WHAT PEACE MEANS.

Unless all intelligent judgment is at fault, the restoration of peace means for the material interests of the United States a fruition of benefits that will greatly augment the wealth and commercial power of the nation.

will undoubtedly prevail. It affords an opportunity to Spain to complicate negotiations for the Louisiana purchase.

THE PLACE FOR THE JUBILEE.

While there may be more than one peace demonstration in different parts of the country in celebration of the conclusion of the war with Spain and the return of the volunteer soldiers to industrial pursuits, the peace jubilee projected in conjunction with the Transmississippi Exposition at Omaha in October will be the great national jubilee commemorating the restoration of peace after war.

The reception to the returning war ships bearing their distinguished officers and crews must necessarily be tendered at some seaport town and the reviews of the different army corps no longer needed previous to disbandment at the points of their encampment.

It is gratifying to find this question of an American merchant marine gaining in public attention. There is none of greater importance in connection with the question of commercial expansion.

With the people of the whole country already looking toward the exposition and the general movement of travel heading in this direction, Omaha becomes the natural center for the great peace celebration in the annals of the nation.

At no other place could the jubilee be made to teach so powerful and widespread a lesson of patriotism to the world. At no other place could the achievements of peace represented by the exposition be so forcibly presented for contrast with the destruction and desolation wrought by war.

WORK AND CRIME.

The assumption that a majority of criminals would reform if they could but secure honorable employment forms the basis for a new movement in the interest of ex-convicts.

California is complaining about the naming of war ships. There was built in California the queen of the American navy, the battleship Oregon.

EXTENT OF LOUISIANA.

The review of an old controversy regarding the western boundary of the Louisiana territory purchased by the United States from France bids fair to result in some confusion on historical geography.

NO LET UP ON LICKING.

It took only three months to lick Spain, but it probably will take a year or two to finish licking the revenue stamps.

Effective Revenue Pressure.

General Blanco says that Spain yielded to the pressure of Europe, but we have an impression that Uncle Sam was doing a little squeezing at the same time.

Experience Somewhat Useful.

There is no doubt that some of the comparatively inexperienced men made splendid officers. But on the whole, the proposition that experience is unnecessary cannot be regarded as fully demonstrated.

Credit for One Spaniard.

Admiral Cervera comes out of the war with more credit than any other man on the Spanish side. He rescued an American who fled a forlorn hope, and then went himself into an undertaking almost as risky.

Stamps Likely to Stick.

The stamp duties and other new taxes are being paid without hardship. They fall, as taxes should, on luxuries, property and capital, rather than on labor and articles of necessity, and the return of these taxes has brought the entire expenditure of the government to a sound and stable basis, which puts the currency beyond challenge or peril.

Deserved Praise.

President McKinley is receiving congratulations from all parts of the world. The fact that he did everything in his power to prevent a war and that he did everything in his power to make it short, sharp and decisive when once it had to be commenced is remembered by all those who send in their greetings.

Exposition a Deserving Show.

Now that peace has come the Transmississippi Exposition at Omaha looms larger. The eastern papers are giving it attention and advising the people of that section not to neglect it. It is a show which deserves the attendance of western people for its spectacular merits, as well as because of the service it renders this region in the connection with the peace jubilee.

Combinations Multiplying.

All of the companies save one engaged in furnishing electric light within the city of Chicago have been consolidated under the title of the Chicago Edison Electric Light company.

John Bull's Last Grab.

The Santa Cruz islands, which Great Britain is reported to have seized, have for some years been under a British protectorate, though claimed at one time by the French.

With the ushering in of peace there should now come a new era of prosperity for the Transmississippi Exposition at Omaha, the enterprising management of which has already announced a grand peace jubilee to be held on its grounds during the week of October 10 next.

THE REGULAR ARMY.

Backbone of the Fighting Forces of the United States. Philadelphia Ledger.

The regular army has not received the credit it deserves for the part it played in the war with Spain. Nearly all the reports received gave glowing and deserved accounts of the bravery, dash and efficiency of the volunteers, but almost wholly neglected the performances of the regulars.

SECULAR SHOTS AT THE PULPIT.

Chicago Times-Herald: That Iowa preacher who called himself to marry seventeen girls probably was the first man who ever devised a feasible way to keep a church choir together during the summer.

Philadelphia Ledger: A Baptist colored brother in Jersey City preaches so loudly that the householders in the vicinity of his meeting-house have had to take legal steps to induce him not to preach so loud.

The Indian congress at the Transmississippi Exposition is not only the first congregation of all the representative Indian tribes in one place at one time, but it is practically certain to be the last occasion when such an ethnological exhibition can be studied. The man, woman or child who neglects an opportunity to take in this unexcelled feature of the exposition will regret it for a lifetime.

The man who wrote the introduction to the new edition of the revised ordinances of Kansas City took up some of the slack in that city's pride by revealing the fact that it came very near not being Kansas City at all. It was to have been named Port Fonda, after an early settler, Abraham Fonda, but he had a quarrel with the other prominent resident of the town, and they compromised on Kansas City.

Brooklyn Life: The father of ten daughters listened silently to the solemn words that united his eldest to a millionaire. "There," he murmured, as the tying of the knot was successfully completed, "that's 10 per cent off for cash."

Cleveland Leader: "No," she said, "you are not such a man as I would have thought of choosing for my husband." "That may be," he replied, "but I thought, seeing you had got beyond the point where choosing was possible, that you might consent."
