A man may talk of disdaining physical strength and prowess until Doomsday, but the fact remains that he cannot ok at a picture of an cent in his physical pro portions, dauntless in his physical courage physical courage, and eager for a contest to the death with any omer, without a thrill of admiration. Mental superior ut is the "game orth the canlle," when it is strength?

The unhealthy man may gain the pity and even the admiration of men and women, but it is a question whether such a man ever thoroughly gains their respect. The man whose arteries bound with the rich, red blood of health carries with him a force and an intensity that command re-spect, even though he be slightly inferior mentally to the weak, nervous man. While no medicine in the world will add an inch to a man's stature, there is one famous medicine that will fill the veins and arteries with the rich, red, bounding blood of perfect health. It is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the great bloodmaker and blood-puriner. When the blood is pure and rich and red and plenty, and filled with the life-giving elements that nourish every tissue of the body, it is impossible for a man to suffer from ill-health of any description. In addition to apples, Commissioner Hatch is installing a quantity of pears, peaches, plums and grapes. With the fruit be second to none in the building. Secretary Driscoll of the Idaho commis-cion is happy. His fruit is coming on in large quantities, sufficient to load down his tables with all of the varieties known to the growers of the state from which he comes. He has received a large installment of peaches, pears, prunes, plums, both blue and silver, and also some nec tarine. He says that the fruit growers of the state are aware of the importance of the exposition and that from now on they will feature the fruit exhibit. Just at this time Secretary Stanton of Illinois is making a specialty of grapes. He is in receipt of 300 pounds of the fruit, including fifty varieties sent from the state experimental station at Champaign. This fruit is conceded to be the finest of its kind in the building. It has been surayed, which gives a bright, clear color and absolutely frees it from worms and insects. The Illinois fruit tables have been rearranged and now the center table contains nothing except pears. Ten bushels were placed on exhibition vesterday. In the lot there were twenty-one varieties; including everything from the big julcy Bartlett down to the little Seckel. Firemen luvent a Bit. Firemen Riels and Vanderford, who are members of the city department and who are stationed at the central engine house on the exposition grounds, are the inventors of a bridle bit that is attracting the attention of the firemen who are here in attendance upon the tournament that is being held upon the North tract. Some months ago these boys saw the necessity of having a bit that could be put in place quickly and at once they went to work to study out a plan. They have now succeeded and have manufactured a bit that has been adopted by Chief Redell for use on the FALL RIVER, Mass., Sept. 5.—At the bridges used on the horses kept at the expanding results of the bridges used on the horses kept at the exposition grounds. The bit works on a spiral spring and when not in use swings back of the under jaw of the horse. Executive Committee Goes Calling. After their meeting last night the members of the executive committee started out and devoted the balance of the evening to making informal calls upon the superintendents in charge of the several state buildings. At all of the places they were received in the most hospitable manner and at a number punch and light refreshments were served. The time was spent in a general discussion and in examining the buildings and their furnishings. The purpose of the members in visiting the state buildings was that they might become better acquainted and feel more like members of one great family. At the buildings that are not furnished with the facilities for lighting the calls were made early n the evening. The Illinois building was the last one reached and there the committee spent considerable time, being entertained by Major and Mrs. Hambleton.

Portraits of Chief Justices. The portraits of the chief justices of the United States have just been added to the exhibit of the department of justice by Major Frank Strong, representative of the department on the board of management. Major Strong was very fortunate in secur ing fine pictures of all the distinguished jurists who have presided over the supreme court of the United States, beginning with a magnificent picture of John Jay, who was appointed by Washington in 1789. These pictures, including Jay, Rutledge, Ellsworth, Marshall, Taney, Chase, Waite and Fuller, are artistically grouped around the large photograph of the United States supreme court room.
