Germany can never be the first to decrease its armaments, with both eastern and western frontiers threatened. Her present burdens she bears lightly. Strong armaments are not a provocation to war. On the contrary, readiness of defense is the surest safeguard against attack. The cyar's idea is very beautiful and romantic, but "The circular is undoubtedly the result of a secret previous agreement between Russia, England and Germany. These three powers, have their hands full. A treaty which would consecrate their acquisition is eminently desirable. France has not been considered. The truth is Europe regards France as fallen to a place of secondary importance and could easily be coerced. I have been opposed to alliance. This is the first fingrant betrayal."

Hanotaux speaks guardedly of visionary philanthrophy and believes the conference will never meet.

Delcasse of the foreign office is reticent. He is evidently displeased and ways the govarnment approved the projected conference because it is considered the best means to ascertain the position and pretensions of each power. VIENNA, Aug. 30.-(New York World Cablegram-Special Telegram.)-A leading official of the foreign office said today; 'Austria and Hungary are disposed to welcome the czar's proposition, as such a noble move deserves. At present the proposal is too vague to be taken into consideration. When the Russian government makes detailed propositions for a conference, stating the subjects to be discussed, Austria will come forward, helping its utmost the powers in the great work. Diplomatic circles here are not disposed to believe that Russian diplomacy approves the czar's message, which seems to have been sent into the world in spite of Muravieff and his other counselors. Those who hold pessimistic views consider the czar's move boyish and even womanish and insistence on an impracticable idea in the face of the views of his advisers. ROME, Aug. 30 .- (New York World Caolegram-Special Telegram.)-Signor Pelloux talked today regarding the czar's peace proposal. The prime minister expressed enthusiasm for a scheme which "would mean salvation to Italy, allowing it to devote to agriculture and industry millions squandered on armaments. The department is of the opinion that published this morning. Such action it regards as a breach of military regulations, but no military court can secure proof that General Miles made public the dispatches if he and the person to whom they were furnished, refuse to give the information, as several military trials have made it settled law that no military court can compel a civilian to testify if he does not desire to. General Miles also may be called to account for the interviews with him, as unless disavowed, they would place him in the attitude of criticizing his superior officers and subject him to military discipline, The publication of the dispatches today, taken together with previous interviews in the Kansas City Star, were the topic of conversation among officers of the War department, and already there is a disposition by some to take sides in the matter, while others deplore the conditions as tending to lower the tone of the army and to do irreparable injury to the service. It is expected the controversy will extend to both houses of congress, and it is feared will have an adverse effect upon legislation which will be asked to better the army. It is generally understood that the regular force will have to be largely increased, at least until the conquered islands are disposed of, and it is feared that legislation in this direction will hampered by the controversy between the secretary of war and the general in com-

Kelly McCombs of Jefferson is slated as one of the populists to be honthe city, his identity not yet decided upon. For the silver republicans Thomas F. Sturgls is on the list. These will all be for the house, as the democrats will take all the senators.

For the senatorships, Henry Hobbens, W. names one hears seriously mentioned among the democrats. Smith was in the house wo years ago. The private interests which are said to have prevented Mr. Poppleton from being a candidate for congress, will not, it is believed, prevent his running for the senate; while Mr. Smith's business engagements, which caused him to decline the congressional nomination at the last moment, it is announced may be postponed for a while if he should be sent back to the legislature. An urgent appeal was made to W. A. Paxton, sr., to permit his name to be used in connection with the senatorship, and it is said that while he would have been pleased with the nomination, he felt it the stock yards cut so prominent a figure in popocratic politics.

Grossmann Tom Flynn, John Liddell, Jerry Mulvahill and Arthur Metz of Omaha; Chris Melcher and Jim Bulla of South Omaha; John Hall of Waterloo, and Oscar J. Pickard of Douglas.. The name of John H. Grossman had been used in connection with county attorney until within the last few days, but he went to Wisconsin last week to spend the heated term, and after his departure Judge Shields became a candidate and pushed his canvass so vigorously that he is now considered to have a cinch on the nomination. To avoid a shutout for Grossman he is now classed in the list of legislative candidates.

The warmest fight in the county convention will be over the nomination of county commissioners. Tom Hoctor goes out this year, and is a candidate for re-election. But he will not be allowed a walkaway. John Powers of the First ward wants to be a commissioner, and if he gets it Hoctor must be laid out. For the place held by W. I. Klerstead there are several candidates, the two leading ones being Fred Simpson, who tried to beat George Mercer for the council two years ago, and James P Connolly, a contractor. Another contest will be over the chairmanship of the county committee. The present chairman, Richard O'Keeffe, was elected last year by the element which opposed the local Herdman gang. This element will desire to retain the advantage it has in this strongly contest to regain lost ground. Candidates for the position have not yet been named, both sides waiting till the forces line up in convention to learn the lay of the

NEED MONEY TO MOVE CROPS

Financiers See Unusual Situation of a Lack of Small Currency is Now at Hand.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.-The Post says: There is a probability of a lack of currency as the work of moving the immense crops proceeds. Already the banks of New York are experiencing a shortage in small currency and have not only appealed to the Treasury department at Washington for aid, but have sent requests to Chicago banks to send all the currency they can get, offering to pay the expressage. The amount of small bills the war has put into circulation together with the extraordinary size of the crops, has made the question of currency a serious problem. Especially is there a lack of the smaller for the same purpose on Thursday evening, denominations. One banker in Chicago says the local institutions have carefully kept their supply of small currency and have plenty to carry them along for some time, bankers will be shipping gold. This is an unusual situation. It has been some time since Chicago bankers have been compelled to ship gold to pay balances. But this is feared by leading financiers. They say the ities. demand for currency will be much greater than the supply and as a consequence gold will have to be transported in lieu of cur-

Distinguished Visitor.

William P. Stewart of New York in Omaha. His intention is to remain in the city a couple of weeks and make a special study of the exposition. Prof. William P. Stewart is an American ctuary of great prominence. Professionally he holds the unique position of instructor of agencies for the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, Mr. Richard M. Mc-Curdy, president.

The professor is not only an accomplished mathematician, but an expert in vital statistics. There are few countries with which he is not familiar, and no part of the United States or Canada. He is an honorary life member of the Physicians' club of Chicago S. Poppleton and Dudley Smith are the only and has been honored and recognized both at home and abroad by official and literary circles. As an insurance lecturer and author he is known very well wherever business of life insurance is conducted. But the recognition of the professor is not con-fined to the insurance world. His knowledge and ability cover a wide range of subjects. He is generally interviewed by the press wherever he goes, because his views are always timely, interesting and instructive. He is a ready and fluent speaker and with the remarkable trait of always saying something that is worthy of publication for its originality of thought and grace of language.

In coming to Omaha the professor passed through Dubuque, where he stopped over a few days and made an impromptu address would not be wise just at this time to have bled, as the closing feature of their sum-the stock yards cut so prominent a figure mer school. As a specimen of the professors ability the address there delivered is re-produced in these columns from the Dubuque Daily Times of August 27. It will be found a rich treat by all students and teachers and of especial interest to the lay minds. The visit of the professor to Omaha will be emphasized by a convention of the agents of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York for the states of Iowa and Nebraska, to be held in Omaha Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, under the auspices of the Messrs. Fleming Bros., general agents for the district. The affair terminate with a banquet in honor of the professor on Friday evening. Later on we shall doubtless have the pleasure of proterview with this world-wide traveler, sci entist and literateur.
