beginning he said it was unfair to charge the senators with anything but a desire to do what was right for the country.

Mr. Wellington argued that the message of the president had been wholly misconstrued.

Mr. Turpie introduced an amendment to the resolution reported by the minority of the foreign relations committee.

Mr. Coffey was then recognized. "I have stood before on the brink of war," he said.

It made a necessary medicine. Pure condition of the blood after winter's hearty foods, and breathing vitiated air in home, office, schoolroom or shop.

A Washington newspaper sharply attacking the administration for having been one of the agents of the Louisiana lottery.

Mr. Coffey maintained that recognition was an executive and not a legislative function.

Mr. Hawley (Conn.) pronounced judgment upon the message of the president as one of the greatest state papers which would be justified.

Mr. Coffey then returned to the question of the Louisiana lottery.

Mr. Clark (Wyo.) said that whatever might be the result of the resolution adopted by congress, they could meanly
