SECOND COMES THIS MORNING

Nebraska Boys Will Reach Home After a Long Ride from Chickamauga.

TEIDIOUS JOURNEY FROM ST. LOUIS

Missouri Pacific Runs the Trains on a Remarkably Slow Schedule Across the State—Arrives Reluctantly Waiting for the Boys.

The second Nebraska regiment of volunteers did not arrive here yesterday, owing to the slow time made by the Missouri Pacific railroad with the four special trains between St. Louis and Omaha. It is expected that the soldiers will arrive here between 4:30 and 6 o'clock this morning. The trains will be stopped at the crossing of the Missouri Pacific tracks and North Thirtieth street, near Boyd street, to let the soldiers off. They will march from there to Fort Omaha.

Telegraphic advice to Assistant General Freight and Passenger Agent Phillippi from Traveling Passenger Agent Barnes, who accompanied the troops, were received here yesterday afternoon from Kansas City, where a stop was made for dinner and a short rest. These telegrams were to the effect that the first section, consisting of seventeen freight cars and one coach, would leave Kansas City at 5:15 p. m. The second section, made up of twelve coaches and one sleeping car, left Kansas City at 5:35 p. m. The third section, composed of fourteen coaches and one sleeper, got away from Kansas City at 6:15 p. m. The fourth section, carrying ten coaches and five sleepers, left Kansas City at 6:45 p. m. The fourth or last section is the one that carries the sick soldiers.

Long Ride from St. Louis.

Should the troops all reach Omaha by 6 o'clock this morning just thirty-two hours will have been consumed in transporting them from St. Louis to Omaha. The passenger trains cover the distance between the two cities in sixteen hours and forty-five minutes. Had the soldier trains been given as good service they would have reached Omaha yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. In explanation of the long time required to move the troops from St. Louis to Omaha, it is said the army officials here requested the Missouri Pacific not to bring the soldiers here before daylight this morning if they could not get them before dark last night, as it would be difficult to unload the trains at night.
