

EASY TIME FOR THE GIANTS

Manitoba and Chicago Have Things Very Much Their Own Way.

OMAHA AND MINNESOTA THE LOSERS

Five Points of Cricket Well Shown in Both Matches, the Disparity in the Teams Counting but Little.

The strong teams were lined up against the weaker slaters in the tournament of the Northwestern Cricket association yesterday and the very natural result followed. Manitoba and Chicago, while Omaha and Minnesota bit and dust, was an off day for the Denversites and they lotted about the shade and watched their brethren hustling out in the sun.

Both the victories were rather easy things, although the two innings were played in each match. Omaha had a tough proposition in the Manitoba aggregation, and was downed by a run and nine wickets. Minnesota stacked up much more strongly against the Chicagoans than did Denver, and that was because by a couple of runs and three wickets. There were no hard feelings, though, because things happened just as they were expected to.

The Manitoba team arrived in the city in the morning and although they had quite a bit of traveling they got the game immediately. They are a gentlemanly lot of good fellows, and they let the local team down easy in the first innings. In the second innings, however, they walked right in and showed what they could do. "It's too bad that the match did not end with the first innings," declared a regretful admirer of Omaha's stalwart cricketers. "It would not have been half so bad." And it wouldn't.

Manitoba's Nice Batting.

Harry New was the bright particular luminary in the Omaha cricket firmament in the second innings. If the rest of the push had followed the pace he set it would be hard to tell what the result would be to those Canadians. He came up early in the let and he wore holes in the crease while his compatriots were being retired. He was still piling up runs when the tenth man was out, and he was not out with twenty-seven. He had a total of twenty-two runs made by the Omahas, and not so poor for an exposition city amateur.

When they went in to bat the Canadians had only thirty-eight runs to get to win, and they made about work of it. One wicket fell, but while they were at it they had to earn his beer in that way. All bowlers looked alike to him, and he punctured twenty-one holes in the atmosphere, which, with a bit of help from a couple of his brethren and a little more from the Omahas, were sufficient to give the match to Manitoba by nine wickets. Minnesota's Close Call.

Minnesota came within an ace of having the same sort of dose administered to it by the Windy City crowd as the Denversites were given on May before. Only six tiny runs separated them from being beaten by an inning, but, as one of the Minnesotans remarked, "a keg is as much as a brewery, when one's capacity is limited." They went into the second innings with much bigger odds than Omaha had against it, and yet pulled out of the match with a much better score at the end.

Sisson was the glutton in the first innings. He ate up everything that the bowlers tossed at him and was holding for more when the eleven was retired. He had 27 not out to his credit. Some of the tallies came in bunches of sixes and fours. Saules was the only other representative of the cities of the saints and the millers who was able to scramble into double figures. The Chicago bowlers made all the rest look like so many two-spots. In their innings the Chicagoans batted heavily, and were helped out by thirteen extras. Davis made the big score of the day and made his bowing debut. He has a record of 48 not out.

Minnesota started in the second innings with the score 125 to 57 against them—a pretty tough proposition. But a nice bit of batting put them in the lead. Currie was a striker and was not downed until he had made 27. The others that followed him helped out by piling up enough runs to give the eleven a lead of four runs over the Chicago boys. And in Chicago's second innings these very same Minnesota boys gave a great exhibition of fielding and bowling—probably the feature of the day's play.

Barker was bowled out by Godwin after making a single run. Thompson met a dingo fate without a run. Beddow was more lucky and had made a run or two when Fletcher went to bat. Beddow cracked a sharp one to Saules, who fielded it beautifully. Beddow forced Fletcher to start to run and the latter was run out. With Dobson at bat, Beddow made a run that finally gave the match to the Chicagoans by seven wickets.
