

PLEA FOR MANUAL TRAINING

Chicago Professor Urges a Large Extension in Public School System.

WOULD CARRY IT FROM PRIMARY GRADE UP

Attorney Seaman Calls Attention to Necessity of Securing a Balance Between Income and Expenditures.

Both advancement and retrenchment had a voice in the teachers' convention when it opened in Boyd's theater yesterday.

By way of variety there was some good singing by the Fremont male quartet including "Annie Laurie" and "Did You Ever Get Left?"

As he took the chair Prof. William W. Folwell of Minneapolis, professor of political science in the University of Minnesota, spoke of the unique educational advantages of his own state.

Should Begin Earlier. "But why be confined to the high school?" was the query.

Waterman described the Chicago plan. There are 7,000 boys and 1,000 girls taught this branch.

Commercial Instruction. Prof. Anderson's argument for commercial instruction was based upon a mass of statistical deductions.

Concerning Public Credit. Mr. Seaman told how the public credit has had to be hypothecated, and remarked that a due relation between income and disbursements must be observed.

Schwab of Cincinnati, but Judge W. G. Hastings of Wilber, Neb., reasoned that unless the population of the locality justified it, the facilities were favorable, there is no real need of German as any such general study.

LAST SESSION AT AUDITORIUM.

Many Teachers Listen to the Closing General Addresses.

The beauty of the exposition grounds under the electric light and the cool breezes which prevailed in the open air proved too much for the delegates to the educational convention who were on the grounds last night and fully 95 per cent of those in attendance at the closing session of the convention in the Auditorium came from downtown and entered the building from the sixteenth street entrance.

There was a fair-sized audience present when the chairman of the evening, President W. S. Chaplin of Washington university, St. Louis, announced that the program would commence with a song by the Fremont Male quartet.

The speaker of the evening was Mrs. E. H. Young, assistant superintendent of the schools of Chicago, who read a paper on "Ethics in the Teaching Force."

President Andrews' Address. After another song by the quartet President E. Benjamin Andrews of Brown University, Providence, was introduced to read a paper on "The Public School System as an Instrumentality of Social Progress."

Reception to the Delegates. The visiting delegates to the Transmississippi Educational convention were very pleasantly entertained at evening at the city hall.

Concerning Colleges. Two college presidents, one university president, a high school principal and a state preparatory school principal discussed secondary schools and college education at the meeting in Metropolitan hall yesterday afternoon.

Concerning Public Credit. Mr. Seaman told how the public credit has had to be hypothecated, and remarked that a due relation between income and disbursements must be observed.

"May the work of the secondary schools be independent of any relation to the college?" In the affirmative, Principal Henry White Callahan of the state preparatory school of Colorado considered the secondary school very necessary as a preparatory institution inasmuch as it combined both the academic and high school features.

The hope of a general unification and uniformity of American educational standards was expressed by President George A. Gates of the Iowa college.

CONFERENCE OF KINDERGARTNERS.

Closing Session of the Section Proves a Very Interesting One. The kindergarten teachers closed a very successful conference yesterday afternoon with exercises and the reading of bright, thoughtful papers.

The conference was opened with the singing of "Little Boy Blue" and a sweet hymn. An excellent paper on kindergarten workers was read by Mrs. W. W. Keyser of Omaha.

Another interesting afternoon was enjoyed by the conference of history teachers in the public library building. It was devoted wholly to an address by Prof. Fred Morrow Fling of the University of Nebraska.

Drawing and the Schools. The drawing teachers had a very interesting session yesterday afternoon in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian church.

Teachers of Deaf and Blind. The teachers of the deaf and dumb concluded their meetings with a brief but very interesting session, which was largely given to the consideration of the work for the deaf.

Renewing Monthly Passes. The offices in the Service building are hives of industry today. Monthly passes are being renewed and collectors are busy and their employees and as there is a good-sized army of them the clerks are inundated with business during the last two days of the month.

Ladies' Southern Ties. When it comes to the new in footwear you can always count on Drexel & Co.

Manual Training Teachers. The meeting of the manual training instructors was successful from the fact of the earnest, active and deep interest pervading the deliberations.
