Cuban Clubs and Spanish Abuses.—The Insurgent Commanders.—Organization of a Government, Military Operations, Etc.

On February 24, 1895, an inscription, written out in three of Cuba's six provinces, arrived at Charles M. Haring in the city of Boston.

Every since the close of the rebellion of 1895 the Cuban chiefs had been preparing for another insurrection. Spain had refused to grant the reforms which had been proposed.

All that the insurgents now needed was leaders and an intelligent plan of harmonious action. The former they soon got, and these quickly devised the latter.

Spain will now be taken at the Spanish blockade. At the time the rebellion began Calleja was captain general of Cuba.

Weyler's chief efforts were made to capture Maceo, who was shut up in the western province of Pinar del Rio.

Weyler entered Santiago province, the insurgents' center of gravity, in June, 1897, with a strong force of infantry and cavalry.

A Small Spot May be Cancer!

"It was merely a mole at first, and for a long time was so insignificant that I gave it no thought whatever."

These words of a recent correspondent contain an accurate description of the first symptoms of the most violent and destructive cancers as they appear in nine cases out of ten.

Cancer is becoming so prevalent that such symptoms as the above, which refuse to heal and disappear under ordinary treatment, may well be regarded with suspicion.

The only known cure for this dreadful disease is S. S. S. (Swift's Specific), as is shown by the indisputable testimony of the many whom it has cured.

Mr. A. H. Crausby, of 158 Kerr St., Memphis, Tenn., says that his wife paid no attention to a small lump which appeared in her breast, but it soon developed into a cancer of the worst type.

For this dreadful disease is a real blood remedy—one purely vegetable, containing no potash, mercury, or other destructive mineral.

The disease can only be reached through the blood, and all local treatment, such as caustic plasters or a surgical operation, only adds to its tortures.

Shop preparation, but is made from the roots and herbs of the forests. We will mail our book on Cancer and Blood diseases to any address.
