

ARBITERS FOR FREIGHT MEN

Board to Adjust the Canadian Pacific Question Still Unknown.

AMERICAN LINES CHOOSE THEIR MEMBER

His Name Will Not Be Announced Until the Board is Completed—Features of the Matters Now in Dispute.

For the arbitration of the differential question between the American transcontinental lines and the Canadian Pacific with regard to freight traffic, the names of three arbiters will soon be announced.

There has been some criticism of the American freight men in Denver last week and they agreed to arbitrate their traffic differences with the Canadian Pacific.

The freight men, on the other hand, say that their dispute with the troublesome Canadian line is entirely different from the differences of the passenger men.

"Do you think a settlement will be reached by arbitration?" "I rather think so."

All of the lines entering Omaha did a big business on the trains reaching here on Tuesday morning.

Business on the Burlington system this month is very quiet.

Someone in the Pullman company evidently thinks that the exorbitant rates and enormous travel in the company's cars this season are not sufficient to enrich the company fast enough.

Lieutenant Moore Shows Signs of His Rough Experience in Cuba.

HOW COLONEL WIKOFF WAS KILLED

Commanding a Brigade at El Caney, He Was Shot Down While Looking at the Fight—Twenty-Second Has Busy Time.

Lieutenant T. W. Moore of Company G, Twenty-second United States Infantry, has returned to Omaha from his campaign in Cuba.

"All of the Twenty-second," said the lieutenant, "were brought away from Santiago on the transport Mobile, about which there was a large amount of misrepresentation in the columns of the press."

"It is remarkable how well the troops stood the fire at El Caney. It must be understood that about 90 per cent of the troops were never under fire before. The same is true of the officers. Young boys just out of West Point stood up on the firing line directing their companies with a coolness that could hardly be credited by one who did not see them while the troops worked with their officers with the skill of trained veterans."

How Colonel Wikoff Died.

"There have been many inquiries as to the manner of the death of Colonel Wikoff of the Twenty-second. Before our transport reached Santiago he received word that he was to take command of a brigade and we saw little of him after we landed. He was at the front with his staff. He had stepped out of the trench and started to look over the field and started to do so again. His staff officers cautioned him that it was dangerous and that he would surely be killed. But the soldierly instinct was too strong and the colonel could not content himself hearing firing without going to the front."

Volunteers Fight Well.

"The Second Massachusetts was the only regiment of volunteers brigaded with the Twenty-second, and they behaved themselves well. They were armed with the Springfield rifle, and every time they fired they broke new ground for our army."

FALL ANNOUNCEMENTS No. 3.

Ever since we opened our doors we have made a specialty of being careful how we advertised our goods and what we said about them in print.

You've never been disappointed by any advertisement that we signed. We have tried to understate rather than to overstate the facts and we have always given you as good or even better value than we have led you to believe.

For that reason more than three-fourths of the people of Omaha have come to rely on our statements as we make them in the public prints. They have come to know by experience that there is no place where they can get as good goods, as nice goods, as reliable goods, for the money they spend, as they can here.
