APPROPRIATES MONEY FOR EXPOSITION

Sum of $10,000 Turned Over for Maintaining Grounds and Buildings and for Paying the Salaries of the Guards.

At the meeting of the Board of County Commissioners held yesterday, by unanimous vote the members appropriated the sum of $10,000 for the purpose of maintaining and beautifying the exposition grounds, maintaining the buildings and the exposition grounds. The warrant for the amount was drawn upon the county treasurer, and when the committee from the exposition left the building the members took the money with them.

T. J. Warren and numerous other parties applied for positions in connection with the exposition. All of the applications were referred to the committee of the whole for future consideration.

The following appointments in connection with the Douglas county exhibit at the exposition were made: George W. Heston, superintendent of the collection of war relics; Florence Campion and Mrs. F. J. Pries,, assistants at the Douglas county exposition building at salaries of $40 per month, each. Heston, however, is to receive a salary of $75 per month.

A. C. Davidson, superintendent of the Douglas county splary exhibit, stated that he would need 250 feet in which to make a proper exhibit of the aplary products of this county. The matter was referred to a com-mittee, the members of which will confer with the exposition management. TAYLOR ASKS FOR PAY.

CHINESE AND THE EXPOSITION. Interests of the Celestials to Be Given

Sufficient Care. Chan Fan Moore, an attache of the Chinese legation at Washington, who has been designated by the Chinese minister to represent the government of China at the exposition, Mr. Moore and Mr. Chow visited the exposition grounds yesterday in company with Manager Rosewater, who pointed out the various buildings and points of interest. Mr. Moore was greatly pleased with the beauty and extent of the preparations in progress, and was especially interested in learning all that pertained to the participation of the Chinese.

After inspecting the grounds the party returned to the Millard hotel, and at noon Mr. Moore took lunch with the executive

After reaching his room at the hotel Mr Moore consented to an interview by a repre-sentative of The Bee. Mr. Moore openks English fluently, and explained that he had been in this country about eight years, at different times, as an attache of the Chineslegation. He expressed in an unreserved manner his gratification at the evidences of

"I was prepared to see something very beautiful," said he, "for I have seen many pictures of your buildings and grounds in the east, so that I was not as greatly surprised as I might have been had I not known what you were doing. It is evident that you are going to have a very large exposition and I shall take pleasure in spending the summer here as the representative of my government. I am here by the direction of the Chinese minister, and shall report to him what I have seen and also all information regarding the interests of our people who are connected. and also all information regarding the interests of our people who are connected with the exposition. I expect to leave Omaha in a day or two and will go direct to the opening of the exposition. At that time I shall take a house and establish myself comfortably until the exposition closes.

"I cannot say as to just what our minister intends with regard to our participation in the exposition," continued Mr. Moore.
"My report to him is for the purpose of informing him as to the exact status of affairs here, and he will then instruct me what is to be done."

The conversation drifted to the war with Spain and Mr. Moore remarked that he had only recently returned from Havana. "I went to Cuba a little over two years ago," said he, "and left there but a few days before your consul general, Mr. Lee, came away. I was in Havana when the Maine was blown up and saw the whole of that terrible affair. It was my pleasure to take purt in the dinner given by the Havana Yacht club to the officers of the Maine soon after they arrived in the harbor, but it was a sad duty to attend the burial of those poor sailors," and Mr. Moore shruged his shoulders as he spoke of the gruesome sight.

"I came to the conclusion that there was tional museum were unloaded at the exposition in the exposition, in the exposition of the Government building looks like of the Government building looks like a bug warehouse, the floor being now well covered with huge boxes and crates. Mr. Moore had heard some terrible stories about the hot weather in Omaha in the summer time and inquired rather anxiously about the temperature us compared with Washington. Captain H. C. Ward, the representative of the War department on the Board of Management of the exhibits in the Government building, is receiving the congratulations of

The army reorganization bill just passed by congress provides for twenty-five majors, in addition to the officers heretofore holding that rank, and Captain Ward comes within the number who will receive this advance in rank. RECRUITING FOR THE GUARD

Major Liewellyn Begins the Selection of His Exposition Force.

The wholesale establishment of Manager Kirkendall on lower Harney street presented a busy sight yesterday, the street in front of the door and the front of the storeroom being crowded with men. A policeman was required to keep the sidewalk cleared and to keep the men in the crowd from pushing their way into the store through the windows. It had been noised about that Major Llewellyn, commandant of the guard for the exposition, and Manager Kirkendail were about to open a recruiting office and the crowd was there to offer its service as members of the organization which will preserve order on the exposition grounds.

Major Liewellyn was found on the inside of the store, barricaded behind a railing, but Manager Kirkendall had deserted his post and "gone up town." The major held the fort, however, and called in the apthe fort, however, and called in the ap-plicants singly. He put them through a course of questioning regarding them-selves and made copious notes of the personal appearance of each man and the account he gave of himself. Each was told that he would be notified by mail if his services should be required.

By this method about 200 were put through their paces during the morning and an equal number during the afternoon.

A good portion of those applying for positions on the guard were country boys of athletic appearance and bright faces. came from all points of the compass, many being from neighboring towns in Nebraska and Iowa. A number of the applicants said J. H. Taylor, former superintendent of the bouglas county agricultural exhibit at the fair and at the Nashville and Atlanta expositions.

Commutation Offer of the Department of Admissions.

The sale of the coupon admission tickets to the exposition which has been going on for several days has demonstrated the fact that a great many people object to buying a book of 100 admissions which can be used by but one person, but have expressed a desire to have some arrangement made by which more than one person might be admitted on the same terms. To meet this demand the executive committee has ordered the issuance of coupon ticket books, containing fifty admissions, the practical effect being to divide the book first issued. These fifty-ticket books are not transferrable, the photograph of the holder being required to be in the inside cover of each book. The books will be placed on sale as soon as they can be printed, the price being $12.50, making the price of each admission 25 cents, just one-half of the regular admission fee. These books will not be on sale after May 20, and those wishing to purchase them should apply to Secretary Wakefield.

There has been a fair demand for the 100-admission books, but the new issue is expected to meet with popular favor. by but one person, but have expressed a TRUE PATRIOTISM AT ALL TIMES. Rabbi Franklin Expounds the Doc-trine of Moderation.

Moderation was the theme of Rabbi Franklin's sermon last night at Temple Israel. 'The bard knew not how well he sang when tie sang of the golden mean," said the speaker. The brute knows no medium-man alone knows moderation, and the step from moderation to indulgence, from enthus asm to madness, is so short that possibility for good is frequently debilitated into Overzealousness may work to the detriment of a cause which reasonable enthusiasm would foster.

Patriotism is the greatest of social virtues said Dr. Franklin, and in the present crisi we have an opportunity to see it manifested on all sides. In America there are few men who would not lay down their lives for their country if it became necessary, yet we have an opportunity of seeing much so-called patriotism. The earnest prayers which went forth from millions of hearts that this war might be averted were far more patriotic than the boasts of our power to conquer Spain and the clamor for a contest. When the Omaha militia left to prepare for war the silent tears of the mothers who sent sons into the struggle represented far more patrioticm than the noisy shouls of men who made no sacrifice. In these troublous times it is imperative that every man should restrain his entituelusm and let reason hold sway over passion. Devotion to the stars and stripes must not blief us to the fact that was is a must not blind us to the fact that war is must not blind us to the fact that war is a terrible caismity. Some of us had foully hoped that the vision of the prophet had been realized and the time had come when nations would war no more. However, the time of perpetual peace has net yet come. We live facing terrible facts, and cannot expect to live the live terrible facts, and cannot expect to live up to visions.

In the present struggle reason tells every patriot that the must see his country's thonor upheld, but he must remember that tils victories will not be judged by the amount of blood he spills. Patriotism wins other victories than on the battlefield. The loyal citizen is as much a patriot in the time of peace as in the time of war. "May the result of the contest be that the stars and stripes shall wave proudly the stars and stripes thall wave proudly above every housetop, and may the winds carry the news that right and liberty have scored another victory," said the speaker. "As for poor, benighted Spain, we should remember that it is our duty to destroy the sin and not the sinner. It is our duty to establish liberty and justice in the place of cruelty and oppression, and fate will care for Spain."

Bids on Sewers and Plans for Jails Bids were received by the Board of Public Works yesterday afternoon for the construction of a sewer on Twelfth street from Arbor to Center, and on Center from Twelfth to Thirteenth, and for small sewers at For-tieth and Half Howard and Twenty-sixth and Corby streets. There were half a dozen bids on each job, but they will have to be tabulated before the lowest bidders can be ascertained. The board will probably meet today to page on the bids.

After completing the routine business the board took up the question of fixing up the Dodge school building for a city jail, and Health Commissioner Spalding, Chief Galriedin Commissioner Spalding, Chief Gallagher and Captains Haze and Mostyn were called in for consultation. It was practically decided that the double row of cells will occupy the east part of the first floor. Bargains in boys' suits.

If you want a little boys' suit and if you want to see your dollars enlarge before your eyes, just come in here Saturday and we will give you two dollars worth of suit for one dollars worth of Uncle Sam's small change. That's a fact. We opened up yesterday, two cases of knee pant suits for lads under 14 and never have we put such low prices on children's suits before. These are Fancy suits. They are made up from fancy cassimere, fancy Scotch goods and fancy worsteds, and they were made by a firm who never made a poor or cheap suit in their lives. Our buyer saw a chance to get a lot of them at his own price and of course he took them, and of course that means that you will get a bargain with a great big B. There are not a great many suits altogether and we cannot duplicate them and the prices will be $2.25-$2.50-$3.00 a suit. The $3.00 suits were made up to sell for at least five dollars, the $2.50 suits should bring four dollars, the $2.25 suits would be great value at three-fifty a suit. These suits will be on sale commencing Saturday morning and you should hurry because the quantity is not great and it is nt often you have a chance to get suits like these at the prices we offer them Saturday.
