

BOSTONIANS AT THE SHOW

Visitors from the Hub Surprised at the Magnificence of the Exposition.

ELECTRICAL DISPLAY A GRAND SPECTACLE

Think It Compares Favorably with the World's Big Fairs—Impressions and Compliments of Business Men.

Many of the business men of Boston who have visited the Transmississippi Exposition this summer have been interviewed on their return by the Herald and their impressions form an interesting symposium. All agree in expressing surprise and admiration for the extent and magnificence of the exposition. Boston's shoe trade amounts to $2,000,000 per annum. Most of the visitors combined business with pleasure and had an overflowing measure of both.

The interviews are as follows: "I have seen all the great fairs held in Europe in recent years," said Mr. S. H. Hardenbrook of E. S. Woodbury & Co., 105 Summer street, "the Paris Exposition, as well as fairs in Belgium and Germany, and this Omaha Exposition compares favorably with any of them. Indeed, I like it better than anything I have seen in Europe. It is not so extensive as the World's Fair at Chicago, but it pleased me quite as well. I am sure that the electrical exhibit surpasses anything ever seen. It is too bad that eastern people do not know more about this fair, for it is well worth a trip west to see it."

Agreeably Surprised. F. C. Miller of J. H. Ireland & Co., 129 Summer street, said: "To me some features of the Omaha exposition are more attractive than similar ones at the Chicago fair. I was very much taken with this show, surpassing, as it did in every particular, my expectation. I think if the quality of this exposition were better understood here, it would be patronized by more New England people. It is certainly a marvelous undertaking which the people of Omaha have in hand and they deserve the help and encouragement of the east."

Martin Howard of Boyd & Corey, 139 Summer street: "The Omaha exposition would most naturally be compared with the Atlanta and Nashville fairs, and as I visited both of these I know something of their relative worth. The truth is that they were not in the same class with Omaha. Personally, I like this fair better than the Columbian exposition. The buildings are as beautiful, the grounds are more attractive and while the exhibits are not so extensive and elaborate, they contain all that most men care to see. The finest spectacle I have ever witnessed is the Omaha exhibition lighted at night. The electrical display is magnificent. I spent two days there, looking over the exposition carefully, and was charmed by its magnificent maintenance. No eastern man traveling west should fail to see this fair."

Charles K. Crane, 195 Summer street: "I did not visit the Chicago fair, and of course I must be about as credulous as an underling as was ever carried out in this country. It is a wonderful achievement for those people beyond the Mississippi. For myself, I can say that I was unprepared to find the exhibition so extensive, complete and magnificent."

J. H. Walker, 111 Summer street: "It is the most magnificent thing I have ever seen. In my opinion it exceeds in beauty the World's fair. The groupings of the buildings, their ornamentation and the details of their construction are finer than the World's fair. It strikes me that our eastern people have made a great mistake in not being better represented there. There is no show exhibit there from New England, as there certainly should be. Boston has a large trade with Omaha, and we should not have neglected the opportunity to make a fine display there. The western and central countries are now manufacturing a good many shoes, and they have exhibits there. The east has not understood the importance of this exposition, which is really one of the greatest shows ever held in this country. Everyone who has seen it must be impressed by the enterprise and capacity of the people who conceived it and are carrying it on."

A Credit to the West. "It will be an everlasting credit to the people of the west who got it up," said H. H. Shaw, 123 Summer street. "The exposition is grand from every point of view. While it is largely confined to a display of the products of the transmississippi states, it exhibits the progress of the times in every line of useful invention."

H. H. Dodge of Dodge Brothers, Newburyport: "I attended the exposition, and am glad to be able to say that I was charmed with it in every way. The spectacle at night is fully up to the World's fair, and no higher praise of its beauty can be offered."

A. W. Shaw, 29 Lincoln street: "I wish to say that the Omaha exhibition was a great surprise to me. I went out expecting to see it all at a glance and get back in time to take the 4:20 train for St. Joseph. Instead, I stayed until 10 p. m. on the grounds, and was so well pleased that I wanted to put in another day. Omaha is entitled to great credit for such a great show, and to have excelled the World's fair in the electrical display is truly wonderful."

Frank G. Pratt of N. B. Thayer & Co., 15 Bedford street, "Considering where it is being held, so far away from the large cities, it is really a wonderful show. The government exhibit is, I think, better than that at the World's fair, inasmuch as it is not so large and it is easier to comprehend all. The electric lights, the buildings and the lagoon make up as a sight as I ever saw. When I was out there the railroads had not done a thing. I asked the passenger agent of one of the railroads what was the reason, and he told me that they intended to wait until they could get larger crowds, and then offer excursion rates. We were all pleased with the exposition, as a whole. The Manufacturers building was not so good as some of the others, but the Government, Electrical and Agriculture buildings were very fine. Massachusetts has no building, but its committee are entitled to great credit for the manner in which they have laid out the grounds and constructed the buildings. The effect of the electrical lighting in the evening was grand."

The system was a simple one; they did not overdo it. John H. Davis of S. J. Hollis & Co., 105 Bedford street: "The agricultural exhibit at the Omaha exposition has, I think, never been equaled. It was considered far better than that at the World's fair. The government exhibit was also very fine. The show was not perhaps advertised as extensively as it might have been, but anybody having the leisure to go there would be amply repaid by the visit. There was a very good attendance when I was there and I think they will come out all right. The horticulture exhibit was an excellent one. The Horticulture of Honor was one of the most beautiful things at night that I ever saw."

A representative of the firm of C. S. Fuller & Co., 27 Lincoln street, said: "As an exposition, I thought it very creditable, indeed. From what I saw, I think it will be successful. I was at the Nashville fair and this one seemed to be fully as large. In the evening the show was a grand one. The electrical display was ahead of that at the World's Fair."

Better Than Expected. A. R. Leighton, 1 Lincoln street: "It was a great deal better than I anticipated. I think the Omaha people have put a great deal of interest in it and are making it a grand success. You will find that the Boston men who were there were more than pleased. The electrical display was nearly as good as that at Chicago. They have an exhibit of the blowing up of the Maine there, but in since I left, and I am told that it is very fine. Some of the war exhibits have been placed since I was there. Mr. Kirkendall was very enthusiastic over the show. The railroads were not making any concessions and that hurt the fair somewhat, but now, I understand, it is different, and they will have a much larger crowd than they had."

Hamilton of Stowe-Bills & Hawley company, 42 Lincoln street: "It is an exact reproduction of the World's Fair in miniature. I was there on Sunday, when a good many of the exhibits were not to be seen. The last time I saw the spot was in the winter and they were planting trees, a fact which caused some persons to laugh at the landscape architect. They would think that they had been planting and cultivating the grounds for the last ten years. These grounds are very fine, as are also the buildings, particularly the Agriculture building. Mr. Kirkendall deserves a great deal of credit for his management of the grounds and buildings."

W. B. Lewis of George M. Coburn & Co., 42 Lincoln street: "Mr. Kirkendall told me that they had a good attendance and that the show paid from the first. Of course, it is more to the transmississippi states than those in the east and south. The electrical exhibition was away ahead of the Chicago one."

E. S. Strand of M. C. Crum & Co., 82 Lincoln street: "It is a very fine show. The buildings are placed around the lagoon and they have a splendid electrical exhibition in the evening. They told me that they expected larger crowds in September and October than in the summer months. The weather was dry and hot when I was there, but there was a very good attendance, notwithstanding."

Summer street: "I was there from Friday until Sunday evening and I think the show was better than that held at Nashville. It was very fine, with the electrical display in the evening and the Agriculture building was one of the good features. Many places there were being filled up when I came away. It was the opinion that the attendance in the last two months—September and October—would be better than it had been since the opening of the exposition."

DOCTORS OF DENTAL SURGERY

Officers for the ensuing year and next Place of Meeting Chosen at the Morning Session.

With the election of officers and the selection of the place for holding the next convention the National Dental Association has about wound up its annual convention—its first since the reorganization of the society. Niagara Falls was chosen over Boston for the next year's gathering. Following are the officers for the ensuing year: President, H. J. Burkhardt of Batavia, N. Y.; vice presidents, S. H. Guilford of Philadelphia, for the east; T. E. Weeks of Minneapolis, for the west; and B. Holly of Baltimore, for the south; corresponding secretary, M. E. Chase of St. Louis; recording secretary, George H. Cushing of Chicago; assistant recording secretary, William E. Walker of Pass Christian, Miss.; treasurer, Henry W. Morgan of Nashville, Tenn.; Drs. Smith, Chase, Cushing, Walker and Morgan are all re-elected. Dr. Cushing was for twenty years recording secretary of the old society. He is now in California.

Action has been deferred for one year on the questions of uniform state laws covering the status of dentists removing from one state to another, and of congressional legislation by which it is being sought to deny dental patents confined to mechanical apparatus only, barring out processes and methods.

Very interesting exposition from Dr. C. S. Case of Chicago, in the section of orthodontia, on the principles of force and anchorage in the movement of teeth was listened to. Dr. Case had everything necessary for complete ocular demonstration in the shape of models and appliances. His idea is that by means of pressure facial deformities due to the defects of teeth can be corrected.

A further elaboration by Dr. Case of his process of curing dental defects by means of applied pressure took up most of the afternoon, after which there were papers by Drs. V. H. Jackson of New York and E. H. Guilford of Pennsylvania in their respective sections.

Drs. G. I. V. Brown, C. S. Butler and J. Crawford were elected on the executive committee to fill the places left vacant by Drs. C. N. Pierce, W. P. Dickinson and George Eubank.

The final adjournment was taken at 5 o'clock.

POPULISTS DO NOT LIKE IT

Democratic Program Not at All What the Other Fellows Want.

RETIATION INSTEAD OF RECIPROCIITY

Yeiser, Magney, Strickler and Others Insist that They Have a Share of the Legislative Ticket from Douglas County.

The populist primaries to select delegates to attend the county convention next Saturday were held last evening from the hour of 7 to 10 o'clock. They attracted little interest, and there was no contest except possibly upon some individual who may seek to go as a delegate. The populists seem to be taken up too much with the scheme of the democrats to shut them out of the legislative ticket to think much of boomerang any member of the party for any of the questions which are to be filled this fall. On these questions they are touchy, and while those who are looked to as leaders of the party hesitate to say much that is definite in regard to what counter action they will take, the lesser lights are frank in stating that if the democrats carry out their plan there will be a third ticket in the field.

Mr. O. Yeiser is more emphatic. He says: "I do not pretend to speak for anyone, but I will tell you what I think. I would favor the populists nominating candidates for such a portion of a ticket as they think they are entitled to, and give the democrats the alternative of refusing to endorse or invite disaster to the whole ticket. We are entitled to the same position as we received two years ago, when we were allowed to name one-third of the ticket. I may not be a delegate to the convention, but I will act independently in regard to the matter.
