TEST THE SKILL OF THE BARBERS

Members of the Examining Board Hold a Session. Practical tests of tonsorial skill were made yesterday afternoon at 103 South Sixteenth street by the Barbers' Board of Examiners. The board met at 3 o'clock and Chairman Grant Williams conducted the proceedings. Secretary L. M. Pickett and W. R. Gamble were also present. The candidates for examination were or hand at the appointed hour and took their places at chairs in the shop to begin work. But the subjects came not—that is to say, nobody with whiskers that needed the at-tention of a barber entered the place, and the examiners were about to give up the job as a bad one when Pickett said that he would go out and bring the clinics in. Acting upon his own proposition, he went out-side and stationed himself where he could see the grizzly chins as they filted by-somehow the chins got onto him.

Numerous ones dodged his scrutinizing eye until in his desperation. Pickett seized blindly upon one man and arrested him. "Won't you have a free shave?" he asked. The victim reeled and almost fell in a But he recovered his composure suffi clently to ask what it all meant. Pickett explained the situation in a few words and as he did so he reminded the victim that he needed a shave by gently passing his hand over the stubby beard that adorned his face

The victim grasped the situation and with a gasp he said:
"I renig!" But Pickett was not to be out stuck to his post like an old warrior and finally after much solicitation and more entreaty he secured a subject for each The candidates went after their victims and the members of the examining board sat off at one end of the shop and watched th

Dr. Franklyn R. Carpenter of Deadwood, who is interested in the Deadwood & Delaware smelter, which recently suffered a heavy fire lors, spent yesterday in Omaha. Dr. Carpenter says that the blasting works of the smelter were entirely destroyed and that they are being replaced as rapidly as possible. The iron workers are under contract to complete their contract in forty-five days gold Mr. Carpenter thinks the other work can be finished and the machinery installed and in running order in ninety days. Meantime the works have to be kept shut down, as the rest of the plant is dependent upon the destroyed portion. The Deadwood & Delaware smelter is the largest smelter of its kind in the world and hundreds of men were thrown out of employment by recent fire. The mines dependent upon this smelter have not operated since the fire and the resumption of work is of vital interest rrested While Prowling About the Premises of Another. A burglar was captured about 11 o'clock ast night at the residence of Mrs. Colisto, 1433 South Sixteenth street. The family was ng contractors commenced yesterday to re- absent during the evening and the house was pair the pavement of Twenty-fourth street. surrounded by neighbors who heard the robber at his work. Mrs. Colisto lives in the rear apartments of a flat and has neighbors on the other side of a partition wall. The family in the front quickly, part of the building knew that Mrs. Collsto was not at home and were rather suspicious when they heard some one moving about in her rooms. They could see over a transom that a dim light was moving about, but shortly afterward there was a crash of glass,

In case the paving company refuses to do this, every little hole or crack will have to be repaired and the street placed in first-class ollowed by darkness.

No further effort was made to light the condition before the city releases the com-pany from its guarantee. This pavement was lamp, but the prowler could be heard walk-ing and moving furniture. The circumstance laid with only five inches of concrete and one inch of asphalt, which is considerably below the standard. Engineers say that to make a durable road eight inches of concrete was so suspicious that other neighbors were was surrounded and word was telephoned to the police station. The patrol wagon went to the location and strived before the burglar had left the house. The doors of the apart-ments were locked, but Captain Haze folfreshly graded ground and the base was not of sufficient depth to withstand the heavy traffic. It is further asserted by engineers lowed the burglar's plan and got in through a window. He found the robber lying on the bed apparently asleep, and the captain shook hat the asphalt which was laid on the west and for that reason it has not worn nearly as well as the east side of the street. For this made no resistance to arrest and gave no explanation of his presence in the house. It was found that he had struck the lamp reason it is desired that the west half of the treet be torn up and relaid. The paving against the door and broken the chimney.

At the station the supposed burglar gave the name of M. F. Forrester and said he was a printer. He was recognized as such by several who were acquainted with him and in case the street is not kept in good repair up to that date. who said that he had been employed in a number of the printing offices in this city. At an adjourned meeting of the stockholdburglary. lay night, the following officers were elected:

HAVE ONE BURGLAR IN JAIL. Police Catch Charles de Graft, Who

is Held for Robbery A complaint has been filed in police court against Charles de Graft, colored, charging him with burglary. He is a prisoner at the city fail and the police are now trying to locate Fred Miller and George Anderson, who are alleged to have also been implicated in the crime of which De Graft is accused. The burglary occurred yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. Jackson, 311 South Thirteenth street. The robbers broke into the house during the absence of the inmetes, and carried a trunk into the yard n the rear of the premises, where they broke open and carried off the contents, valued t about $50. When Clarence Jackson, a son woman whose house was robbed, and Harry Rose, a border there, learned of the burglary, the time the crime was committed De Graf and his partners were seen to leave the premises. The young men began a search for the thieves, finally locating De Graft in a notorious salcon in the neighborhood, where they overpowered him and took him to the city jail. Some of the property that was stolen from the trunk was found in his pos-session, although he denied having had anything to do with the burglary. It was learne afterwards by the police that Miller and Anderson had started in the direction of South Omaha, and the authorities there were requested to be on the lookout for them. money, besides a gold watch belonging to Mrs. O'Neil, carried away. The missing rifle was stolen from under his very eyes while he was waiting on two men who were testing their skill by shooting at a "swinging target." It had been lying on the "rest" at his elbow, and after his customers got through shooting he discovered that it was missing. None but the proprietor and the two men were in the galplanation for the disappearance of the rifle is that while the proprietor was loading the rifles in use and the marksmen were engrossed with their contest, a thief crept into the place and carried off the rifle. The theft has been reported to the police.

A sneak thief broke into the power house of the Booth Packing company's plant and stripped the engine of its whistle and brasses. Burglare made a raid on the residence of Chomes J. O'Nell, a real estate dealer in South Omaha, who lives in that city at 2510 F street, and the Omaha authorities have been requested to be on the lookout for the thieves. The burglary was committed some time Thursday night, but was not discovered until the family rose for the day. The whole ouse had been ransacked and considerable valuable property stolen. Easter Suits.

One of the oldest schemes in business is the odd penny scheme. When you go into a store and see an article marked at an odd figure like 1.37 or 1.69 or 1.93 you can make up your mind in nine cases out of ten that it pays a bigger profit than an article that is marked at a straight price. The man who invented the odd price trick did so to make money. He made it. He died nearly twenty years ago worth four million dollars, and some stores continue to charge heavy royalties for the use of his patent ever since. We don't use the odd-penny scheme. We don't like schemes. We want all of your time and your attention for the quality of the goods we sell you instead of bothering you to figure out how much you save on a 1.50 suit when you get it for 1.89. Today we open up for Easter a new lot of fancy little Junior suits at 1.00, 1.25, 1.50, 1.75 and so on by quarters up to 3.75. That's as high as they go. You can find stores where they will allow you to pay 4.67 or 4.98 for the same suits. Unless you have some decided objection to saving money on your Easter purchases for the boys you will come and see the grand suits at 2.00 and 2.50 and the exquisite suits at 3.00, 3.50 and 4.00. These last are new arrivals in Serges, Tricots and fancy Worsteds and they are better than any we have ever shown for the same prices. Better we said-b-e-t-t-e-r.
