The last tributes of respect were paid to the remains of Mrs. Fred A. Balley Satur-day, August 20, at the Methodist church, of which she was a member. At 2 p. m. the pail bearers, followed by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows' lodge, entered the church, while the choir, composed of the young people who had spent many even-ings in music at her home, sang "Nearer My God to Thee." After Mesdames George Hawkins and Dr. McCoy sang "Some Time We'll Understand," the young men's quar-tet sang Mrs. Balley's favorite hymn, "Fade, Fade, Each Earthly Joy." The fu-neral discourse was preached by Rev. Frank Bross, assisted by Rev. Dawson of Walnut Hill. The church was made beautiful by her friends, who draped the organ in white cloth, with flowers strewn all around, and on the right stood a chair similarly deco-rated with the inscription "Mrs. Balley," made of dark pansies, in memory of the place she had filled so many times.

The observations of a Siboney con respondent of the London Chronicle are in-teresting: "War is about as horrible and ghastly a thing as one can well imagine. It is a pity that the painters and writers of fiction have always depicted war in such lowing colors. There is nothing brilliant about war-there is nothing but dirt and nastiness to offend both the eyes and nose. In this campaign the medical corps has paid no attention to the sanitary government of the various camps. Camps have been established anywhere without regard to the water supply or the healthfulness of the lo-cation. The rule providing that all drinking water must be boiled has been completely ignored; in fact, it is doubtful if a single ounce of water has been boiled except in the hospitals, since the army set foot on Cuban soil. There has never yet been a latrine erected. Horses and mules wander at will. "All this would be bad enough if the camp remained dry, but when rain falls every day the camp soon becomes a morass, and sticky, slimy mud is plastered over everything and everybody. There are no company or regimental cooks. Each man does his own cooking, each man must carry his own allowance of fat pork and hardtack and coffee, as well as his cooking utensiles. It causes great waste, and results in the men not getting the most out of the food sup-plied them. But coming back to the spec-tacular side of war it does not exist. At least, not here.
