Frank H. Wilson of Cass and W. H. Harrison of Hall were made temporary secretary and assistant secretary respectively.

Speech from Thurston.

At this moment John M. Thurston was made permanent chairman by acclamation by someone's inspiration and came forward amid calls. His speech was brief and to the point. Every mention of McKinley's name elicited a noisy response, as did also his promise to stump the state in opposition to the election of Senator Allen or any other populist.

"For this unexpected honor I tender you my heartfelt thanks. It is evident that this convention is here for business and not for speeches, and I will not detain you long. The republican party promised the people that they should have work, and the smoke rises from all the forges and all the furnaces. The party promised the return of business, and the business has come to every community. There is now no complaint of the volume of money. The party proposes that the American laborer shall be paid in the best money in the civilized world, that the soldiers in the field shall also be paid in that money. The nation has never made a move to uplift mankind except under the republican party. The republican party always rallies around the standard when the interests of the nation and the people are at stake.

"I have seen in the public press the statement that I favored the return of William V. Allen to the senate. I have never advocated measure or men that were not republican. (Cries of "No!" "No!") I will be on the stump in Nebraska during the coming campaign, and will do what is in my power to assist in the march to victory of the whole ticket."

The temporary secretaries were made permanent, whereupon the convention proceeded to the nomination of governor by roll call without nominating speeches.

Baker Withdraws. As the voting continued it was seen that Judge Hayward had it mostly his way. Boone county gave Baker 5 out of its 10; Butler gave Baker 3; Cass, 1; Cedar, 9; Chase, 3; Clay, 5; Cummings, 5; Douglas, 3; Dawson, 5; Dixon, 2; Dakota, 10; Jefferson, 14; Madison, 2.

The voting was then interrupted by Judge Baker, who said he was satisfied the convention had swept the state. The divine light of intelligence must soon break upon the benighted minds of the people even in the popocateca party.

"I have seen in the public press the statement that I favored the return of William V. Allen to the senate. I have never advocated measure or men that were not republican. (Cries of "No!" "No!") I will be on the stump in Nebraska during the coming campaign, and will do what is in my power to assist in the march to victory of the whole ticket."

WHAT SOME OF THE DELEGATES SAY.

Men Returning from the Convention Endorse the Ticket.

Delegates to the state convention from Douglas county, from most of the northern counties, and from many of the western counties, came to Omaha last evening, and those from outside will take trains today for their homes. They were all tired after their long day's work, but almost without exception they were unanimous in expressing satisfaction with the ticket, and declared that it was a winner from top to bottom. Each one seemed to be impressed with the harmony which characterized the proceedings, and interpreted that condition to presage a victory in November.

Reports the Platform.

Chairman Brad Slaughter of the resolutions committee reported the platform as follows, which was unanimously adopted: "We, the delegates to the Nebraska state convention assembled, congratulate the people of the state upon the fulfillment of the pledges made at the national republican convention at St. Louis. Our industries have revived, our finances have been maintained, our national credit is restored and every dollar issued by the government is on a par with gold. Our laborers are employed, our manufacturing establishments have resumed operations, our mines are being worked to their full capacity, the masses of the unemployed are reduced and are consuming once more to the extent of their needs the products of the farm and the factory."

Biographies of the Men Who Make Up the Ticket.

Monroe Leland Hayward was born in Willboro, Essex county, Vermont, Dec. 22, 1840. His father was William Hayward and his grandfather David Hayward, who emigrated from his native state, New Jersey, to New York in the early years of the century. William Hayward removed to Whitewater, Wis., in 1857. M. L. Hayward was educated at the University of Vermont, Essex county and afterward attended the Fort Edward Collegiate institute at Fort Edward, N. Y. He was among the first to answer the call of the state convention, enlisting in Company I, Twenty-second New York infantry. He was afterward transferred to the Fifth regiment, where he was disabled by sickness. He served until December, 1862, when he was discharged owing to disability caused by sickness. He took part in several actions up the Shenandoah valley under Banks and Pope and saw other active service.

Completing the Ticket.

On roll call for commissioner of public lands and buildings the vote stood: G. H. Williams of Douglas, 154; H. H. High of Red Willow, 117; Black, 11; Morgan of Greeley, 75; W. E. Morgan of Greeley, 75. The votes of different counties for Williams occasioned successive demonstrations of unmistakable and audible satisfaction in the vicinity of the Douglas county delegation. Amid calls for Farmer Williams he was made the unanimous choice. Stepping to the platform he said: "To say that I was not grateful for this recognition I would belie myself. If elected, I leave not the least doubt I will be. I promise to honor the state and see that the public property of the state is administered as it should be."

beans nominated him to represent the Ninth senatorial district, in which district he has resided since he was a senator. This district comprised the counties of Starke and St. Joseph. Mr. Murphy was the youngest man ever nominated for that position and the district was hopelessly democratic, due, doubtless, to the easy methods, at that time, of manipulating the heavy manufacturing poll-tax of south Bend. Nevertheless, though his opponent, now Chief Justice T. E. Howard of the Indiana supreme court, was declared elected it was a very close election and Mr. Murphy ran far ahead of his ticket. A year after his arrival in Beatrice he was admitted to practice before the United States supreme court by a majority of Washington, D. C. In 1880 he became city attorney of Beatrice, which office he held for two years, serving as member of the Board of Education. He resigned from the presidency of the board in 1883 because of the press of other duties. INSURGENTS SHELL MANILA

Spaniards Are Hopeful of Holding Out Until Peace is Declared, but the Situation Grows Daily More Desperate.

(Copyright, 1898, by Associated Press.) MANILA, Aug. 10.—(Via Hong Kong, Aug. 10.)—The rumor is current here that the insurgents, fearful that peace will be concluded between Washington and Madrid and that the Americans will withdraw from the Philippines, are consequently the more strenuous in their desires and efforts to capture Manila. Sunday night there was a heavy bombardment with heavy modern shells. It is generally believed in the city that the Americans assisted and the papers publish lists of Americans alleged to have been killed, including some names of rank. There is also a report that half the Americans have succumbed to fever, and this statement, with others like it, encourages the Spaniards to maintain their suicidal resistance.

On Sunday many citadels entered the town, several reached the citadel itself and it is reported that some women were killed. There was a frightful panic inside the walls. Women and children shrieking and praying in the terror of the whole night through. One shot caused twenty casualties at the Luneta battery; another exploded at the Malate barracks, killing five. The troops turned out just in time to save Malate fort and the magazine. The insurgents showed large and small shots with such precision that the garrison believed the whole American army and fleet were concentrating their fire. Many Spaniards had previously resolved to cease fighting the moment the Americans began, but the insurgents have subsided and the fort has been reinforced from a barracks. There has been little fighting in other directions. The total Spanish losses are probably a hundred, but many thousands have been seriously damaged.

On Monday evening there was a furious fusillade in every direction. Telephone inquiries were sent out from headquarters to various outposts. No answer was received from El Pico and accordingly a squad of horsemen hastened thither. In the darkness and storm the sentries fled and the insurgents probably in the panic they imagined that the horsemen were Americans.

Cannot Stand Much More.

A few such nights would drive the Spaniards inside the citadel, and then there would be the ghastly prospect of prolonged devastation and a slaughter with the inevitable destruction of the town and its inhabitants unless the Americans hastened to close in.

On Sunday 1,500 houses at Tondo were burned and the flames, driven by a strong wind, threatened the whole of Manila, but were finally extinguished through the efforts of the fire brigade organized by the British merchants at Manila. The British consul here died of dysentery yesterday, but his remains cannot be buried until the present cemetery on account of the insurgents.

If a woman walked bare-footed on the sharp edge of a sword, she would not undergo one moment of suffering. They suffer greater misery and pain than could be inflicted by any professional torturer. That the world ever knew. They suffer from headaches, dragging down and burning sensations, pains in the sides and back, hot and cold flushes, nervous and trembling sensations and physical lassitude and mental despondency. The whole body is tortured with pain and the entire nervous system is racked. If they continue the average physician, he will attribute their bad feelings to stomach, liver, kidney, heart or nervous trouble. He will insist upon the disgusting examinations and local treatment, so embarrassing to a sensitive, modest woman.

The real trouble is weakness of disease of the delicate and important organs, that bear the burden of life. There is no necessity for examinations or local treatment. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all these ailments, soothes the sensitive organs concerned, making them strong and well.
