VALUE OF A CRILD.

HIUAGO, BURLINGTON & New Jersey Judge Says It is Nearer One Dollar Than Five Thousand. Newspapers all over the country are commenting on the recent decision of the supreme court of New Jersey in Graham Arrive. against the Jersey City Traction company, Most of them think, comments the Hartford Current, that the two juries that successively awarded the plaintiff $5,000 damages * 8:10 am for the killing of his child by the company acted rightly, and that the setting aside of . 5 to pm these verdicts by the court was a mistakenot to use suy harsher word. They also pause a little over the affirmation in the opinion handed down that children "are an expense, as a rule, and not a pecuntary ment. He wishes it distinctly understood that he is as well stocked with the proper sentiment about children as anybody. He has four of his own, and their value to him is incomputable, although he does not expect ever to make a cent out of them. A very much larger sum than $5,000 would not compensate him for the loss of one of them. But as a judge it is his business and duty * 2:15 am to administer the law as he finds it, and the New Jersey statute says that damages awarded to the next of kin for the death of a child shall be based on the money loss suffered by the next of kin by reason of the loss of the child's services.
