Two Cattlemen Drowned. CHADRON, Neb., July 14 .- (Special Telegram.)-William and Henry Thompson, two young cattlemen living at Lakeside, Neb., were drowned today in Lone Tree creek at Dakota Junction, five miles west of here. William Thompson and his wife, Henry Thompson and a sister were on an outing revolver and say that he was going to kill trip and were driving from Hot Springs, S. D., to this city, where they expected to visit friends before proceeding to their home ranch. When they reached Dakota Junction at a point where the wagon road runs parallel with the creek and the Elkhorn railroad track, they found that water from the creek had inundated a portion of the road. The two women alighted from the buggy and walked down the track while the men started to drive into the water. Henry Thompson, the driver, knew nothing of th steep embankment leading from the road to the natural banks of the stream, and guiding the horses too close to the edge they floundered into the water, it being ten feet deep. The vehicle was overturned and horses and men were drowned while their sister and the clder brother's wife of four weeks gazed on horror stricken. Owing to the fact that preparations for making an exhibit were not commenced until it was too late to procure any portion of the crop of 1897, the exhibit will be composed entirely of products of this year's crop, and these are being displayed as fast as the crop is in condition. Small fruits are being shown, this exhibit being the first on the grounds to show blackberries, a fine collection of this luscious fruit being placed on exhibition by Superintendent Graham yesterday. These berries were grown in the vicinity of Council Bluffs he has been foully dealt with. He is a and are very large and well flavored. SECRET SOCIETIES WILL PULL OUT.

Failure to Secure Passes for Representatives Brings Dissatisfaction. The secret societies which have opened headquarters in the Nebraska building are in a great state of uncertainty as to their future movements. Some of them were parties to the meetings which have been held down town at which it was decided to withdraw all representatives on the grounds and close up the headquarters which have been opened, leaving the exposition to shift for itself without their assistance. Some of the societies represented in the Nebraska building did not participate in the meetings held down town and are not in sympathy with the objects of those meetings. Among these are the six bodies of Nebraska Freemasons, which occupy a room on the second floor of the Nebraska building, and the combined lodges of the Knights of Pythias, which occupy a room on the main floor. These will not withdraw, regardless of any action the other bodies may take, but the indications are that the other societies will remove their furniture and other belongings and abandon their headquarters. The whole question hinges on the action of the exposition management in refusing to issue passes to the wish to maintain headquarters on the grounds. The exposition has steadfastly refused to issue passes on this account and and Promotion, taking dinner with the the societies declare that they will not pay admission fees for their representatives. When the Nebraska commission offered free space in the Nebraska building for headquarters on the grounds, twenty-six societies applied for space. The production repesents the departure of the soldiers to battle, followed by a realistic representation of a battle between the contending armies. This portion of the performance will be accompanied by the firing of cannon, the rattile of musketry and all the noise of battle An immense flag will be unfurled over the music pavilion to symbolize the victory of the defenders of Old Glory, amid the flashing of fireworks and the booming of cannon. Another novelty in the way of an outdoor concert will be given in the main court on Thursday evening by the Exposition chorus and Phinney's band, the band being stationed in front of the Liberal Arts build ing and the chorus occupying the boat landing at the east end of the lagoon. Reception at Agricultural Building and Mass Meeting at Auditorium. Today the Texans in the city will hold eception in the Agricultural building a the exposition grounds, not only for other Texans, but for everyone who may wish to hear of Texas. There are a number o Texas business men here, the men who placed the Texas exhibit, in fact, and they desire to meet as many of the other visitors to the exposition as possible.

In the evening there will be a meeting at he auditorium of the San Antonio & Aran sas Pass Railway Immigration association of south Texas and of the Business Men's league of Houston, at which there will be many features to interest people not from Texas as well as those who are. Especial attention will be given to talking about Texas, of course, but that will not be the sole purpose of the meeting, a good program having been prepared. Everyone who wishe to attend will be made welcome Not so many Texans have yet visited the exposition, but large numbers will be in Omaha before November; it is one of the purposes of the visit of the Texas business men to gain such a knowledge of the fair that they may intelligently spread its fame in Texas, so that the people down there will come. And another purpose is to see what improvement is necessary in the Texas exhibit to make those Texans as proud of the exhibit as they are of their state and

The committee reported substantial progress in the matter and promised that active operations in the way of preparation would b commenced within a short time. A numbe of new accessions to the club were reported and the organizers of the movement were gratified at the substantial support which is being received from a large proportion of the exhibitors.

It is expected delegates to the National Republican League All of those societies which have main- and visiting newspaper men and in the evening there will be exercises at the Auditorium under the direction of the San Antonio and Arkansas Passenger Immigration association of Texas. President Penfield and a large delegation of Texas peo ple are on the grounds and Texas will be the theme of the evening.

Life Savers Getting Rendy. Captain H. M. For one thing, it is apprehended that the mast that was erected in the lagoon is too near the north side, and that a shot fired over the yard will fall on the payement instead of in the water The experiment will be tried today, and in the event that the shot cannot be landed in the water the mast must be moved neare Battle Field to Fireside," an arrangement the center of the mirror before a public exhibition can be attempted.
