

MORE WOE FOR THE WOMEN

Board of Managers of the Exposition Work Facing an Outbreak.

CHILDREN WANT THEIR CERTIFICATES

Youngsters Who Subscribed to the Girls' and Boys' Building Fund Propose to Have Their Stock Issued.

A mimic revolution is impending among the school children of this immediate vicinity over what they regard as the unreasonable delay in the issuance of the certificates promised to all who subscribed to the fund for the erection of the Girls' and Boys' building.

Early in November last strenuous efforts were made to arouse the interest of the children of this entire section in the idea of contributing their mites to the fund for the construction of this building and patronesses were appointed for the various schools and everything the women could think of was done to induce the children to contribute. Among other things it was promised that each child subscribing for twenty shares in the fund would receive a handsome certificate of stock.

The dollars rolled in from all directions and each juvenile subscriber at once proceeded to wait for that handsome certificate of stock. Six months and a half of waiting with no signs of the certificates from the numerous promises proved too much even for juvenile patience and the youngsters have almost lost faith in the oft repeated promise that the certificates "will be ready in a few days."

Numerous inquiries at the office of Secretary Ford of the Woman's Board of Managers have elicited the information that the certificates are in process of being executed. They were printed several months ago and it is possible that the grotesqueness of some of the figures of the alleged cupids in the design may account for the hesitation in issuing them. Some of these figures have had their legs detached by accident or design and these rather extreme measures are being taken about in the vicinity of their rightful location in the funniest way imaginable.

These certificates require the signature of President Sawyer, Vice President Kimball and the seal of the board in addition to the name of the subscriber and the number of shares of stock purchased. The clerical work involved in making them out is tremendous and no proper provision has been made for doing this work except to employ an Omaha teacher to fill in the names of the subscriber. The office force of the secretary of the woman's board consists of two girls, and the ordinary work of the office is more than enough to keep them busy all the time. The result is that the certificates are taken up at odd moments and the present indications are that these certificates will reach the subscribers in time to form cumulative evidence in the case of their grandchildren about the great exposition "when grandpa was a boy."

The teachers in the public schools who received the contributions are having some difficulty in convincing the pupils from whom they collected numerous dollars that money reached the proper place and the certificates will be forthcoming in the dim and misty future.

END OF THE LAGOON.

Florist is Making the Place a Picture of Unusual Beauty.

The colonnades and pavilions forming the expanse at the east end of the main court are practically completed, a few finishing touches only remaining to be completed and the florists have taken possession of the wide flower beds inside the sweeping curves of the colonnades. Shrubbery, rose bushes and foliage plants are being planted here in great profusion, and the boxes extending along the tops of the colonnades are being prepared for the vines. The walk which gracefully about the white columns and form a leafy canopy over the trellis work, forming a roof for these colonnades. The crescent shaped bed, midway of the grassy slope at the east end of the lagoon is being filled with flowering plants and handsome foliage plants are being placed at the inner side of the wall which encloses this same slope. The combination of all of these beds of flowers, the white colonnades with the trailing green vines and the towering pavilions rising in stately grandeur above the rippling water of the lagoon will form a picture of charming beauty and make this portion of the main court one of the most enchanting spots among the many beautiful places on the grounds. The unsightly scaffolding about the colonnades has been removed and the pleasing contrast of the white and green, mingled with the neutral tint of the paving rises the eye and exerts a soothing influence.

With the exception of the narrow strip of ground within the proper limits of Twentieth street boulevard where it passes through the main court, the latter portion of the grounds now presents a finished appearance and is about ready for the inspection of visitors. All of the main buildings in this section of the grounds have been completed, the Girls' and Boys' building being the only exposition building still in course of construction, and the walks have been completed at Twentieth street. The delay in this spot is due entirely to the contractor for the iron bridges which are to be thrown across the lagoon at this point. These bridges are new and of a unique design and the moment the trusses are placed in position the work of filling the approaches and laying the walks will be pushed to completion. The big trusses for the bridge from the north side of the lagoon to the island are all in place and the grading and paving is under way on this side, but the south bridge is far from completion and nothing can be done by the graders and pavers until the trusses are removed from their present position near the Arch of States.

CONFERENCE ON CHILD STUDY.

Program Prepared for Another Session of Educational Convention.

The program has been completed for the conference on child study in connection with the Transmississippi Educational convention. It has been arranged by Dr. G. Stanley Hall, president of Clark university of Worcester, Mass., and Mrs. Grace B. Sudborough of Iowa, who will be in charge of the two day session will be occupied by the following:

"The Ear Versus the Eye in Elementary Training," Prof. George T. W. Patrick, University of Iowa; "The Child in the Home," Prof. Louis H. Galbraith, University of Buffalo, Buffalo, N. Y.; "Laughing and Crying," Prof. G. A. Luckey, University of Nebraska, Lincoln; "The Child and Extra Organic Evolutions," Prof. Arthur Allen, University of Colorado, Boulder, Colo.; "Showing Off," Prof. E. C. Loomis, Normal School, Chicago; "The Child and Parent from the Standpoint of Child Study," Prof. Oscar Christman, State Normal school, Emporia, Kan.; "Pedagogical Value of Adolescent Interests," Prof. E. G. Lancaster, Colorado College, Colorado Springs.

See Water for the Aquarium.

The sea water for the tanks in the aquarium of the Fish commission exhibit in the Government building where the ocean fish are to be displayed has arrived. The water came in a tank car such as is used for transporting oil, the tank containing 15,000 gallons. This water was pumped into the reservoir beneath the floor of the Government building and the tanks for the ocean fish will be filled with it. The ocean fish are expected to arrive the latter part of the month.

The fresh water fish will commence arriving the latter part of the present week. As has been stated heretofore, these fish will come from many different sources and the car of the Fish commission will be obliged to make a number of trips before all the different varieties are placed in the tanks which are to form their homes for the next five months. The ocean fish will be brought in lot of all.

EXPOSITION MAIL CARRIERS

Postmaster Martin Names Five for Service at the Transmississippi Grounds This Summer.

The five letter carriers for the exposition postoffice were appointed from the list of substitutes by Postmaster Martin yesterday. Those chosen are E. B. Alexander, H. W. Lehman, John T. Lally, John A. Metcalf and August J. Jorgensen. The men will assume their duties on June 1. The salary is probably be $900, and the duties, in view of past postal experiences at expositions, will demand not only considerable work but judgment and care.

Carl J. Berquits was made a clerk in the postoffice at a salary of $600 per annum.

UNPACKING PRICELESS PICTURES.

Director Griffith and His Assistants Making Ready Wonderful Display.

The exhibit of paintings to be made in the Fine Arts building promises to be one of the best ever shown to the public. For two days Director A. H. Griffith and a corps of assistants have been busily engaged in unpacking and taking an inventory of pictures already received. This work will continue for several days, as the exhibits are arriving daily. Mr. Griffith has been delayed considerably by the building not being finished, but his work can now be pushed rapidly forward.

Among the pictures already unpacked and ready to be hung are a number by quite prominent artists. Probably one that will attract more attention from the visitors than any other will be "A Bachelor's Drawer," by John Haberer, from New Haven, Conn. Just at a glance this painting would not likely attract more than a passing notice, as it very closely resembles the collection of articles that seem to be merely pasted on a background, and consist of paper money, lid of a cigar box on which the revenue stamp is scratched, a half-smoked cigarette, cigar paper and pictures, stamps that have been torn from letters, theater seat checks, a valentine, matches, playing cards, pen-knife, pipe, shoestring, eye glasses and the key to the drawer. In fact it contains everything that might be found in a bachelor's knock-knock drawer. These articles are reproduced perfectly and one needs to study the drawing to get its worth. Mr. Haberer was arrested and three of his paintings at the World's fair confesed by the government authorities on account of the reproduction of the money, which was designated a forgery. There are also contained in the picture several newspaper clippings, which lead one to believe that it is a forgery. This is really one of the masterpieces that will be on exhibition.

The Century Magazine company of New York sent its series of black and white drawings, which have been reproduced in the magazines at different times. "A Street" by Paul Duveney from Cincinnati, will come in for its share of praise from sight-seers. "The St. Louis Museum," by Julien Dupre, is a grand production. Vandyke's "Four Ages," loaned by the Detroit Art Museum, is a magnificent sketch, and, in fact, ranks first among those to be on exhibition. "In the Field," "Her First Day at School" are also well known paintings that are on exhibition. "An Evening in the Cafe," by Braugwyn, is another painting familiar to the devotees of art, and one that many are interested in seeing. The hand of David Col will be seen in the presentation of his masterpiece, "The Wrangle," depicting a quarrel at a gambling table.

On the Government Building.

New work is being taken up almost daily in the Government building. Great progress is being made and another week will see it almost completed. The department of patents has commenced placing exhibits. These exhibits consist of such patents as typewriters, sewing machines, printing presses, telegraphic apparatus and shows the progress made in the last forty to fifty years. Pictures of all the presidents occupy positions on the walls to the west side of the central part of the building. That of President McKinley is much larger than the others, and occupies a position above the while the Stars and Stripes are unfurled over it. Under these pictures is contained a facsimile of the Declaration of Independence and a photographic reproduction of the same now deposited in the Department of State at Washington.

Photographic Views.

F. A. Rinehart, the official photographer of the exposition, has made arrangements to take a series of photographs of the exposition grounds which will eclipse anything of that character ever before undertaken in connection with any exposition, either in this country or in Europe. The books of views which will be issued will consist of a series of photographs which advance in the science of photography which has only recently been attained. In this connection Mr. Rinehart has arranged with W. H. Jackson, formerly of Denver, to take the pictures with a special process. As soon as the grounds are entirely completed the taking of these pictures will be commenced, including the main buildings and views of different points about the grounds.

Ethnological Exhibit.

Arrangements have been completed for an exhibit in the Liberal Arts building which will probably form a very strong attraction for numerous students of ethnology. This collection and consists of curios collected among the tribes of Indians in the southwest corner of the United States and in Mexico. The collection is an enormous one and is valued at an enormous sum. It will occupy a space of 150 feet, with numerous walls on which the articles will be suspended.

Obituary Lack a Quorum.

The meeting of the Ohio club club held for last night at the exposition headquarters did not have a quorum. The committee appointed to raise money by popular subscription for the erection of a building to be used as a club house reported poor success, but was given a few days' more time. If by that time the necessary amount is not subscribed the movement will be abandoned.

Building the Sod House.

The Nebraska sod house is under construction on a site directly east of the Nebraska state building. It is being erected by Ad. Morrison of Newport, Neb., with the assistance of a son of Mrs. L. Bowser of Norfolk, who was the originator. The house is to be eight feet high, twenty-four feet long and sixteen feet wide, and will be used as a residence during the exposition by Mrs. Bowser.

Notes of the Exposition.

Superintendent Jay Burns of the Concessions department is rejecting over the advent of Jay Burns, Jr.

The transportation department has received the bill of lading for a carload of settees which are intended for the Auditorium.

The hook and ladder truck and the hose wagon for the fire fighting battery stationed on exhibition grounds have been shipped and will arrive in a few days by fast freight. The mineral, agricultural and forestry portions of the Oregon exhibit have been received from Portland. Among the forestry display is a stick of timber sixty feet in length, containing $1,000 worth of lumber.

Actions on the applications of the Exchange hotel, Otto Maurer and John Koutsky were deferred for the reason that the proprietors of these places had not yet withdrawn their protests against payment of a $500 occupation tax.

The council will meet next Saturday afternoon to take up the cases where remonstrances have been filed by outside parties. Before the granting of the licenses mentioned Councilman Kelly withdrew his protests against all those who had withdrawn the occupation tax protests. At the Saturday meeting of the council some action toward refunding $300 of the occupation tax to those already granted licenses will be taken. The city treasurer desires to obtain legal advice on the matter before refunding any of the money paid.

The bonds issued for the grading of I street between Twelfth and Thirtieth streets have been sold to Cash Bros. and the sale was confirmed by the council. An ordinance was read for the first time establishing grades in all alleys which have not heretofore been established. The committee on fire and water was instructed to inquire into the advisability of increasing the fire department and also consider the necessity for the purchase of one or two fire engines.

May Move City Offices.

The owners of the city hall building have not paid any attention to the fact that the council in regard to making necessary and needed repairs. A few days ago one of the parties controlling this property was in the city and went over the building. He admitted that some repairs were needed, but refused to do anything but instruct the city to enter into another contract for the lease of the property. The present lease expires on December 1 and the owners desire the city to extend the lease either one or two years. Unless this is done it was stated positively that no repairs will be made. The councilmen are in favor of looking for another location and this may possibly be done, as the present quarters are not at all suitable.

High School Commencement.

Arrangements are being completed for the annual graduating exercises. This year the class which will graduate from the High school consists of seven members, five girls and two boys. The graduating class consists of: Sadie L. Fowler, R. Earl Smith, Mary Edith Smith, Leota Cox, Charles E. Wells, Anna R. Levy, Christine Condon.

The eighth grade graduating exercises

will be held about the same time, but the list of graduates has not been completed.

Erick for the Postoffice.

The contractors in charge of the work on the new postoffice building have purchased from a local dealer 500,000 brick, which will be used in constructing the walls of the building. The facing will be of buff colored brick, which will be bought in the east. All of the local brick yards are running full time now and a few days ago the South Omaha Brick company dumped on the market over half a million bricks of this year's make. This had a tendency to break the market and good building brick are now selling for $5.50 per 1,000.

Addition to Lincoln School.

Plans have been drawn by Architect L. A. Davis for the five-room addition to Lincoln school. By this proposed addition the capacity of the school will be doubled. The plan calls for four classrooms, a gymnasium, a room. Each of the school rooms will be thirty-two by twenty-five feet, while the classroom will be fifteen feet six inches by thirteen feet six inches. The school rooms will have six rows of nine seats each, making capacity seating capacity of 1,080. It is estimated that this new building will cost in the neighborhood of $5,500.

The report of Building Inspector Butler that it would require $300 to place the water-pumps and fountains in the city in shape was placed on file.

The well-known petition for the inauguration of the initiative and referendum was referred to the city attorney on the opinion of the city clerk that it was defective because the addresses of a goodly number of the 2,499 signers are not given.

The city attorney was instructed to bring action against the Richelle Murray for damages sustained by Miss Myrtle Murray by falling through an open hole in the city sidewalk responsible for the damages, but it is believed that they can be shifted upon the shoulders of the hotel people.
