Welcomes the Delegates, President Tierney Makes Some Suggestions and the Body Goes to Work.

The second annual convention of the Nebraska Liquor Dealers' association began yesterday morning, President John C. Tierney calling it together in Thurston Riffes' hall. It changed its name and decided to make the association a distinctively retail one. This action bars out the brewers and wholesales, but it puts it in proper standing with the national organization. The convention also adopted resolutions condemning public officials for allowing the druggists to violate the Slocum

Mayor Frank Moores made a characteristic address of welcome, during the course of which he assured the visitors the freedom of the city was theirs. Humorously noting the absence of any one to offer a prayer, he said:

It was not quite a year ago that I had the pleasure of being with you. I had just taken my office as mayor and I then assured the members present at that time that they could have the whole town. I am here today to renew that promise, and if there is anything you want all you have to do is to ask come over to the city hall and I will see that it is brought to you on a silver

I don't think there is a city in the country that has so many good fellows in it as Omaha—so many good fellows who know what is good for a man's soul and what is good for a man's stomach.

Your organization is a very creditable one and were I in the business of selling liquor I would be a member of it. I believe every man in the business ought to connect himsel with this organization, both for the good of the business and his own benefit.

He renewed his cordial invitation to the visitors to "take in the town and enjoy themselves." If any of them got into trouble he would see that they were properly treated. His telephone number was still 55. He got a rising vote of thanks

President Tierney's Suggestion.

After the reading of the minutes of the Initiatory meeting at which the association was organized about a year ago, and the subsequent one, by Editor C. E. Fields of the local liquor organ, who had been made assistant secretary, President Tierney made a few suggestions for the good of the convention generally. He hoped the delegates would "put on their thinking caps this time, so that when the convention adjourned it could show better results than it did at the meeting about six months ago when not much was done owing to the tallyho parties and the good times the members enjoyed generally." Some suggestions followed from him thus:

"I advocate a closer union so that in cases of unjust prosecution we will be in a better shape for defense. I would also advocate that all complaints be made to the excutive committee; also that we have a common defense fund and employ the best legal talent."

Finally he urged incorporation by the state association, observing that "we enjoy more success now, and the saloon keepers are not so often attacked nor on so weak

John Bauer of Lincoln, Henry Rolff of Omaha, Pat Stanton of Tilden, William Eichner of Papillon and P. P. Reedy of Lindsay were appointed an auditing committee to go over the accounts of Secretary William Maloney and Treasurer Fred Muchow.

Upon his suggesting that there should be a sergeant-at-arms to keep out those not members, Morris Karpeles, the secretary of the Omaha Municipal league, was given that tosk. He got even later on by inviting all the visiting delegates to enjoy the hospitality of the members of the league, which had increased in number, said he, from five at the first meeting eight months ago to about 100 now. Their places would be known, he explained, by the league banner with its device of a pair of clasped hands and the word "Unity." All saloon keepers were given an invitation to take part in the meeting, whether members or not.

Allowance for Attorney's Fees. Some details of the business of the association then were gone over. As a member of the executive committee, Mr. Tierney reported that it had allowed Joseph Schranek $100 from the defense fund as the association's share of the expenses of his case at Dayton City. Speaking of a case where an attorney had tried to work the association Mr. Tierney said the association "would not keep a charity fund for the benefit of shyster lawyers. The delegates who had represented the state at the national convention at Indianapolis last October, Charles Krug and Morris Karpeles, made their report and told McKinney, Tex.; Hiram T. Jones of Elizawhy they had failed to induce the national association to bring its convention here this Kas.; Stark Brothers, the Iowa and Misyear instead of taking it to Asheville, N. C. Lack of interest at home was given as one reason, notwithstanding the Transmississippi Exposition was to be the great attraction, and, besides, Asheville had been favored by an achievement in the comedy line by a North Carolina delegate, against the effect of which, said Mr. Krug, nothing could have prevailed. The Asheville people. too, flooded the Indianspolis convention with of Plaindealing, La.; A. Willis of Ottawa, telegrams, whereas only one came from Kas.; Silas Wilson of Atlantic, Ia., and J. J Omaha, Still another thing which operated against Omaha, according to Mr. Krug's report, was the "number of disreputable places votes each and the rest went to Asheville. From the reports of these two delegates it is on the national association's list of executive committeemen. Some Routine Matters.

Immediately after this the president appointed Charles Krug of Omaha, Peter Huff

Arms Karpeles informing the chair that gentlemen were present not members of he association," a delegate suggested that badges be printed and worn by the members to distinguish them. Fritz Bloemer and Michael Nitler of this city were sent out to attend to this matter and by supper MUCH BUSINESS QUICKLY TRANSACTED time all had badges on.

When the auditing committee reported it was found that there was $465.30 still in the treasury and the accounts of the officers stood in good shape.

A little parliamentary skirmish was enloyed while waiting for it to report. It the printing of the constitution and by-laws no election of officers had been provided for in the order of business, so an effort was made to fix it up in an informal manner An amendment, however, offered by Walter Molse with the intention to do this was Henry Haubens explained why he voted against the amendment. "It might establish a bad precedent and questionable methods might be followed afterward in amending the constitution and by-laws." The matter was arranged by an agreement that the officers should be elected under the head of "new business" today. The committee on resolutions eventually eported, through Chairman Charles Krug, resolution which had been written by the lelegates who went to Indianapolis and the effect of which is to limit the membership of the association to retail liquor dealers only. It suggested the reconsideration of the motion by which the brewers and wholesale dealers had been admitted to member ship. The committee recommended the adoption of the resolution. It also recomnended a change of name to "Retail Liquor Dealers' Protective Association of Neoraska.

Henry Haubens said he would withdraw so as to give free discussion. He had simply gone into the association for the general benefit of the liquor business. Like wise Walter Moise withdrew, first, how ever, assuring the association that he would always stand ready to contribute in a pecuniary way for its good.

The resolutions were adopted.

Drug Store Saloons. The discussion on the exclusion of other than retailers had once turned onto the drug stores and another resolution, covering this very matter, was read from the committee, in the following:

Whereas, The sale of liquors in drug stores and department stores in violation of aw has worked and is working incalculable njury to the legitimate licensed retail liquor dealers of our state; therefore, be it Resolved. That the members of the Nebraska Liquor Dealers' association in con-vention assembled express our stern disapproval of the unlawful methods employed by $10 permit druggists to compete with licensed liquor dealers and hereby place the stamp of condemnation on the city, county and state officials who knowingly tolerate his wanton violation of our existing liquor

This resolution was unanimously adopted without discussion

Another resolution adopted was one coming outside the committee, pledging the members of the association to "patronize only union-made goods whenever possible

As soon as this action was taken Organize E. J. Smith of the Cigarmakers' International union, who was present, was given the floor, and thanked the association for endorsing union labor and the blue label, Thousands of people, he said, were dependent upon the liquor business for their livelihood, and he enumerated the various trades more or less dependent on the saloon business, from the cabinet maker to the farmer and cooper. He made quite a speech before finishing, castigating "those who do not want to drink and smoke themselves, yet who want to prevent others." Many of his remarks were flattering to the saloon business and were received with much en-

He received a requisition from his regiment for some tents, by mail, as soon as he registered at the Millard.

Mayor Moores Approves Settlement with Bolln Bondsmen.

THINKS IT BEST THING FOR THE CITY

He Also Makes Several Appointments to City Positions, All of Which Are Confirmed by the Council.

At the regular session of the city council, held last night, Mayor Moores submitted a proposition, saving that he had approved the resolution providing for the settlement of the judgment against the bondsmen of Henry Bollo, ex-city treasurer, who defaulted in the sum of more than $100,000. The mayor's communication upon the subject follows:

I return berewith with my approval docment No. 2,466, passed by your honorable body at your last regular meeting, May 31, 1893. This document is a resolution author-izing a settlement with the first and second term bondsmen of Henry Bolln for the sum of $35,000 and the payment of all costs in the action heretofore pending in the district court of Douglas county, Nebraska, against the first term bondsmen in which judgment has been entered, and directing the city at-torney to enter full satisfaction of said udgment in the records of said district court on the payment of said costs and the sum of $35,000 to the city treasurer within sixty lays from this date

The settlement as indicated in the resolu tion may seem to some to be a heavy dis-count upon the actual claim of the city against the bondsmen of Henry Bolin, but careful consideration of the facts will sat-fy anyone, I believe, that this settlement s a desirable one. Very few persons believed refore the trial of the case in the district court that the city would secure a verdict against the bondsmen, and it certainly is quite improbable that we would be as sucessful on a second trial if the supreme court should for any reason reverse the judgment rendered by the district court.

city attorney, Judge Ives and the assistant city attorney have spent months in the preparation of the case for trial. The cyldence for the city was mostly obtained from experts who had worked nearly a year investigating the city treasurer's books. If no settlement is reached with the bonds-men, and the present judgment should be reversed by the supreme court, the attorneys for the city at the new trial which would ensue would probably not be the men who have expended so much time and shown such plendid legal ability in protecting the city's interests during the recent trial in the dis-trict court, for their terms of office would probably have expired.

Experts May Not Respond.

Then, too, the experts employed by the city at the last trial might not be willing to leave good positions elsewhere to come to Omaha for a month or two and give their evidence in the case. The city, therefore, at a second trial, would probably have to de-pend on new attorneys and experts who would be unfamiliar with the details of the case, and therefore unable to represent the ity as successfully as did the attorneys and xperts at the recent trial.

I realize fully that the passage and approval of this resolution is an important matter and one that deserves careful consideration. For this reason the greatest delib-eration has been exercised, both by the coun-cil and by myself. The subject of a comwas first taken up more than a onth ago and full announcement was made at various times in the papers of the differ-ent steps which had been taken both by the ity and the bondsmen of Henry Bolln. A special meeting of the council was held hear protests from any citizens who might prose such a compromise, and an invitation on sextended through the daily press to all uch persons to attend the meeting and preent their views. During the time that this compromise was being talked of, I have discussed the matter with many of our leading citizens and taxpayers and they have almost without exception advised in favor of accepting the propo-sition submitted by the bondsmen of Henry Bolln. I have, therefore, approved the res-olution, believing that the settlement effected thereby is a desirable one for the city and that it will meet the approval of all of our citizens and taxpayers who will consider the matter carefully

ABANDONS A LITTLE BABY nknown Woman Deposits a Child i Mrs. Schroeder's Rooms on South Thirteenth Street.

Some unknown woman abandoned an in fant child in the rooms of Mrs. John Schroeder of 607 South Thirteenth street yesterday afternoon during the temporary absence of their occupant.

The woman, who was seen by some children playing about the front door as she hurried out of the building, is described as being a stout, well-dressed woman. No one saw her enter the building and it is the belief of the police and residents of the building that she intended leaving the child in the hallway, but seeing the door of Mrs. Schroeder's rooms invitingly open she entered and deposited her burden on the bed and also a bundle of infant's ciothes.

When Mrs. Schroeder entered her rooms she discovered the baby contentedly sucking on a well filled nursing bottle. It was fully dressed in excellent clothing. No marks of dentification were found on the clothing. The child is about 5 months old and very oright. It is in the custody of the police, who are anxious to dispose of it

A few days ago it appeared very probable that the city jall at Eleventh and Dodge streets would be ready for occupancy July , but members of the city government now consider this as unlikely. Still the jall may be removed into the new quarters by the first of the month and a makeshift of barn may be employed until the new stable will be completed about August 1.

Workmen are now engaged in transform ing the former school building. The parti ions are being torn out. Iron girders are being put into the floors and a concrete covering is being constructed over them During this week the city engineer will also draw plans for the cells, and he expects to have ready very soon the plans for heating and lighting. Bids for the installation of the former plant will be advertised for, but the city expects to put in the electric wiring. City Electrician Shurig is now drawing the plans for the latter.

The new barn will not be completed, it is expected, until August 1, and in this the boilers will be located. Heat, however, will not be needed and the horses and wagons can be accommodated in a temporary structure. It may be, therefore, that the removal of the jail will occur the first of the month.

Have You?

Good morning. Have you looked in our windows this morning? Have you seen the nice white pants at a dollar, and the grand Crash Suits at three dollars, and splendid White Vests at sixty cents? Have you noticed the elegant quality of the Blue Serge Coats at two and a quarter? Have you sized up the light office coats at 60 and 75 cents? Have you observed the bicycle pants of linen at a dollar? Have you noticed the double-breasted Pique Vests at $1.25? Have you rested your optic nerve on the White Duck Pants-for lawn tennis-at 65 cents? Have you seen the wonderful display of elegant Summer Ties-hundreds of patterns-all marked to sell for a nickel, and have you-but say-we don't want to bore you. We don't ask these questions to be impertinent, or to be smart, or to inquire into your private business. We ask them because we want to do you a good turn and because we want you to get next to the good things. They are good things.
