DIRECTORS DO MUCH BUSINESS.

Name an Auditing Committee and Provide Three Days of Low Admission.

After two unsuccessful attempts to secure a quorum the Board of Directors again yesterday afternoon with the required number present and several to spare. It disposed of the question of the investigation of exposition affairs by the election of a committee of five with full power to audit all accounts and investigate any charges of any character that might be made against officials or employees; took a decided stand in favor of a reduced admission and decided to cooperate with the Department of Transportation in an effort to secure more liberal rates by the way.

THE QUESTION OF INVESTIGATION OCCURRED ON THE RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED BY G. M. HITCHCOCK AND C. S. MONTGOMERY AT A PREVIOUS MEETING.

The Hitchcock resolution alleged that serious charges were being circulated against the management of the exposition and provided that a committee should be appointed to conduct an investigation. That introduced by Mr. Montgomery was a substitute which practically contemplated a vote of confidence in the management inasmuch as the investigation contemplated in the result was that both these were effectually disposed of by the directors against the opposition of Mr. Hitchcock.

MR. MONTGOMERY TOOK THE FLOOR TO SAY THAT HE HAD CHANGED HIS MIND SINCE HIS RESOLUTION WAS INTRODUCED.

He declared that he had no vote of confidence could be secured at any time, as he was positive that the directors had full confidence in the executive committee. But so much had been said that he did not wish to stand in the way of an investigation by the majority of the board. He asked leave to withdraw the resolution but Governor Saunders, who seconded it, objected. He said that he had not seen any reason to change his mind and he still believed that the Hitchcock resolution was introduced in good faith. He finally consented to the withdrawal of the resolution in order to admit another substitute which was offered by John C. Wharton.

PERMANENT AUDITING COMMITTEE.

Mr. Wharton's resolution provided that a permanent committee of five directors, none of whom should be executive officers or members of the executive committee, should be appointed to revise and audit the accounts of the exposition. This committee to have authority to employ one or more expert accountants and stenographers and to have access to all records and information that it might need in the performance of its duty. It was the right way to go about it. He declared that he had perfect confidence in the members of the executive committee, but he could not say as much with regard to some of the men it had in its employ. So much had been said in various quarters that it was a duty that the board owed to the public, to the executive committee and to itself to order a thorough investigation and secure the facts.

MR. HITCHCOCK'S RESOLUTION WAS DISPOSED OF BY THE BOARD.

THE DATE FOR THE CELEBRATION OF INDIAN DAY WAS ALSO DECIDED ON YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The date for the celebration of Indian day was also decided on yesterday afternoon. It will be August 4 and it is expected that all the Indians who are to participate in the Indian congress will be on the grounds by that time. The occasion will introduce one of the most novel and interesting features that any exposition has ever offered and the celebration will be somewhat elaborate. The details are yet to be determined, but will be announced in a few days.

BOTH UNIQUE AND SUCCESSFUL.

Antiphonal Concert on the Grand Court an Artistic Revelation.

Last evening at the exposition grounds a novel and interesting musical performance took place under the direction of Thomas J. Kelly, superintendent of music. The concert consisted of numbers by Phinney's United States band, stationed in front of the Liberal Arts building, and the Exposition chorus, seated upon the platform at the water's edge at the east end of the lagoon. The Exposition chorus sang without accompaniment and was conducted by Mr. Kelly.

THE FIRST NUMBER WAS THE OVERTURE TO "SEMI-RAMIRE," BY ROSSINI, PLAYED BY THE BAND.

The first number was the overture to "Semiramide," by Rossini, played by the band. It was followed by the well known hymn, "Abide With Me," made by Messrs. Kelly and the Exposition chorus. The next number was a transcription of the "Pilgrims' Chorus" as it occurs in the third act of "Tannhauser," by Wagner, played by the band. This was followed by a potpourri of Scotch melodies by the band, a Sicilian "Vesper Hymn" by the chorus and the ballet music from "Faust," by Gounod, by the band.

THE SECOND PART OPENED BY AN ANTI-PHONAL SONG, "THE PORTUGUESE HYMN," BETTER KNOWN AS "THE PORTUGUESE HYMN."

The second part opened by an antiphonal song, "The Portuguese Hymn," better known as "The Portuguese Hymn." This was followed by the band announcing the tune in grand, sonorous tones that were truly inspiring. The last chord had hardly died away before the voice of the distant chorus
