

ROBINSON LEAVES OMAHA

One of the Methodist Pastors: Will Go to New Mexico.

ANNOUNCES HIS PURPOSE FROM PULPIT

Seward Street Church Will Be With-out a Head for a While, But Dr. Welsh of Albuquerque Will Take Charge in July.

During the services at the Seward Street Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning the pastor, Rev. J. W. Robinson, announced his intention of leaving the pulpit of the church. He will preach his farewell sermon on Sunday, June 15.

Rev. Robinson will exchange pulpits with Dr. Welsh of Albuquerque, N. M. The change is made by the pastor in the interests of his health. He is well liked by his congregation and has had charge for two years. He has been a member of the North Nebraska conference for the last twelve years. While he goes to Albuquerque in the middle of June, where he will have charge of the biggest church there, Dr. Welsh is not expected in this city until the first of July.

Preaching Elder J. B. Maxfield preached the sermon at the morning services yesterday. His remarks were intended to persuade his hearers to hold closer relationship to God in their every day life. He discussed the attitude of the man who prayed to God long and lengthily, and then goes out and tries to evade his honest obligations. Man should practice as well as preach, said the elder, he should pay as well as pray. Words are cheap.

Dr. Maxfield said that it is possible for every mortal to become a second Christ by following out in spirit and action the teachings of Jesus. This can be easily accomplished by weaving in the web and wool of everyday life the precepts laid down by the Almighty. Every man and woman has latent in himself and herself possibilities of greatness in this respect, which can be developed by seizing the proffered opportunities and cultivating the right influences. A man is known by the company he keeps. If he associates with the Saviour he can become like him.

In the course of his sermon Dr. Maxfield particularly dwelt upon the curse of rum. He declared that in all ages it worked for the ruin of men and women. In fighting the liquor traffic, and in not countenancing any indulgence in the habit, Christian men and women are able to follow at least one of the teachings of Christ.

MUST NOT BE AFRAID OF PAST.

Rev. J. O. Staples Finds a Topic in Dewey's Victory.

Rev. J. O. Staples spoke at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian association yesterday afternoon on "Conquering Manila." He paralleled the recent naval victory with moral crises in men's lives, and showed that strength to overcome was due to the training and discipline which had been acquired in preparation for the struggle.

Men should make their lives pure, clean and earnest, he said, so that in time of need, when the struggle demanded all their strength, their past would arise and fight with them. "Those men who dared enter Manila harbor and who were victorious," said Nelson did not do so," said Mr. Staples, "had behind them a past of study, discipline and forethought through months and years. Someone has said that our to-days are making yesterday, but it is more true that today is making tomorrow, for the inspiration of the future is bright with promise than the remembrance of the past."

"In preparation for our Manila we should know ourselves, control ourselves, and train ourselves that the resources gathered in the past may be our tower of strength in the present. Richard D. Webb, the hero of the past on the night before Bosworth Field, when the memory of wrongs done haunted him with a foreboding that they would weigh down his arm on the morrow. The past as a factor in the present was also indicated in the story of the Roman custom of leaving a gap in the line where Ajax had formerly fought, and it was said that unwary foes were hurled back in defeat by his unseen influence when they stormed the line at that point.

"So day by day we are building another self that will stand the strength of weakness at time of need. The past of Dewey's opponents was one of blood and oppression and it proved their downfall. The ignorance which admitted nothing beyond the Pillars of Hercules historically could not meet the science of modern warfare. Napoleon said that God was on the side of the strong batteries, but it was not strength of batteries that prevailed in this case, but the intellects behind them. So the possibility for such victories only lies in the fighter's past, he must be earnest, clean and untiring in his preparation."

PRESENT VALUE OF JOB'S EXAMPLE.

Wonderful Faith of Ancient Patriarch and Its Modern Application.

The theme of the sermon last night at the Hanscom Park Methodist church was, "In all this Job Sinned not Charged God Foolishly." Dr. Wilson reviewed the life of Job and pointed to him as a man whom all persons would do well to imitate. Job was a man of wealth and influence and had everything one could desire. He believed in God and in his prosperity was pointed to by non-believers as a man who was supremely happy and because of his excellent station in life could easily believe in God. But reverses came to Job and he was sorely tried and was stricken with disease. Through all he blessed God and revered him, not blaming heaven with his misfortunes.

Dr. Wilson discussed the tendency among people of today to charge all their misfortunes to Providence and to lay their shortcomings to some supreme power. According to some beliefs a man's life is completely outlined by God and it is planned that he shall do certain things, meet his death in a certain way and not be able to resist the inevitable fate which awaits him. If such were the case man's reason and judgment are of no consequence and play no important part in his career. Dr. Wilson discarded such a belief and urged that man is free to outline the part he shall play in the world, and that God will help and assist those who help themselves. In Dr. Wilson's opinion men are not the victims of circumstance but rather the master of circumstance.

"Men are responsible for what they are and for what they believe and what they think," said Dr. Wilson. "The men who sit quietly and allow all influences to toss them about are the men who think God mistreats them and condemns them to failure. Men who exercise judgment and reason and pursue some definite purpose in life are the men who succeed and have no complaint to make against Providence. The guiding motto for every man should be, 'The man makes his career with God's assistance.' TRUTH BELONGS TO ALL MANKIND.

Rev. William Kincaid Preaches at First Presbyterian Church.

The pulpit of the First Presbyterian church was supplied yesterday morning by Rev. William Kincaid of Minneapolis. The subject for his discourse was Paul's exhortation to Corinthians, "All things are yours." These words were addressed to the church at Corinth at a time when it was in the throes of a faction struggle between Greeks, Jews and men from all parts of Asia made up the church and each faction accepted the teachings of God as promulgated by some special leader and through admiration for the leader lost sight of the fountain-head of all Christianity. Each sect uttered its judgment with vehemence and discord prevailed.

To this turbulent church Paul said, "Let no man glory in men, for all things are yours—and ye are Christ's and Christ's are God's." He endeavored to have all the followers of Jesus forget earthly teachers and rely on Christ alone.

When will men come to learn from all teachers of God who bring a message and still not bend the knee to anyone excepting God? We should thank God that He has sent earthly messengers who reveal to us new truths and we should remember that any man who teaches living messages will be true to any one sect. Thomas a Kempis, Luther, Dean Stanley and Phillips Brooks were not the property of any one denomination; they belonged to all Christianity. Truth belongs to all mankind and the man who discovers a new truth and does not proclaim it to the world is false in his divine heritage.

"The world is yours," said the speaker. "Make the most of it and live up to its opportunities. It is a world which is developing continually and is slowly approaching perfected civilization. We are on the way to a real manhood which will be brave and not brutal, a manhood which will rise above crime and leave it as a shadow of the past. All the wealth of time and eternity are yours, but remember in this wealth of possibilities that you are not your own and what a price was paid for you. You are in this world to uplift humanity and it is your duty to come to a full realization of truth and to bring all its blessings to bear upon humanity."

LOVE IS TO REDEEM THE WORLD.

Rev. Alexander Gilchrist Preaches on Power of the Christ Love.

"The Christ Love" was the theme of Rev. Alexander Gilchrist at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning. He said in part: "If there is any virtue in the Christian religion it lies in the doctrine and practice of the theory that love, self-sacrificing love, redeems the world. This is the Christ love, and we are to have it in our hearts and our understanding, is beyond us, and not within our understanding."

"It is not within our understanding to grasp the final limitations of the divine love. An understanding can be attained of the birth of parental love, for the love-light which shines from the father's or mother's eye when the first glance with new life is granted them, tells the story of the first life of their love. Friendship has its first marks and ordinarily can be traced; but the love of Christ was born irrespective of conditions and before time set his seal. Nothing had so ennobled the attention of the divine records, of the heavenly intelligences, as the fact that Jesus Christ was to manifest in the corporeal body, his marvellous love for the world. The sons of God shouted for joy when they beheld the love of man for man who would redeem the world."

"The problem of a saviour sent to redeem the world and righteous was easy of acceptance; but Christ came to uphold a sinful and sin-cursed world made the most heroic of heaven burst forth in the wondering music of the heavenly spheres.

"In the warring, jarring, clashing, tumultuous and tempestuous discord of life today there is but one redemption, one single principle which can bring the peace which passeth all understanding—the peace of the love of man for man. The doctrine of the Prince of Peace. The love of Him who came to still the troubled waters, to preach that the love of man for man will redeem the world."

Bills of Fare in Fashionable Restaurants.

The question has been mooted over and over again whether the elaborate French and German dishes upon the bills of fare of the better class of American restaurants is or is not an improvement. Many pretend that before their introduction cooking was coarse, barbaric. This is an open question; but no bill of fare presents attractions to the unappetizing, but they, like the bilious, maniacal and persons with weak kidneys, can be cured by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

HANDLING TROOPS WESTWARD

Transcontinental Lines Getting Ready for a Reported Expedition to the Philippines.

The prospect of an army expedition from San Francisco to the Philippine islands is transpiring much activity in transportation lines. The movement of volunteer troops from western states to the coast has given the passenger department of a number of the lines, notably the Union Pacific, all the business they could conceivably handle.

Following the troops there is an immense movement of freight composed of equipment for the soldiers who are to go to Manila. Several train loads of such supplies have passed through Omaha within the last few days over the Union Pacific. Shoes, clothing, powder and guns have formed the bulk of the supplies. All have been put through as express freight, and hurried out to the coast at the rate of thirty-five to forty miles an hour. Two freight trains that went out of here last evening were well loaded with equipment for the soldiers.

Rebuilding Union Pacific Roadbed.

General Manager Edward Dickinson of the Union Pacific has returned from a trip of inspection over the lines of the Nebraska division, and pronounces them to be in splendid condition. The work of rebuilding the roadbed with Sherman gravel near Grand Island is proceeding well. A large amount of money is being put in this work, and it is the Nebraska division's hope to have on its Nebraska division one of the best stretches of railroad track in the country. The surveyors' camp will this week be moved from Alma to Wood River.

Cave Dwellers Arrested.

Tom Evans, Tom Ryan and others, in all ten men, were arrested last night for going to housekeeping in a cave near the old Sulphur Springs of the Missouri Pacific tracks. Complaint had been made by the company that the cave dwellers had been tampering with freight cars and they were accordingly taken into custody. They had been taken in preparing the cave for a habitation and it made quite a commodious dwelling.

PRICES OF WHEAT AND FLOUR

Both Commodities Are Steadily Mounting the Ladder of Value.

DEALERS PONDER ON ULTIMATE OUTCOME

Local Jobbers in Flour Believe the Limit of the Rise Has Not Yet Been Attained and Give Their Reasons.

Wheat has gone up since July last from 64 cents a bushel to $1.25 a bushel. It leaped 15 cents a bushel Saturday. Flour sold for $2.30 a hundred—just what it was in 1907. It is now $3.50 per bushel wholesale and $3.75 to $4 retail. Where is it going to stop? is a question dealers are asking. The indications for the wheat crop in America this year points to an enormous increase, the calculation of the best authorities now reaching 50,000,000 bushels. But advices from three other great wheat-growing countries—Argentina, India and Russia—indicate a probable shortage in each.

When war was first declared all steamship companies began to put up the rates on shipments from America, partly to curtail the amount of freight they would book for shipment. A large number of vessels were withdrawn, and the result was a stiff advance in rates, some of which were increased 100 per cent. From around 100 cents a bushel before war was declared the rates were rapidly advanced to 60 cents within a short time after the declaration of hostilities, and finally they went up to the almost unheard-of figure of 20 cents a bushel.

This was caused by the fear that vessels might be seized by Spanish men-of-war, disabled by stray shots or wrecked through the failure of high-powered engines or sections of submarine mines, which were placed in all of the harbors as rapidly as the government could push forward the work.

Charged to Chicago.

Manipulation in Chicago and the excessive ocean rates caused a general advance in the price of wheat on this side. It was the removal of the French duty of 45 per cent bushel on wheat. This had a bullish effect on the American markets, and there was an immediate movement on this side to equalize the price with what had been in France when the government was receiving 45 cents a bushel on wheat.

While this movement was in progress the Spanish, Italian and German duties were removed on account of bread riots in those countries, and the market took another boom that sent May wheat to $1.80 in New York. Now that the foreigners have removed their duties the market is not so import duty on American wheat is not so result in cheaper bread for their people, but rather tends to put the additional funds in the pockets of Yankee speculators, they are said to have decided to restore the duty.

Local dealers anticipate a continuation of the present high prices. "Just so long as England and France keep their duties on wheat representative of S. T. Gilman & Co., prices will be maintained. They have been high, it is true, but California and the coast states have a general failure and if the war keeps up prices are bound to hold up. Things are unsettled and men must eat if nothing else happens, so I look for a maintenance of present conditions."

John M. Viel & Co. thought the incoming crop might have some effect on prices, but held that they would rule high for at least a month more. The Omaha Milling company is not particularly optimistic. They are inclined to the same belief. They say the mills have not enough wheat on hand to supply their trade; that the whole country is short and, taking manipulation and letter into account the fact remains that present exigencies are apparently unmet by future crops.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Camille" was presented to two very large audiences at the Creighton yesterday, afternoon and evening, and will be the bill of the house throughout the week. The production which was an elaborate and costly one, marked as well the first appearance of Miss Jennie Kennark with the company as leading woman. The full strength of the organization is employed, and the performance is, in general, an exceedingly good one; judged on its own merits, Miss Berkeley's company is one of the best in the city. The production is not less correct and satisfying for being in some respects a departure from tradition. She looks like May Robson in "The Conquerors," and plays the part with all her accustomed skill and nicety of touch. Her dance with Gaston, which ends the first act, is particularly fetching. Mr. Smith is the Armand, and shows himself a dignified lover and a manly upholder of a lover's prerogatives. Mr. Green, as Varville, also another carefully considered impersonation to those which he has already presented, and quite confirms the good opinions heretofore formed of him. Mr. Ernest, at $40 a m., the artist, however small the part he enacts, is old Duval; and other members of the company are the servants and the ladies and gentlemen who go in and out of doors.

Miss Kennark's reception was a cordial one, and the impression she made was decidedly favorable. She was known to be an actress of unusual ability, and she is undoubtedly making good the announcements which have heralded her.

OMAHA IN SUNDAY CLOTHES

Lovely May Day Gave the City a Spruced-up Appearance.

"I have never seen Omaha look so beautiful before, and have been on a street car through the best part of the city for over twenty years. I usually could look over from the Tenth street hill to Hanscom park and see nothing but houses, no trees or shrubbery in sight. But I can't do it now; it's all green with trees. The town certainly looks fine." This is the way an old street car conductor on the Farnam street line talked to a Bee reporter yesterday. From exclamations dropped by the thousands of people who were out yesterday it is plain that they thought along the same lines as our street car fiend.

Omaha tried on its new spring garb, to get used to it before the opening of the exposition, yesterday. It fitted it well and was favorably commented on by a great concourse of people who inspected it. It was an ideal spring day. With the possible exception of Easter Sunday there has been no such delightful Sunday heretofore in this town. There was a breeze and some dark clouds in the morning that threatened rain, but the weather man told these to "brush by" as soon as he got onto their presence, and the remainder of the day was beautiful and clear.

The parade was very numerously taken advantage of by several thousand Omahans and hundreds of strangers within the city's gates. The morning saw the start of many bicycle parties, and many morning drives were indulged in. The churches were well represented, and the noon hour saw quite a dress parade in the vicinity of the churches where the fashionable attend divine worship. There was a greater display of spring finery in dress goods and in headgear than there was on Easter Sunday, and the women's eyes just kept dancing as they watched the exhibition of the handiwork of the milliner and of the milliner.

But if the morning and noon hours brought the folks out of doors, what must be said of the afternoon? It was really a passing show, and the caste was greatly augmented. The procession was headed toward the exposition grounds, and most of it reached there, though some may have fallen by the wayside. All the streets leading to the common Mecca were well filled with pedestrians, bicyclists, equestrians and drivers. The boulevard was packed from 2 o'clock nearly 6 o'clock with all kinds of turnouts. There were hundreds of automobiles, many of them brand new in honor of the approaching gala season. The rich rode in chaises to their heart's content, and the rest found other means of reaching the grounds. All the street car lines leading to the exposition did a very profitable business, and the good seats were "bought" for carriages and bicycles monopolized the driveways, and ten times as many people walked through as rode. There was but one sentiment expressed and that was admiration for the work already done. All classes were represented, and there were enough prominent church and Sunday school people on the grounds during the afternoon to settle the Sunday opening question by themselves.

Woman Tells a Strange Story.

A woman giving the name of Mrs. C. H. Clauson appealed to Mayor Ensor for aid Saturday afternoon and told a long story of being robbed by a strange woman. Mrs. Clauson asserted that she was in Denver looking for work when she was approached by a well dressed woman who gave the name of Jessie Moore. The result of a short talk was that Mrs. Clauson agreed to come to Omaha with the Moore woman upon the promise of being given steady employment. After arriving here Mrs. Clauson asserts that her companion took all of her outside clothing to be cleaned and did not return with it. She claimed to be destitute and urged the mayor to give her money enough to buy suitable clothing.

BN'AI BR'ITH IS IN SESSION

Report of Orphan Asylum at Cleveland Shows There Has Not Been a Death There in Three Years.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 22.—The Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, of the Second district, began its annual session here today. Nearly 100 delegates are present from the district, which comprises Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico.

The report of the asylum at Cleveland, in which 500 or 600 orphans are cared for, shows that there has not been a death in the institution for three years.

The limit of the time of the proceedings was the decision to transfer the title of the real estate belonging to the institution to a recently incorporated company. The title heretofore has been held by this lodge.

The committee on propaganda reported today in St. Louis, Evansville, Dayton, Louisville, Denver and other places. Bernhard Freilberg of Cincinnati was elected trustee of the endowment fund for five years and Louis Levy of Cincinnati was elected trustee of the Orphan's home at Cleveland.

Guest delegates were entertained at a concert by the local lodge. Tomorrow officers will be elected, and there will be an excursion to Robinson park, and in the evening a banquet at the standard club.

FOUR ARE CRUSHED TO DEATH

Workmen Engaged in Strengthening the Walls of a Mine Are Caught by a Cavein and Killed.

ALLENTOWN, Pa., May 22.—The four men crushed to death yesterday by the cavein at Hatzell & Swartz's Hematite ore mine were:

FRANK REINHARD, aged 40, having a wife and two children.

OSCAR REINHARD, his brother, aged 34, having a wife and three children.

MORRIS DRY, single, aged 21, all of Fredericksville, Berks county.

FRANK EIDELL, single, aged 30, who lived in Allentown.

The men were working in a slope seventy-two feet below the surface replacing the temporary props with permanent supports when the slide occurred. The timbers were crushed under the men fast and crushing them to death.

A new shaft was sunk near the place where the bodies lay, and men have been working in shifts ever since the accident in the effort to reach the bodies.

At 5 o'clock this evening three bodies were taken to the morgue and placed in the morgue. It may require constant work all night to remove the bodies of the unfortunate men.

Celebrate Irish Centenary.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., May 22.—The centenary of the Irish rebellion of 1798 was celebrated here today. The remains of Michael Dwyer, who died in 1825, and the remains of his wife, were taken up and reburied in St. Mark's cathedral. The funeral, which was a fine one, was witnessed by thousands. The foundation stone of the monument was also laid.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

Secretary Talbot of the Board of Education has prepared a statement showing the expenses of the board from July 1, 1897, to May 20, 1898. During this time the board has expended for all purposes the sum of $57,146.96, leaving a balance in the treasury of $5,609.92. This balance does not include any of the saloon license money paid in this year, and it is the intention to leave this fund untouched in order that the outgoing board may have a fund of considerable proportions to turn over to the new board. In the statement of the secretary every expenditure is itemized and every dollar is accounted for. This is a remarkable showing for the reason that heretofore the fiscal year of the board commenced with an overlap which had to be paid out of the saloon license money.

The time for taking the annual school census is drawing near and the Board of Education has named enumerators as follows: First ward, Philip Korn; Second ward, Joseph Maly; Third ward, S. Ribow; Fourth ward, Alfred Myers.

Additions to the school buildings will be erected in the following order: Highland school, Lincoln school, Brown Park school. In case there is any money left after making the needed improvements to these buildings a three-room school will be erected on the site purchased from John J. Ryan, at Thirty-ninth and X streets.

The Smith heating and ventilating system will be used in the addition to the Lincoln school. Members of the board assert that this system has saved a great deal of money at the Lincoln school, and the plan of placing this system in use in all new buildings is favored. Members of the finance committee of the board figure that all of the money to be raised by levy will have to be used in enlarging the present school buildings, and the intention to hold these schools in lease money to pay teachers' and janitors' salaries. With a valuation of $2,000,000 it is expected that the school levy will amount to about $34,000, and this will not be any too much to pay for the improvements and additions contemplated.

Improving the Lighting Plant.

Superintendent E. S. Dimmock of the electric light company stated yesterday that his plant would shortly be improved by the addition of two Hamilton-Corliss engines of the latest improved pattern. These engines have been ordered and the drawings arrived yesterday. These new engines will take the place of those now in use at the power station and will cost, when set, between $10,000 and $11,000. With the addition of these engines the capacity of the plant will be more than doubled and it is claimed that the service will be greatly improved. The cylinder on one of the engines has a diameter of eighteen inches and a stroke of forty-two inches, while the diameter of the cylinder on the other is sixteen inches with a piston stroke of thirty-six inches. The eighteen-inch cylinder engine will make eighty-five revolutions per minute and the smaller one eighty. With a steam pressure of 120 pounds, 500 horse power can be developed. Each of the engines will be belted to a high speed independent of the other so that they can be worked singly or together. The counter shaft will be five inches in diameter of the best hammered iron and equipped with all the latest appliances for oiling so that it will not be necessary to oil often than once a year. The dynamo will be driven from the counter-shaft, which is to be equipped with Hill's patent clutch pulleys. It is asserted that when completed this plant will be the best equipped in the state. According to an agreement with the makers the engines are to be delivered here in six weeks.
