department of Publicity and Promotion and spoke briefly of the which has been done during the last month by that department. He then asked the indulgence of the directors while he spoke of certain reports which have been industriously circulated regarding the alleged breach of trust perpetrated by the executive committee in voting $3,200 into the treasury

Mr. Resewater said he regretted that Mr Hitchcock was not present, as he wished to give him an opportunity to call in question the accuracy of the figures he should quote He then stated that the Department of Pub licity and Promotion had had little difficulty in reaching the people in the towns and cities all over the country, but difficulty had been encountered in reaching the farmers and people living in rural districts. Pack-ages of pamphlets could be sent cheaply to the cities and towns and distributed without expense by railroad agents, but the rural districts could only be reached by mail and the element of cost was an important one. After full consideration of the matter, he said, he had recommended, and the executive committee had authorized, the issuance of 200,000 copies of a four-page exposition supplement of The Weekly Bee at a cost of $3,200. Mr. Rosewater then proceeded to draw a comparison as between the cost of printing and mailing 200,000 illustrated pamphlots and the same number of illus-trated newspapers. The amount of matter in the four-page supplement of The Weekly Bee would be equal, he said, to the matter contained in the thirty-two-page pamphlets which have been issued by the department. As to the responsibleness of the charge made by The Bee Mr. Rosewater quoted still other figures. He said it would be necessary to have the work of the illustrated supplement done in a job office, because such fine work cannot be done by newspaper presses. For this work he presented competitive bids from the local job offices. He quoted these bids, the figures running from $1,452 to $2,018. The paper proposed to be used he said would be of an extra quality, costing from 5 to 6 centa per pound. The weight of the supple ment would be eleven tons, and 200,000 of the regular edition would weigh 25,000 pounds, the postage on which would be $470. The cost of the list of names of farmers, the addressing of the wrappers and the work of mailing, etc., would bring the total cost up to $3,122. In closing his statement Mr. Rosewater called attention to the further fact that no money is to pass between the exposition and The Bee for this work, but the full amount of $3,200 is to be credited on his subscription of $5,000 to the exposition. Several directors stated that they had not understood the matter before and there was not the slightest objection raised to the con templated procedure. WORK OF THE WAYS AND MEANS. Manager Lindsey followed Mr. Rosewater with a report of the Ways and Means de partment. He said the recent work of the department had been announced through the newspapers and he had little to add. Regarding the instruction given him at the last meeting regarding bringing suits against delinquent subscribers of $500 or more, M Lindsey said he had been out of the city so much that he had not had time to take ac tion and he asked further time, saying that he would take action by May 1. He also requested authority to commence suits against delinquent subscribers of $50 or over This was granted and he announced that these sul's will be started by May 1. Ex-Postmaster Quinley Sentenced. John Quinley, the former Springfield post-master who was charged in the federal court with failing to deposit some $400 of court with falling to deposit some $600 of money order funds in 1896 and pleaded guilty to the charge recently before Judge Munger, was yesterday afternoon sentenced to one year in the pentientlary.

The case is somewhat peculiar from the fact that Quinley sileges that he was robbed of the money in this city. He says that he came here to deposit it and before he had time to do so was held up and the entire sum was taken from him by the robbers.

Proceeds of the Forcelosure Sale Do Not Satisfy the Mortgage. Application has been made by the United Purdy. States government before Judge Sanborn of the federal court for a deficiency judgment of $6,588,900.19 against the Union Pacific Railway company, the trustees thereof and the receivers as a result of the recent sale of the Kansas Pacific road under foreclosure proeedings. The petition for the deficiency decree has just been filed by General John C. Cowin of this city, special counsel for the government in Topeka, Kan. The matter will be heard, however, before Judge Sanborn in the federal court at St. Paul, on April 16. Notices of the petition and of the time of the hearing have already been sent to all the defendants in The object of the petition is to secure judgment against the company for the difference between the amount at which the court had fixed the claim of the government and the amount secured at the foreclosure sale. The total sum of the lien which the government was adjudged to hold in the decree was $12.891,900.19, the sum for which the road sold under the recent sale was $6,303,000, leaving a deficiency of $6,585,900,10 the amount for which judgment is sought.

The pelition sets up the main facts leading up to the sale of the road. It says on 30, 1897, a decree was rendered in of the government, in which it was adjudged that the subsidy lien of the United States upon the property of the Kaneas Pacific originally amounted to $6,303,000, so that or April 1, 1897, the amount ewing, including the amount due and the amount owing bu ot due, was the sum of $12,891,900.19. amount actually due and payable on April 1 1897, was $11,468,900.19, the difference ma-turing before the sale of the road.

The petition says further that the decree further provided that if the Union Pacific Railway company failed to pay the amount found due in a reasonable time the property should be sold at public sale; that the compacy failed to pay and that on February pady failed to pay and that on February 16,1898, the property was sold by William D. Cornish, master-in-chancery, for $6,303,000. It is alleged that therefore there is still due the government $6,588,900.19, with inerest upon $12,891,900.18 from April 1, 1897 o February 16, 1898, and on the deficiency rom February 16.

The application is made in the name o Attorney General Griggs for a judgment for this balance and for an execution to issue for the collection of the same. It is asked that if deemed necessary the court shall refer the matter of the amount for which suit is brought to Master-in-Chancer;

RAILROADS OBJECT TO CHANGE Consider Amendment to Interstate Commerce Too Broad.

WASHINGTON, April 8 .- The cenate inerstate commerce committee resumed its hearings today on the bill amending the interstate commerce law. Mr. Hines, assistent attorney for the Louisville & Nash ville Railroad company, was the first person heard. He controverted the position of Mr Knapp that the bill did not extend the of the original act as understood a the time it went into effect. He objected to the bill for the three reasons that p gives effect to the orders of the Interstate commission commission without any judicial ecision; that it proposes to change the law as it applies to long and short hauls, and that it proposes to give the commission power to fix rates, change classifications and prescribe rules for the regulation of the in-terstate commerce of the country. All these tie considered radical modifications of present law and he opposed them strenu-
