

HOW TO SHIP THE EXHIBITS

Manager Babcock Explains Mistake that Causes Much Grumbling.

ONE PLAIN RULE IS DISREGARDED

Exhibits Billed to Individuals Will Not Be Hauled Free by the Railroads - Concessions Are Easy to Obtain.

Quite a hullabaloo has been kicked up during the last three or four days in connection with the receipt of freight at the exposition grounds. Investigation shows that this trouble has its origin among those who have persistently, if not willfully, disregarded the plain rule of the exposition association. The privilege of free shipment for the Nebraska exhibits and of free return for other exhibits was made by the railroads with the understanding that the exposition association would be responsible for the care of the consignments and that the integrity of each would be preserved by the responsible party. Arrangements to secure these privileges were made and the prospective shippers all had due notice of the plans and the charges, together with explicit instructions as to how to ship in order to secure the rates. It now appears that many shippers have paid no attention to these instructions, but are sending goods to freight depots to themselves or other individuals at Omaha, with the result that the railroads decline to accept them for free transportation, but insist on the payment of freight and terminal charges. If the shippers who now make bitter complaint against the alleged exorbitant charges will only observe the plain rule and bill their goods to the Transmississippi and International Exposition association, they will receive the benefit of the very liberal concessions the railroads have made, and will have their property taken care of by responsible parties at a minimum of cost.

Horticulturists who complain they cannot replenish during the season from time to time their stocks are assured that the exposition association has arranged a plan whereby these exhibits may be kept up continually fresh, and at a very little cost.

Complaint of Nebraska Men

Complaints have been made at headquarters of the Nebraska Exposition commission concerning the alleged exorbitant charges which it is alleged are made by the railroads at points of shipment on all exhibits intended for the exposition. This latter complaint has been a source of great surprise to those aware of the fact that the railroads had all agreed to transport free of charge from Nebraska points all exhibits excepting live stock. The complaint regarding this matter came from Superintendent Johnson of the agricultural bureau of the state commission, Superintendent Jackson of the educational exhibit and Superintendent Whitcomb of the apianary bureau. All stated that they had been notified by persons shipping to ship articles for exhibition that the shipment would not be received unless freight charges and terminal charges were prepaid at point of shipment. This information was like a bombshell in the camp of the state commission and Secretary Campbell thereupon issued a circular declaring that such a course would bankrupt the state commission. The protests applied especially to small shipments, the charges being reported as being $1.50 in each case for the attention of Manager Babcock of the Transportation department was called to these complaints. He threw light on the matter, which puts it in an entirely different aspect. With reference to the difficulty in connection with the shipments of material for the Nebraska exhibit, Manager Babcock said the whole situation results from the fact that the shippers insist on billing the goods to the individual superintendents of the Nebraska exhibit instead of billing everything to the Transmississippi and International Exposition association as required by all instructions issued by the exposition management.

Mistakes Made by Shippers. "These educational exhibits about which so much fuss is being made," said Mr. Babcock, "are shipped to Superintendent Jackson individually or as superintendent of the educational exhibit, and in some cases the county superintendents shipping the exhibit addresses it to himself at Omaha. In the agricultural exhibit some of the material is addressed to Superintendent Johnson as head of the agricultural bureau of the Nebraska commission. All these things are wrong and directly contrary to the most positive instructions issued again and again by the Transportation department. The special rates made by the railroads require that the identity of the exhibits must be preserved and the exposition is bound to see that this is done. The exhibition being the responsible party, all shipments must be made to it.

"This whole matter was gone over very carefully several months ago and there is no excuse for a misunderstanding at this late day. It was thoroughly understood that the usual terminal charge would be made on the Nebraska exhibits the same as on all other exhibits, but an agreement was arranged which would have done away with all difficulty if it had been followed. The commission said they could not pay out any money, but were obliged to have everything paid by means of vouchers in the regular way, and I then secured an arrangement by which the express company having the concession for hauling the exhibits agreed to pay all terminal charges and the bills for the same to the commission. It was also arranged that the shipments from all parts of the state in small lots should be collected at the downtown depots and taken to the grounds in large enough loads to entitle the consignee to the lowest rate. Instead of carrying out these arrangements they have been violated on all sides, and the result is that the railroads are inclined to treat the exhibits as ordinary freight because the shipments are addressed to individuals instead of to the exposition. There is nothing to prevent any person shipping all his household goods and effects as exhibition exhibits if the roads should accept material billed to individuals."

Facilities for Small Shippers.

Regarding the reported trouble concerning the shipment of small packages for replenishing the various horticultural and other exhibits, Mr. Babcock said ample provision had been made which would be entirely satisfactory to all concerned. The greater part of this material, he said, would be shipped by express, and arrangements have been made by which all of the express companies will maintain offices on the grounds and these companies have arranged with the American District Telegraph company to deliver all express matter billed to people on the grounds. The charges to be made for this service will be only such as are made by the American District Telegraph company, the exposition having nothing to do with this matter, but Mr. Babcock said the charges would be reasonable. For small packages which may be carried in the hand Mr. Babcock said these might be carried into the grounds by the consignee or by any delivery wagon driver. In short, the aim of the exposition management, according to Mr. Babcock, is to give exhibitors every facility for making their exhibit without levying a series of extortionate charges. There was a slight disturbance on the grounds yesterday over an express company attempting to unload goods on the ground and haul them to the space of an exhibitor. They were very properly stopped from doing so, and any other company or individual which undertakes to do the same thing will meet with the same treatment. One of the conditions under which special rates were obtained for the exposition was that the identity of the goods must be preserved in order to get the benefit of free transportation on the return trip. The express company responsible for the shipment is required to certify to that fact before the goods will be accepted for return to the original point of shipment. If Tom, Dick and Harry are allowed to go to the grounds and unload goods and place them on the space of the exhibitor, the responsibility for the loss of the goods and know that the same goods are returned? The company having the concession for the hauling on the grounds is under bonds to the exposition for the proper performance of its duty and the strictest account is kept of all shipments. This company is responsible to the exposition and the exposition is responsible to the railroads.

INDEPENDENT EXPRESSMEN'S SIDE.

History of the Contract for a Monopoly of the Hauling Business.

The expressmen who were arrested Wednesday for violating the rules of the exposition in hauling goods into the exposition grounds were yesterday discharged for lack of prosecution. The independent expressmen are very much worked up over what they denounce as an attempt of the transportation department of the exposition to turn all of the exhibits over to a monopoly under the form of a contract with the official express company of the exposition. "The exposition is trying to freeze out all the small expressmen," said a representative of the independent expressmen. "They are trying to be informed of the method by which the present situation has been brought about. Back in January Manager Babcock invited all the principal expressmen of the city to a conference for the purpose of discussing arrangements by which the conditions existing between the railroad companies could be complied with. A preliminary proposition was agreed upon and signed by all the express companies, including the one which has been designated as official, limiting the number of teams to be used and specifying maximum charges. This is what Manager Babcock now characterizes as a combine which he has broken up by making a contract with one member of the combine to monopolize all the business. This proposition provided for a charge of $1 for small trips and $2 for a hundredweight for general hauling.

"In February Manager Babcock asked expressmen to submit bids on exhibition hauling, but a few days later withdrew the invitation owing, as he said, to the unsettled condition of the freight delivery proposition and promising to submit another set of specifications for further bids as soon as matters were adjusted. The next thing we knew Manager Babcock had had himself empowered to make a contract for the nominal consideration of $1 for exclusive hauling of the exhibits within the grounds.

"The contract moreover provides rates higher than those suggested in the first conference. The charge for small trips is $1, the same as in the memorandum, but the charge per hundredweight on goods hauled from local depots is increased from 5 cents to 12 cents per hundredweight, though the rate on hauling from the exposition terminal is reduced 2 cents, or from 8 cents to 6 cents per hundredweight. The expressmen do not regard this contract, designed to create a monopoly and let without consideration to the expressmen, as having any valid force. They insist that they have a right to get all the hauling exhibits may give them and they are determined to resist all efforts of the exposition to make the official monopoly effective."

BRITISH-CANADIAN CLUB PLANS.

Arrangements for Headquarters for the Exhibition Visitors Under Way. The British-Canadian club held its regular weekly meeting in the exposition headquarters last night. The chief object of the meeting was to determine on a suitable room to be used as headquarters where British and Canadian visitors might congregate on arrival in Omaha, register and be directed as to rooms, etc. The committee on headquarters was supplemented by the president, who is to call another committee together and complete the arrangements and report at the next meeting, May 26. It was suggested that this was an opportune time to pass resolutions of sympathy and respect on the death of William E. Gladstone. The president appointed a committee which immediately drafted resolutions to that effect and the same were ordered spread on the books of the club. P. L. Forgan made a speech in which he said that he had the honor of being personally acquainted with Mr. Gladstone, and words failed to express the appreciation he had of the "grand old man."

The president requested the members to hand in the names of all Canadian and British papers, so that literature on the exposition might be sent them for publication. He said that already the Canadian papers were beginning to advertise the exposition, and that the government officials intend visiting Omaha some time this summer.

Educational Congress Matters.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the educational congress yesterday, reports were received to the effect that the following halls had been secured for sectional meetings: First Methodist church, First Congregational church, First Presbyterian church, Young Men's Christian association, High school, city hall assembly room, Metropolitan hall, Commercial club and the city library hall. Several more halls are to be secured. It was announced that Missouri is likely to send a delegation to the congress that is likely to throw into the shade some of the states nearer this city. Iowa also promises a big representation. A thousand more badges were ordered, making the total number so far ordered 3,000.

Ministers to Select Their Seats.

President F. M. Sterrett of the Missouri Exposition commission has sent a circular letter to the mayors of the principal cities in Missouri, to Governor Stephens and to the members of the commission, asking them to suggest a date for Missouri day at the exposition. When Missouri day is received a day will be named by President Sterrett and Missourians will attend the exposition in force. Arrangements are pending for the Apollo club and the St. Louis Amateur orchestra to come to Omaha on Missouri day.

The women's clubs of the state are taking an active part in assisting the state commission in preparing a state exhibit, their efforts being chiefly centered on the educational question. All the women's clubs of the state, of which there are about 100, have been asked to help and in the manner in which they are responding, although not called upon until the last moment, is the source of great encouragement to the committee having in charge this branch of the work in charge.

EXHIBITORS DO THE HUSTLING NOW.

Installation of Displays in the Big West Building.

Exhibitors are now bending every energy to get their booths erected, decorated and exhibits placed. A great amount of night work will be done next week. The incandescent electric lights on the Government, Agricultural, Manufacturers and Machinery Electricity buildings, the Administration arch, government colonnades and the north half portion of the lagoon have been tested and give complete satisfaction. The first test was made last Friday, at which time the current was turned on by Miss Kathryn Bartholomew of Omaha. The machinery in the power and electric plant is in perfect running order, and within a few days more work will be entirely completed. The unpacking of exhibits is being accelerated and the crews are being increased. The space in the Manufacturers building is almost occupied with the exhibits, those having lately arrived being the Majestic Electric Range company, the Westcott & Co. Coca company, National Lined Oil, Frank Martin, fur skin dresser and dyer of Milwaukee, Cudahy packing industry of South Omaha and the P. D. Beckwith company. A visit to this building convinces one of the progress that can be made as soon as the exhibits on the floor.

The General Electric company of Schenectady, N. Y., has just emptied a car of material in the Machinery and Electrical building and will make an exhibit the equal of which has perhaps never been seen. The printers and pressmen who may visit the exposition will have the opportunity of seeing the progress made in presses. The Mieble Printing Press company of New York will have a good exhibit, which has already arrived and is being placed in position. The Dexter folder will also be another attraction.

The four colonnades which are to be the chief attraction in the Mines and Mining building are fast being completed. The states of Utah, Colorado, Montana and Wyoming will make their exhibits therein, the like of which has never been surpassed.

Visitors are no longer permitted to enter the Fine Arts building on account of the great amount of work being done in the unpacking of paintings. Director Griffith has been absent in Des Moines for several days, but the work goes merrily on in charge of Assistant Paul Charleton. The French collection of paintings from the Exposition Universelle of 1889, consisting of sixteen boxes, was received and unpacked yesterday. This collection equals half of the money value of the entire exhibit and Mr. Charleton has been kept quite busy visiting the city at intervals and placing insurance on the paintings as fast as they are unpacked. The arrangement of the sections of the Art building is being soiled and beds of beautiful flowers and plants placed therein. When completed it will be one of the prettiest spots on the grounds.

On the midway the same bustle and hurry is noticeable. Hundreds of workmen are striving with might and main to get the buildings completed and the attractions installed. One of the novel features of the show at present is the work of the Chinese artisans who are erecting the Chinese village.

Meeting of the Directors.

A special meeting of the Board of Directors of the exposition has been called by President Wattlea for next Wednesday, May 25, at 4 p. m., the meeting to be held in the Administration arch within the exposition grounds. It is expected that by that time the furniture for the rooms in the arch will be in position and the building will be ready to serve its function as the headquarters of the president and the place for the official reception of distinguished visitors.

Stenographers Ask a Day.

Kerdrick C. Hill, chairman of the National Association of Stenographers, has chosen Omaha as the place for meeting for the annual convention of the profession, and has asked the exposition directors for a day to be known as Stenographers' day.

Notes of the Exposition.

John Kreidler has been awarded a concession for the sale of hot waffles, giddle cakes, pies, doughnuts, tea, coffee, etc.

Manager Kirkendall has returned from a short business trip to eastern points and has resumed charge of the Department of Buildings and Grounds.

The Macon, Mo., Times announces that it has made arrangements for a special Pullman car to carry visitors to Chicago, the most popular young lady in Macon counts, to the exposition. The car will be fully equipped for the exclusive use of the Times party. The trip will last for one week and will certainly be a most enjoyable one.

Thoroughly Successful.

That may truly be said of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It always cures and cures quickly. When troubled with a cough or cold give it a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the thorough cure which it will effect.
