COTTON BELT WILL HELP BOOM IT.

Traveling Passenger Agent McQuown Talks of Coming Excursions.

The St. Louis Southwestern Railway company, better known as the "Cotton Belt Route," which operates nearly 7,000 miles of road in the south, has commenced work on a systematic plan for booming the Trans-Mississippi and International exposition.

Mr. Patterson Wants Reunions and Leaves Prices at Exposition.

OMAHA, July 18.—To the Editor of The Bee: An observation and a suggestion or two, if you please, I trust will be pertinent to the time and year.

We are all agreed on one thing, viz.: That the Trans-Mississippi Exposition is a show that exceeds in grandeur, in beauty and in the hopes and expectations of the most sanguine. It is conceded by friends and foes that this exposition is second only to the World's fair. Strangers from far and near sound its praises, criticize and extol its merits.

But I digress. I started to suggest. It is this: Reunions—family reunions in Omaha, and invite all the family name of relatives to attend from far and near.

The Patterson family has called for a reunion to take place in September. A brother and seven or eight other bodies all at once, only the second time in thirty-three years. An uncle in Pennsylvania, 70 years old, who has never been out of the country, or on a railroad train, has promised to come. What an observation he will have, what a sight it will be for him to see the kaleidoscopic attractions of the Midway and to approach slowly and by degrees from the bluff tract over the viaduct to the Grand Court at 3 p. m. under the electric light display. What will he say? How will he feel? Who can describe him, can he realize it?

Send the friends one or two of the Omaha papers, descriptive of the exposition, thereby creating an interest in both the exposition and our city. The more papers the better proposed to have a family reunion. That they are expected. In fact, the reunion cannot be held without them. A great many of the well known members of the family are coming. This is the first, and perhaps, the only one that will ever be held. It is imperative that they attend. Without them the proposed gathering would be a dismal failure.

The reunion will be favored by a program, consisting of addresses, music and banquet. By this means many good relatives, who have never ventured beyond the boundaries of their counties, back in the dear old eastern states, may be induced to come out and see the great west and its first and greatest exhibition.

Another suggestion is: I verily believe if the admission fee to the exposition was permanently reduced to 25 cents it would show a wonderful change in financial results. The fact that so many, at the present price of admission, do not come, is a sad proof to prove the great merits of the exposition. But just put her down to 25 cents and keep her there, and I will predict that the visitors will average three times the number who now attend.

I attended the International Exposition in Paris in 1889 for a month. It was a wonderful success from a financial point of view. The price of admission was as low as 35 centimes, or 7 cents—hundreds of thousands attended.

Let the price here be reduced. It is too high. I concede the show is worth 60 cents, but the majority of the people do not feel they can afford it more than once or twice. Reduce it. Reduce it for the children so they can go often during vacation and learn by seeing.

This exposition was gotten up for all the people. Not for a part of the people. Don't now, please, executive committee, since you have made a success in exploiting it, put up a barrier that will keep the people out, but reduce the admission and bring the people to the exhibition, to its exhibitors, concessionaires and to yourselves the very thing that you worked so hard to procure—the people.

Without the people in this instance you are a failure. With them you are a success in all respects. The more of them, the greater, the better.

RICHARD C. PATTERSON.

EXPOSITION AND FRATERNALS.

Course Pursued by the Management in Dealing with the Order.

OMAHA, July 18.—To the Editor of The Bee: An article appeared in Thursday morning's issue of The Bee, under the title "Secret Societies Will Pull Out," alleging that all societies that had representatives at their headquarters within the Nebraska building had reimbursed the attendants for the money expended in securing admission either with cash or by providing them with commutation tickets, and that the Masons of Plynth were a respectable man, and these provisions would remain, while the others will pull out.

The facts are none of the fraternal benevolent societies have ever been satisfied with these conditions. The various fraternal orders accepted the proposition that the Nebraska commissioners, with no other thought but they would be permitted to enter their places of business without paying tribute to any person or corporation, and that by maintaining headquarters there they furnished a home for their membership. To this end they advertised through their lodge papers and periodicals urging their membership everywhere to attend this exposition. Tons of advertising matter were circulated through the various fraternal days were being arranged for by the orders, each order having a special day for itself that would bring thousands to attend the show. They only asked of the management the free admission of a sufficient number to maintain headquarters in a respectable manner, in no case asking more than four for any order. This request was flatly refused all those orders who now expect "to pull out."

The Knights of Pythias, being refused, closed its doors and remained closed until the management made concessions equal to or greater than is asked by any other fraternity. It is beyond a question of reasonable doubt the Masons have been equally well provided for or they, too, would have closed.

It is the blindness of stupidity that leads these men in authority to believe they can discriminate and not be discovered? Were they well informed on this subject they would realize the carrying for the Sunday recreation and they were deterred by the 50-cent charge for admission. If it was reduced to 25 cents they would come and bring their families, and aside from the

NEBRASKA COMMISSION'S SCOPE.

Cannot Give Passes, but Can Afford Priority of Information.

OMAHA, July 18.—To the Editor of The Bee: Having received many communications asking for passes to the Trans-Mississippi Exposition, I desire through the press to state that the Nebraska commission has no authority or influence with reference to passes for any persons themselves desiring. All such persons should apply to the managers of the Trans-Mississippi corporation.

The Nebraska commission, however, desires to impress upon every citizen of the Trans-Mississippi country that Nebraska has a series of exhibits at the exposition which to see for only one day is worth a hundred times the admission to the grounds. The methods by which Nebraska's agricultural, horticultural, dairy and poultry exhibits were produced is worth a great deal to every farmer and can be learned by consultation with the experts in charge of such exhibits. And every woman who desires to increase her knowledge of cooking can certainly be largely benefited by listening to the daily lectures given by watching the daily demonstrations of the expert woman in charge of Nebraska's cooking school in the Agricultural building.

It is conceded by all who have seen it that Nebraska's educational exhibit which covers fifteen thousand feet of space upstairs in the Manufacturing building is the finest public school exhibit ever put in place in the United States and it demonstrates the fact that Nebraska's educational facilities and the energy of her teachers are the equal of any in the world. There are people in the east who think that nothing but populists and long horned steers can be raised out here, but if they will come and look this exhibition over they will be convinced that this is about as near heaven as any place that I can conceive of. Nebraska has at the exposition a state headquarters building for the comfort and convenience of the people who attend the exhibition. At the entrance to the building will be found a bulletin board giving the location of the various Nebraska exhibits, and the corps of assistants in attendance at the headquarters building will be glad to give an introduction to any exhibit and to explain Nebraska's exhibits and all other features of the exposition.

The public is especially invited to utilize Nebraska's Headquarters building and to without hesitation call upon any of Nebraska's force of attendants for desired information. Very respectfully, WM. NEVILLE, President Nebraska Commission.

ARRANGE FOR MORE SPECIAL DAYS.

Kansas City and St. Joseph Fall Into Line with Enthusiasm.

A letter from the secretary of the South Dakota Press association to the manager and our city. The association states that about 200 members of that association will reach Omaha via the Sioux City & Pacific road July 26, to visit the exposition.

H. F. McGarvie, director of special days, who is now in Kansas City, has telegraphed to our city that he will bring the matter before the city council tomorrow, and it is his intention to issue a proclamation declaring that date a holiday. He will also appoint committees from various communities to carry out the program. Mr. McGarvie says that St. Joseph day, August 13, promises to be one of the important events of the exposition.

LAUGH AT SCOTT'S INJUNCTIONS.

Joy reigned supreme in the streets of All Nations yesterday afternoon after the announcement of the action of the court in setting aside the order of Judge Scott.

The information was telephoned to the Streets and immediately thereafter a procession was formed. It passed up the Midway to the giant saw and was taken out of the earth. Getting the animals down again the procession wound its way back to the Streets, where the hottest show of the season was given.

TOBACCO WILL GROW HERE.

One thing has been pretty thoroughly demonstrated since the opening of the exposition and that is that tobacco can be raised in Nebraska, and especially in Douglas county.

Early last spring a big manufacturer who has an exhibit on the bluff tract planted a patch of burley tobacco as an experiment, not supposing that it would mature. Since then he has changed his mind and declares that the soil and the climate of this locality will produce the finest tobacco in the world.

AK-SAR-BEN'S LATEST LEVEE

King of Quivers Receives Several More Strangers into His Band of Loyal Knights.

It was a very devout, as well as enthusiastic, assemblage that convened at the den of Ak-Sar-Ben IV last evening. No initiates that have appeared before the king this season have been so permeated with the fervor as those who knelt before the throne last night. They remained bowed low for a long time, and the curious forms of souvenirs they received while on bended knees, usually the signal for breaking ranks, did not seem to bother the latest knights a little bit, and consequently the mighty monarch had to extend his prayer to a notable degree.

It was a jolly crowd, and the heat of the evening interfered but little with the evening's enjoyment. It was not the largest attendance of the season, nor yet the smallest, and the evening secured in all the services was indicative of the right kind of spirit among the subjects. There were a number of visitors, some being present from Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee and Denver. The representative of the latter city, Mr. Saxe, was accompanied by a few pointers for the Festival of Mountain and Plain to be held in Denver the same week as the Ak-Sar-Ben festivities will be here, the first week in October.

It was announced that there would be no meeting of the knights on Monday evening next, the meeting of that week being postponed until Wednesday evening, July 27.
