The horse was tied to a hitching post, but in rearing up broke the strap and got loose. The animal commenced to kick himself free from the harness and two small children who were in the buggy were in imminent danger. Officer Dobbins, with considerable presence of mind, managed to extricate the children from a picnic and that the beer was not being their perilous position and with the aid of Officer Leutinzer prevented what might have been a tad runaway. The buggy was considerably damaged by the horse's kicking.

ONE BATTERY OF LIGHT ARTILLERY

C. B. Randlett Has the Promise of a Command and Has Seventy-Two Men Rendy to Go at Once.

Under the president's second call for volinteer troops lowa's quota, it has been decided by the war authorities, will be two batteries of artillery. This being the case, it is hoped that Governor Shaw will authorize the organizing of one of the batteries in Council Bluffs and vicinity. When the first call for troops was made C. B. Randlett of this city, who is a West Point graduate, started to organize a battery, but as artillery did not form part of lowa's quota on that call nothing came of it. Since the announcement was made that Iowa was to furnish two batteries under the second call Mr. Randlett and others in Council Bluffs have taken the matter up with Governor Shaw and asked for permission to recruit one of the batteries here.

On the occasion of the first call, Governor Shaw promised Mr. Randlett that if a battery was raised in this state, he should have its new power house, but on Saturday met a battery here is given, Judge J. Semi-Centennial Anniversary of the Founding of an Iowa Institution.

COLLEGE IN THE WES

Notable Gathering of Graduates from All Parts of the Country This Week-History of the College -Long Record.

GRINNELL, Ia., June 19 .- (Special.)-This is commencement week at lows college and this season of activity will culminate in the formal celebration next Wednesday of the semi-centennial of the founding of the college, which is the oldest west of the Mississipppi river. Already there are hundreds of prominent men and women here to do is to go to Sullivan, the grocer, at and the commencement exercises which begun last Friday have been more than usually interesting. The graduating class this year is larger than usual and one member, who is with an Iowa regiment in the south, will be given his diploma without examination. Of the more than 600 graduates of the college nearly 400 have signified their intention of being present during the week. The board of trustees held its meeting Saturday and President Gates presented his report showing the progress that has been made in recent years and giving a brief history of the college. The Hyde prize orations and the general recital of the school of music were also heard yesterday. During the week the principal speeches will be delivered by alumni of the institution, as is but fitting, for they have added history to its name by their accuracy. Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews and the greatest authority in America on munic ipal problems, will deliver the commencement address. The address before the alumni will be delivered by Henry H. Kennedy of Chicago and Prof. George H Whicher of Parker institute, Brooklyn, will present a poem commemorative of the o easion while not the least interesting feature of the exercises will be the singing of the semi-centennial ode, written by Prof. Seldom L. Whitcomb and set to music by Prof. Cole of the conservatory. Others who will take part in the program are Colonel M. M. Price of Davenport, Rev. J. L. Hill, D. D., of Salem, Mass., Mrs. Mary Grinnell of Mars, Prof. J. Irving Manatt of Brown university, Rev. J. H. Bullen of Pennsylvania and Dr. F. I. Harriott, son of the state

On Monday afternoon will be held ad dresses on the following subjects: "Fifty and will serve as a pattern for several more Years in Education in the Northwest," Prof. W. W. Folinell, late president of the Uni versity of Minnesota, now teacher in that institution: "Higher Education for Women," Prof. Elizabeth H. Avery of Redfield college, South Dakota, and another speech by professor of Chicago university. At the semi-centennial banquet Wednesday noon, when over 600 people will sit down to dinner at one time, the following distinguished educators will respond to toasts: President Slocum of Colorado college, President Schafer of the State university, President King of Cornell college, President Seeley of the State Normal school, President Fuller of Drury college, Missouri, and Rev. N. D. Hillis of Chicago.

History of the College. Two years after the admission of Iowa to the union as a state and before Davenport had even a district school house there was founded there the first institution of higher learning in the northwest-lown college. There Prof. Erastus Ripley started with two students, but gradually the numbers grew till other men were called to the faculty and in 1854 there was graduated a class of two with degrees of Bachelor of

In this same year Josiah B. Grinnell, with three associates, planted their stakes and Washington for his free expression of antislavery sentiments, he followed the advice given by Horace Greeley to "Go west, young man, go west." In this new and untried wilderness he resolved to establish the principles to which he had formerly held. As a result of these a church was built and services begun almost before the men had a habitation for themselves. Other settlers were attracted to this community, and true to their New England instinct, they resolved that Grinnell, for s it had come to be called, should have a college. Town lots were sold to buy materials, St. Paul, counsel for the company, arrived in and the people with their own hands began Sioux City and after making an examination the erection of a college building. Thus the college was started when Prof. Parker began his life's work. From then till now his presence has been a constant and inspiring one in all circles of Iowa education. It is said Mr. Hall's alleged shortage came and it is with feelings of the deepest regret that the college has been obliged to accept being content with the legitimate commis- the resignation of the "youngest old man on sions. Mr. Hall has a wide acquaintance in the faculty," now in the 79th year of his life.

Meantime the college at Davenport had been struggling on; but in 1858 it brought its $9,000 of endowment fund and joined the institution at Grinnell. The number of students increased till 1861, when with the breaking out of the war the college was deserted by nearly every student and professor able to bear arms, leaving only the

After the War. The close of the war found the college struggling on, its property now valued at Allie yesterday morning and charged with $100,000. It had thus far existed without any recognized head, but in 1865 George F. Magoun was called to the presidency, which he held till 1884, when failing health compelled him to resign. A man of sterling qualities and of Puritan principles he was papers and the complaints became so numighty power both in uplifting the college and in attracting noble men to it. The endowments of the college were increased and new departments were estalished, but in 1871 the east college was burned. This was replaced by a much larger and better building, which remained till the fatal cyclone of June 17, 1882, when every building was swept away.

Undaunted, the professors, led by Dr. Magoun, resumed classes again in the fall, brick structure and will be heated by steam, utilizing churches and such quarters as George Dare being given the heating conthe town could afford. The cry which now as well as west with substantial aid. Notable among the givers of that time are John I. Blair and Hon. E. A. Goodnow, who furnished the means for creeting two build-

Murder in Second Degree. DUBUQUE, Ia., June 19 .- (Special Telegram.)-The jury in the McCarry murder case after being out thirty-six hours brought in a verdict of murder in the second legree. The verdict is a great surprise, as the killing of Lavake was deliberate. A decision of the supreme court, however, allows a compromise verdict when there is no other possibility of agreement and that probably explains it.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

Commencing this forenoon the city counil will sit as a board of equalization for three days for the purpose of receiving complaints from property owners on the 1898 ssessment. From the talk heard on the treets it is inferred that many of the First ward property owners will file complaints against the valuation returned. In such cases the board of equalization has the ight to reduce the assessment on property laimed to be too high and add to property assessed too low, but the total valuation can neither be raised nor lowered.

In connection with this matter nembers of the city council favor the placing of an occupation tax on the packing nouses and stock yards in order to make up for the decrease in valuation as compared with a year ago. Some argue that the packers would prefer to pay a liberal occupation tax than to be compelled to pay taxes on high valuation. So far the packers have efused to talk about an occupation tax, preferring to wait until some action is taken by the council before making any statements for publication. The chances are that the corporations would fight any additional tax of any kind.
