

FLAG FLIES OVER HARBOR

Americans Have a Base of Operations on Cuban Soil.

NAVY IS ENTITLED TO ALL THE CREDIT

Oregon and Texas Coal in the Peaceful Waters of the Harbor, Which Will Be a Refuge for the Fleet.

(Copyright, 1918, by the Associated Press.) KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 12.—(Off Santiago de Cuba, June 11, 4 p. m.)—For three days the scene of the civil military and naval operations has been Calmaera and Guantanamo bay. The American flag is flying on shore and in the harbor, first planted on Cuban soil by marines from the Panther, under Lieutenant Colonel R. V. Huntington, covered by the guns of the Marblehead, commanded by Commander McCalla.

The battleship Oregon has already coaled in the smooth waters of the harbor and has sailed away. The battleship Texas is coaling today, to be followed by the other ships.

The squadrons of Rear Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley are still off Santiago, maintaining a strict watch day and night to prevent the possibility of the escape of Cervera. From men who have landed to take observations of the harbor it is learned definitely, all agreeing on the point, that the Spanish cruisers and two torpedo boat destroyers are there, but these vessels are regarded by naval experts after all as "men in buckram."

As a high naval official remarked today: "Spain throughout its whole history has never sought a naval fight, and never will. It has always dodged, and is dodging now. Cervera never intended to fight. He intended to dodge, and he has succeeded. Spain will never send another fleet to these waters during the present war."

Controls Cable Terminal.

In controlling the outer harbor of Guantanamo, Rear Admiral Sampson secures control of the Cuban terminus of the French cable to Haiti. The apparatus of the office at the harbor mouth was wrecked by a shell, but the cable steamer Adria has instruments and operators on board, and direct communication with Washington will soon be established.

The distance overland to Santiago around the bay is about sixty miles and the roads have been rendered impassable by the Cubans under Pedro Perez. The first division of the Cuban army claims to have 4,000 men, but these figures are probably overestimated. The Cubans believe that there are 3,000 soldiers at Santiago, of whom one, which lies at the entrance to the inner harbor, Guantanamo City is inland about fifteen miles. The two harbors are connected by a narrow channel.

It is the outer harbor which Admiral Sampson now holds with the Marblehead, Yosemite and Vixen, and a battery of marines on the crest of a blunt-topped eminence commanding the entrance on the western side. In the inner harbor are two small Spanish gunboats and at Calmaera there is a battery.

An expedition of three steam launches, commanded by Lieutenant Norman Ferguson, son of James D. Eastis, former United States ambassador to France, and Cadet G. Van Orden, under the general command of Lieutenant Anderson of the cruiser Marblehead, last night dragged for mines but found none. Lieutenant Anderson, who distinguished himself at Cienfuegos, pulled a diving within fifty yards of the fort without being discovered. He found the fort to consist of masonry with three guns mounted seaward.

Judging from the panic in which the Spaniards fled from the village at Fisherman's Point they had a better idea of the approach. They left at Fisherman's Point three antiquated howitzers, several cases of ammunition, shell and canister, some antiquated rifles and a regimental flag of infantry Del Principi No. 3.

Precaution has been taken to guard the men from disease. All houses in the locality have been raised. Large casks of Spanish wine have been smashed, two wells have been boarded up, and all the drinking water used is supplied from the fleet. A French vessel has been taken to the camp, the camp will probably be named Camp McCalla, after the commander of the Marblehead, who is indefatigable, and has not removed his clothing since the bombardment.

The British steamer Newfoundland, of Montreal, with a general cargo from Haiti, steamed into the harbor and its commander was greatly surprised at the presence of the Americans, but he retained enough composure to dip his flag three times and then started to put about. A shot across his bow from the Marblehead stopped him, and the vessel was boarded, its papers showing that it was bound for Jamaica. The captain explained that he had put in to see if he could get a return cargo of sugar. He was informed that he could not, and was then allowed to proceed.

Thousands Are Massacred. LIVERPOOL, June 12.—Steamers which have arrived from Lyons report 1,000 persons were killed in the recent uprising in that district. One hundred and twenty inhabitants of Free Town, most of them traders, are known to have been massacred, and other colonials were carried into the bush by the "war boys" and undoubtedly met a worse fate.

Three hundred friendly natives were killed, and besides the white missionaries, six colored missionaries of the United Brethren in Christ were murdered at Manabargu. The English missionaries are at the mercy of the "war boys," but have not been molested.

DEATH RECORD.

Old Settler of Adams County. HASTINGS, Neb., June 12.—(Special.)—Ely B. Daily died yesterday morning at his home in this city. The funeral services were held this afternoon at the family residence. The remains were interred in the LeRoy cemetery. The deceased was one of Adams county's earliest settlers and was 71 years old at the time of his death.

J. S. Morlock. COLUMBIAS, Neb., June 12.—(Special.)—J. S. Morlock, aged 67 years, died in this city this morning after an illness lasting several months. He had resided in this county for the last twenty-five years and for the last fifteen years or more had been engaged in the mercantile trade. He leaves his aged wife and two sons.

Peace Outfit for Transports. TACOMA, Wash., June 12.—The Northern Pacific company's ship Victoria has not left here for San Francisco. The Olympia will not leave here before the 15th. The Arizona cannot reach here much before July 1 and the Tacoma is still on its way to China from this port, having sailed May 26.

SUNDAY AT THE FAIR

position by Meyer preceded a eulphonic solo by Signor Giovanni and then the organ rendered the "Ein Marchen" by Haydn. "The Conquest" was Sousa's contribution to the program, which also included two of Mr. Santelmann's most popular compositions and the descriptive "Comical Contest" which has been heard on several occasions.

SWEDISH-AMERICAN DAY PROGRAM.

Exercises Arranged to Be Carried Out on the Grounds. June 24 has been designated as Swedish-American day and preparations are now being made by local natives of Sweden to make this one of the biggest events of the entire exposition. A special railroad rate of one fare plus $2 has been made from all points in the territory of the Western Passenger association east of Utah and it is estimated that from 5,000 to 10,000 people will be brought to this city on this occasion.

A jubilee chorus of 300 voices has been organized from the Swedish singing societies of Nebraska and Iowa and a program of exercises has been arranged to take place in the Auditorium at 8 p. m. The program is as follows:

"Introduction and Introduction of President Wattle of the Exposition." Introduction of chairman of the evening, Hon. C. L. Lohbeck, President of the Exposition. Address by chairman of the evening, A. J. L. Lohbeck, Lincoln, Neb., President of the Swedish Methodist Church, David's 15th Psalm. G. Wennerberg, Secretary of the Swedish Society. "Hear us Swedes." Miss Emma Moeller, Soprano and Tenor Duet, "The Tanager." Soprano and Tenor Duet, "A Dahl." Miss Emma Moeller and Prof. A. Edgren. "The Singers' March." H. Amstrom. The Jubilee Chorus. Address—Rev. Carl Swenson, Ph. D., pastor of the Swedish Lutheran Church, Lindsborg, Kan. Address—Adolf Edgren, Solo, Duet, Glee, and Mixed Chorus.

WOMEN BUSILY GETTING READY.

Preparations for Women's Club Day at the Exposition. Indications are that June 18, "Woman's Club Day," will be a great day at the exposition. The officers of the General Federation, the presidents of state federations, the state chairmen of correspondence and the speakers will be entertained at the home of Mrs. J. H. Helphrey.

Entertainment and decorating committees are busy with their various plans for making the occasion complete in all details. Mrs. H. S. Jaynes, chairman of the hotel committee, is receiving numerous applications for room reservations. The program to comply with the request of this committee "that each woman act hostess to some visiting club woman on June 18 at the exposition grounds." Just what that request means has been puzzling some of the women, but it was purposely left indefinite. "Precaution has been taken to guard the men from disease. All houses in the locality have been raised. Large casks of Spanish wine have been smashed, two wells have been boarded up, and all the drinking water used is supplied from the fleet. A French vessel has been taken to the camp, the camp will probably be named Camp McCalla, after the commander of the Marblehead, who is indefatigable, and has not removed his clothing since the bombardment."

"Daughter of Jairus" This Evening. Mr. Willard Kimball, director of music, Miss Julia O'Brien, conductor of the choir, and Mrs. Thomas Kelly, conductor of the Exposition Chorus, have arranged for the "Daughter of Jairus" by Stainer, to be given this evening at the exposition, with soloists, chorus and the Theodore Thomas' orchestra. The soloists are Mrs. Sora Marke, soprano, Mrs. Edna Holmes, contralto, Mrs. Edna Kuss, mezzo, both of Chicago.

Mrs. Sophia Markee has a lyric soprano voice of beautiful quality and has recently had great success in the east in the soprano roles of the Swan and Svyetlana, with Mr. David Bishop of the Damrosch Opera company.

Mr. Holmes Cowper has just sung the tenor role of "Eljah" during the last week, with great success, at the closing concert of the Lincoln university commencement. Mr. Cowper has recently returned from a two years' course of training in oratorio, under the well known teacher of oratorio, Frederick Walker of London, England.

Mr. Edward Kuss, formerly of the Carl Rosa Opera company of England, has recently been very successful in song recitals throughout the country. All lovers of good music should not fail to hear the "Daughter of Jairus" given under such favorable surroundings.

New Mexico's Great Exhibit. The mineral exhibit of New Mexico in the Mines building has been attracting the attention of visitors from the fact that it is an extensive and costly one. The exhibits comprise three tons of ore, to which is to be added one more in a few days, which will make the display one of the finest in the building. J. J. Leeson of Eddy, commissioner and general manager for the territory of New Mexico, has been at the exposition for a week installing the mineral exhibit and has now turned his attention to the displaying of the agricultural and horticultural products in the Agricultural building. Mr. Leeson being unable to secure sufficient space in the Horticultural building in which to display his exhibits to the best advantage.

Center for the Librarians. W. W. Brett, librarian of the Cleveland, O., public library and formerly president of the American Library association, has sent word to Dr. Victor Rosewater, accepting the invitation to take charge of the library congress meeting during the exposition period.

PATTON TALKS ON THE WAR

Preaches the Baccalaureate Sermon at Princeton University.

POINTS OUT LESSONS OF THE SITUATION

Dr. is Passed for Asking Questions of Right, but What is to Be Done in the Event of Victory.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 12.—Today was commenced Sunday. Princeton and President Patton preached the baccalaureate sermon. The services were held in Alexander hall, the immense auditorium being crowded.

Previous to the services the faculty, trustees and seniors, all seated according to rank in the regulation gown, formed an academic procession, and marched from Marquand chapel across the campus to Alexander hall. The scene was imposing.

The president's sermon was upon the subject "The Ideal of the Christian in War." "The idea of God holds a large place in human life. It matters not how we get it, we have it and live in it. All arguments for the existence of God might be summed in the two words, 'cause' and 'effect.' Empiricists would tell us, and we conclude that there must have been a cause. Metaphysically we conclude that if there was such a cause He must be infinite and all-powerful. At this time private matters are recommended to the position of a public issue that hang in the balance. We find ourselves in the midst of war, and I venture to say that if this war could be described dispassionately just now it would be found that it resulted from the confluence of two streams of thought, which meeting at Washington, became an overwhelming torrent. One of these was an ethical feeling, a product of Christianity; the other might have been brought about without Christianity.

Too Late for Questions. "It is true that in the present complications of day has passed for asking the question of right. What is to be done in the event of the victory we hope for and feel sure of is what concerns us now. It is the privilege of Christians and university men to affect public opinion by considering the questions and moral issues aside from the matter of national advantage, of territorial interest, or industrial opportunity.

"History knows not what it is to retreat. Every step we take shuts a door behind us. The boom of Admiral Dewey's guns on the Pacific made us forget the farewell address of Washington, and throw the Monroe doctrine for the time into the background. "It is impossible, some one says, for a nation to secede from the family of nations, and if it stays in the family it is going to have family complications, and these complications sometimes take the form of war.

"What I would have you understand is that we must always judge events from a high moral and religious point of view. Do not emphasize the 'national' or 'international' character of the war. What object Providence may have in throwing open new avenues of industry and strengthening the bond between us and our blood relations across the sea, we do not know, but we do know that these things must be regarded from a light of moral principles."

ITHACA, N. Y., June 12.—The thirteenth annual commencement exercises at Cornell university were opened today by Right Rev. Henry C. Potter of the diocese of New York, who delivered the baccalaureate sermon, Murray Hall, the largest auditorium here, was filled to overflowing with students and visitors. Bishop Potter chose as his theme "Devotion to Home and Family."

Jay Helphrey. OMAHA, June 11.—To the Editor of the Bee: Last Tuesday, the 7th inst., just about 7 o'clock, I passed away from a short illness, from which I have, one of Omaha's pioneer traveling salesmen, viz. Mr. Jay H. Helphrey.

The writer was intimately acquainted with the late Mr. Helphrey and asks for a little of your valued space to write a few words in regard to Mr. Helphrey. He was a man of great energy and although seemingly cut down in the prime of life, he had had a long and varied business experience. When he was but a young man he had traveled for Lard Bros. of Des Moines, Ia., and in 1875 came to Omaha and made territory throughout Nebraska for the same concern. Afterward for many years he traveled for Peck Bros. Co., when the Oxnard Sugar factory was located in Norfolk. He was also connected with the sugar beet growing interests, but for the last two years has been living with his mother at 2508 North Eighteenth street, and has been the office of the Omaha Casket company.

The funeral was held at the home of his mother, Mrs. W. J. Helphrey, on a yellow Rev. T. J. Mackay officiating, the Knights of Pythias, Omaha council No. 1, being in charge, the body being taken to Newton for interment.

The writer first remembers Mr. Helphrey in 1875, making trips together in central Iowa, later from Omaha to the west, many a mile pioneering and building up trade in northern Nebraska for Omaha. It was the writer's privilege to know Jay Helphrey well during the early years of his pioneering, energetic traveling man, proud of Nebraska and of Omaha and always ready to give the best advice and faithful to his employers, he never (as becomes the genuine traveling man) forgot to please and protect the interests of his customers. To my mind, he was a considerable, impulsive, kindhearted "knight of the grip," his watchword being the sentiment so dear to the Nebraska salesman, "all ways to the front."

Mr. Helphrey is gone, but his merry, glad manner will never be forgotten by his fellow salesmen and the writer feels assured that he voices the sentiment of all traveling men in tendering to the bereaved mother and brother the sincerest sympathy in their great sorrow in the parting of a loving son and brother. Very truly yours, C. O. LOBECK.

The Chinese Flag. The standard of the Celestial Empire is a very queer looking affair. It represents the most grotesque of green dragons on a yellow ground. The latter is suggestive not only of the national complexion, but also of that of a sufferer from biliousness. To remove this unbecoming tint from the complexion, use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will speedily regulate your liver, prevent malaria and remedy dyspepsia, nervousness, rheumatism and kidney complaint.

Mud-suck Guilty of Murder. KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 12.—James Lamartine Hudspeth, a wealthy farmer of Lake City, Mo., has been found guilty of murder in the second degree for killing J. W. Koser at that place. He was sentenced to ten years imprisonment. An appeal will be taken.

Hurt in a Collision. P. L. Johnson, an employe in a saloon at 1199 Farnam street, had a collision with a street car at Fourteenth and Cass streets last night and was seriously injured about the breast and shoulders. He occupied a buggy and passed on the car track in front of an approaching train. The vehicle was derailed and Johnson was thrown to the pavement. He was taken to the police station and later to his home on Seventeenth street, near Webster.

WEDDED A QUARTER CENTURY

Large Number of Friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Merritt Help Celebrate the Anniversary.

...AMUSEMENTS...

Metropolitan hall was thronged with some 100 guests during the reception, which lasted from 7 to 10. The library and reception room were literally strewn with cut roses and potted plants and palms. Garlands of smilax, entwined with flowers, dimmed the lights of the chandeliers. Elaborate refreshments were served in the library, in the center of which was a banquet table with a canopy of bright-hued floral decorations. Misses Rothchild and Rosenstein presided gracefully at the punch bowl.

The felicitous event brought together a large assemblage of the old-time residents of this city than any similar one for a long time past. Beside Mr. and Mrs. Merritt were their four sons, Adolph, Jesse, Max and Joseph, the first named of whom has just come home for a brief vacation from Cincinnati, where he is studying a theological school and from which he bears high honors. Mr. Adolph intends to become a rabbi. Among the guests of the evening were the six sisters of Mrs. Merritt, all of whom are married but one, Miss Minnie Merritt, who is a resident of Chicago. Mrs. S. Risenberg, Mrs. S. Prince, Mrs. C. Shaw, Mrs. J. Rosenstein.

At the Merritt residence numerous and elegant presents were received in great profusion yesterday, coming from far and near. They were presented particularly to the host, Rev. and Mrs. Abraham Simon of Sacramento, Cal., wired: "Our golden state congratulations in honor of your silver state." Mr. and Mrs. M. Block of Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. S. Kallish of Fort Worth, Tex., and Mrs. A. M. Fleck of Chicago wired happy thoughts. Recognizing the quarter-century mark reached by the couple, numerous other messages were received from Mr. Merritt's friends.

Mr. Merritt gathered the young people together and issued the "bride's bouquet" to the young lady catching it, Miss Elma Rothchild in the assembly. Miss Elma Rothchild was the fortunate one.

Following refreshments the merry party, led by the host, retired to the hall, where fifty couples joined in the grand march. Dancing followed, Coffman's orchestra supplying the music.

ART AT THE EXPOSITION

The exposition is not built for posterity, as the olden days were, but for the present. It is for today and it is for us to enjoy it while it is within our gates. In less than a year it will be robbed of its beauty, leaving behind the influence of its memory and the lesson it cannot fail to teach by its classical and modern art.

The time to most thoroughly enjoy the effect of the exposition is in the evening. Dinner parties upstairs in the Viaduct restaurant are doubly entertaining by sight and sound. Looking east over and beyond the Plaza are the beautiful blue hills of Iowa, and the yellow glow of a rising sun. One may miss the feeling of vastness and the sense of space which the great lakes or the ocean might inspire, but nothing could be more restful than those hazy hills, shutting us away from the rest of the busy world. While we are enjoying the blue and grey hills seen through a rose haze, without despoiling the colors or defining the emotion, delicate strains of music or martial measure greet the ear from the Marine band and our feelings are translated into sound.

The "Tannhauser" sounded as it was echoed back from the beautiful white shell around the lagoon.

The most glorious picture of the exposition is presented to you as you sit on the viaduct at the east end of the Lagoon court in the twilight. The buildings are seen at this hour of the day in a perfect harmony with the sky and water, suggesting all the splendor of "marble halls." In the main the buildings are in the Renaissance style of architecture. With their long horizontal lines and the repetition of the vertical lines in their towers and spires, the most unadorned eye a feeling of repose and perfection. We who are not of the craft do not realize how much work and careful planning were entailed to bring about this happy result. It was not a matter of chance that the buildings are so perfectly balanced and proportioned. It is due to the architect-in-chief. They gave to each architect the size and scale of each building, the height of columns, width of halls and other necessary detail, thus keeping a unity of size and thought in the whole. They completed that unity and symmetry by connecting all the separate buildings with a continuous line of the most pleasing things of the whole Lagoon Court, both from an aesthetic and a utilitarian standpoint.

At the east end of the lagoon, the exedra is connected with the Mines and Mining and the Government building, adding majesty and strength to the whole. The Goddess of Liberty at its apex may not be all we would desire in the garish light of day, but at night with her far-reaching light, above the white glare of the sun, she stands out in relief against the depth of the blue sky. It is like a pearl in a sapphire setting.

Standing in front of the Government building, looking toward the east, the view is very pleasing. Many times the point from which the best impression is received. The pavilions of the exedra are very light and attractive and when illuminated give quite an appearance of fairyland. The round domes and triangular pediments of the state and elegant Art building outlined by the warm, yellow incandescent lights add variety and accent. Bouquets of lights on either side of the lagoon, with red lights of the bridge and the bluish lights cast long, quivering yellow, red and blue reflections in the lagoon. If one could invoke the spirits of Bramante and Michael Angelo, the fathers of Renaissance architecture, and they could see what we are doing at this exposition, I am sure they would join us in saying: "It is well."

Colonel Maverick Brander and the "Texas Steer" are not strangers to Omaha by any means, but the company which presented it at Boyd's last evening is at least in the clear the first bride in the assembly. Miss Elma Rothchild was the fortunate one.

EXPORTS OF FARM PRODUCTS

Those for Year Just Closed Larger Than Ever Before.

LIVE BEEF SHOWS A HEAVY INCREASE

Farmers Will Receive a Million and a Half Dollars More This Year Than for the Best Year in the Past.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The farmers of the United States are drawing upon other parts of the world for more money at the end of the fiscal year than at any time in previous years.

The preliminary reports of May exportations, which have reached the Bureau of Statistics, make it apparent that the agricultural exports of the year will be considerably in excess of $800,000,000 and the total for the year being likely to reach $855,000,000. Never before have the exports of agricultural products reached the $800,000,000 line and never but twice before have they been as much as $700,000,000 the two occasions in which they passed the $700,000,000 line being in 1881 and 1892.

Compared with the last fiscal year, the increase in exports of agricultural products will be fully $150,000,000 and compared with the preceding year the increase will be over $250,000,000, while the total will be fully 50 per cent in excess of that of the fiscal year 1895.

In broadstuffs alone the exports of the year will amount to nearly $1,000,000 for each business day and will be more than $2,000,000 in excess of last year's exports of broadstuffs. Nearly all articles classed as broadstuffs have participated in this increase. Of wheat, the value of the exports for the fiscal year 1918 will be more than double those of the fiscal year 1897, while the increase in flour will be nearly 50 per cent.

Corn Exports Are Larger. May exports of corn were larger than those of any other month in the history of the country, while the total exports of corn and flour for the first time will pass 200,000,000 bushels. Corn meal, oats, oatmeal and rye show a striking increase, the gain in oatmeal being more than 60 per cent over last year and that of oats 100 per cent, while in the gain is also phenomenally large. In provisions, in which term are included beef, hog and dairy products, there is also a marked increase, the total exports for the year being likely to reach $100,000,000 in value. Most of this increase, however, is in hog products, exportations of bacon, which were $31,874,147 in value last year, being likely to reach $44,000,000 this year, and lard showing a similar increase, and it may reach $37,000,000 this year, or a gain of nearly $2,000,000.

Live beef seems to be gaining in popularity with our foreign customers, the exports for the year, and cannot be materially, while those of beef, either fresh, canned or salted, have failed to show any increase, in most cases a decided falling off being noticeable.

The exports of beef cattle during the first ten months of the fiscal year were 578,963 head against 510,478 in the corresponding months of last year, while fresh beef in the same period fell from 242,168,034 pounds in ten months of 1897, to 227,454,573 pounds in the corresponding ten months of 1898.

Salted beef shows a falling off of 35 per cent for the year, and canned beef from 46,349,966 pounds in the ten months of 1897 to 34,119,119 pounds in the ten months of 1898.

Light Fingered Men Make a Good Hunt on the Residence of James Forsyth. The house of James Forsyth, a druggist and old resident of Omaha, at 126 South Twenty-fifth street, was broken into during the absence of the family on Saturday night and was thoroughly sacked from cellar to garret. The robbers secured a large quantity of jewelry and clothing, amounting in value to several hundred dollars, and escaped without leaving a clue.

Mr. Forsyth and family left the house about 8 p. m. Saturday to attend the high school commencement exercises and were absent until 11 o'clock. Upon their return a side window was found open and the house was in complete disorder. The burglars had taken an abundance of time and the first floor was subjected to the most minute search. A considerable amount of clothing was secured from Mr. Forsyth's bed room and the jewelry cases were carefully emptied. The thieves had obtained entrance, in a woman's gold watch, a pair of onyx bracelets and an onyx watch chain with chain, four valuable rings, cameo earrings and stick pins, beside a quantity of smaller articles, such as gold thumbies and eye glasses.
