

POST GIVES UP THE GHOST

Bryan's Organ at the Capital Gracefully Yields Its Profitless Life.

LACK OF SUSTENANCE THE REASON

Publisher Announces that Even a Populist Daily Cannot Exist on Wind Alone and So He Abandons the Effort.

LINCOLN, Aug. 29.—(Special).—The Evening Post which was owned by Bryan's private secretary and has been operated two years as a free silver organ, today closed up its office doors and ceased publication.

The Post began publication when the free silver agitation was at its height and was supported by the populist party, but it has since been abandoned by its subscribers and its financial resources have been exhausted.

The Post was published in Lincoln, Neb., and was one of the many "reform" newspapers that have failed in the past few years.

Lincoln Local Notes.

Mrs. Edna Bullock has gone to Helena, Mont., where she will take charge of the new city library.

The Indiana veterans of this city will hold a meeting tomorrow evening at the residence of W. J. Ryan.

Preparations are being made by local newspaper men to entertain the members of the National Editorial association.

The fusionists of this county have called a convention to meet one week from next Thursday to place in nomination a candidate for district judge.

Omaha people at the hotels: At the Lindell: H. J. Holmes, J. A. Benson, M. F. King, H. C. Rountree, H. E. Mahaffey, J. A. Knepper, C. K. Jones, A. J. Kelly, J. H. Macomber and daughter, C. L. Boufford, E. S. Paine, At the Lincoln: H. T. Clarke, W. G. Washburn, C. W. Rainey, E. D. Vorhees.

One of the saloons on O street has employed a female bartender and complaint has been made to the excise board that under the ordinance the employment of a woman in such a capacity is unlawful.

The board held a meeting to consider the matter and found that the law and the ordinance are silent on the question of female bartenders.

Yesterday and today a large number of Bohemians from Saline, Pawnee and Richardson counties stopped over in Lincoln on their way home from the exposition.

They were all loud in praise of the big show and of the treatment accorded them by Omaha people.

Most of those interviewed expressed their intention of making another visit to the exposition before its close.

A requisition was issued today for the return of Henry Tschonak, alias Andrew J. Smith, alias J. Martin, from Seattle to Omaha to answer for a crime of having stolen $2,015.80 worth of furs from Gustave Shukert.

The stealing was done about two months ago and the furs were traced to Seattle, where he is now under arrest.

There is a great deal of stir among the property owners along O street on account of the movement to have the street repaved.

The contest is on between those who want brick pavement and those who favor asphalt and it seems that the latter are gaining ground.

It is argued that asphalt is better paved with brick and one of the other business streets coming to the asphalt street on account of its smoothness and lack of noise.

Those who favor brick do so because that kind of pavement can be put down

Democrats and Populists at Odds in Several Counties—Dissatisfaction Over Legislative Nominations.

LINCOLN, Aug. 29.—(Special).—The quarrelling, back-biting and threatening among the "reform" forces is not confined to Richardson county, although there is more trouble there than in any other part of the state.

Word was spread yesterday in Otoe county that the fusion candidates for congress, in an endeavor to furnish a leading article in the paper of the county, which says:

A striking sample of fusion "harmony" comes from Gage and Saline counties and it is best told in the words of the Saline paper, which says:

Last Saturday Dan Freeman of Gage county held a populist convention at this place and nominated himself a candidate for congress.

STANDS PAT ON INTERVIEW

Buildings, including one in which General Miles established himself temporarily are not to be inspected.

DISPATCHES ARE MUTILATED

The mutilation and suppression of dispatches are made plain by the publication of the originals in the Star for the first time.

General Miles is expected home in a few days. What he will do on his arrival, or what the administration will do in regard to the controversy now raging about the War Department, is difficult to say.

The press is too wide to close, the scores are too deep to heal. General Miles is expected to place in nomination a party and an endorsement to the populist party.

WELL FOR MITCHELL

Chamberlain & Johnson, artesian well drillers of this city, have been awarded a contract to sink an artesian well for the city of Mitchell.

The drilling machine and outfit have already been shipped and work will be commenced on the latter part of this week or beginning of next.

Mitchell has in the past few years sunk two or three artesian wells, but owing to the drillers striking granite the flows have not been at all satisfactory.

The new well, it is believed, will be sunk to the granite where a strong flow is almost certain to be encountered.

The well is to be sunk to a depth of 100 feet.

SOCIAL SCIENTISTS MEET

Discuss War and Our American Morals During the First Day's Session.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 29.

The American Social Science association began its annual meeting here this evening. It will continue in session five days.

The annual address was made by the president, Hon. Simon E. Baldwin, LL. D., of New Haven, Conn.

His opening address was on "The History of American Morals." He said: "What is morality? It is conformity to the standards of conduct prescribed by what for the time being is the sentiment of the community, the age of the Puritans was moral, but it was not so with that of the revolution or the civil war. How has it been with ourselves in these days of trial, of great deeds and new ambitions, or national extension by conquest or the excitement of glorious victories in new fields? We have been educating ourselves into new beliefs. We are possessed by them—ruled by them. We believe that our country is not measured by the breadth of the continent. We believe the islands that fringe the coast and those remote still, which in unsteady hands might threaten its security, may rightfully as occasion offers, be incorporated in the United States. We believe that our people have duties of humanity toward other people. We believe the United States are something greater than the states under the flag and that the American people may acquire and hold territory anywhere upon the globe which is needed to serve their navy or promote their commerce."

At the conclusion of President Baldwin's address, Rev. Frederick Stanley Root of New York, the general secretary of the association, submitted his annual report, in the course of which he emphasized the fact that the mission of this particular society is the discussion and investigation of all subjects pertaining to social science and that its traditional policy is to never to commit itself to any dogmatic declaration of belief in regard to the questions which may come under its examination.

The secretary reported that since the association last met there have been admitted to it 145 new names, thus making the total census of the association a little over 400.

CALL FOR IRRIGATION CONGRESS.

Something is Expected in the Way of New Legislation.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 29.—The National irrigation congress will be held here September 1 to 3. The call says:

A large percentage of the acreage of the United States is arid or semi-arid. Much of that acreage may be reclaimed and turned into fertile fields by the utilization of the waters of the streams, and by the impounding of the storm waters of the mountains, valleys and plains for use during the long seasons of drought. Additional water and state legislation is required. Much has been accomplished in this direction. The people of every state are directly interested in these questions. At the present time of increase of population the time is ripe in which every citizen of the United States will be crowded with those seeking to build up homes. The arid and semi-arid regions, through development by means of irrigation, can be made capable of furnishing homes for many millions of people.

General Miles is expected home in a few days. What he will do on his arrival, or what the administration will do in regard to the controversy now raging about the War Department, is difficult to say.
