OKLAHOMA DAY WILL BE A HUMMER

Governor Barnes and Nearly All His People Are Here to Celebrate the Territory and Its Wonderful Resources Today.

New England day was in a sense a misnomer, for, although the designation remains on the exposition calendar, there was nothing in its celebration to indicate that there was a New Englander on the grounds. But it needed no unusual attraction to make such a day enjoyable, and there was a big crowd in evidence all through the day and evening. The people moved busily through the building, crowded the avenues and reveled in the enjoyment of a flawless September day.

If the visitors had been permitted to order sunshine and inspiriting breezes as they do their groceries they could not have secured more delightful conditions than those which surrounded them. It was the beginning of the enchanting Indian summer of Nebraska. There was just enough breeze stirring to keep the atmosphere from becoming stagnant and the light autumn haze was sufficient to temper the sunlight to the exact extent that was desirable for comfort. It was the sort of a day that compels the visitor to enjoy even mediocre attractions and under its influence the exposition was an Inspiration to the most extravagant admiration.

Some time ago the local societies of New Englanders planned to have a big celebration, with speeches by Tom Reed and other distinguished citizens of their native states. But they were unable to secure the orators at this time and consequently this was New England day only in name. The local societies were largely represented in the attendance, but their presence was signalized by no demonstration and the features were confined to the ordinary attractions of the

There is a satisfactory prospect that the celebration of Oklahoma day today will be quite a notable event. In addition to the state celebration the arrival of a large excursion of Washington editors and the distribution of a dozen tons of luscious grapes by Nebraska growers will be special features of the day. There will be fireworks in the evening.

The consent was given and one of the prettiest programs was carried out and was listened to by an audience of several thousands. The Mexican airs were played and then the band rendered "Yankee Doodle" and "Dixie," after which there were more of the Mexican tunes, the concert closing with the Mexican National hymn, which was played, the members of the band rising to their feet and remaining uncovered. The audience seemed to catch the inspiration and as the sounds of the music floated out on the night air, everybody arose, the men doffing their hats. As the sound of the last note died away the piece was loudly cheered.

Immediately after the concert President Wattles and the members of the executive committee of the exposition invited Commissioner Nuncio and the members of the band to Markel's cafe, where an elaborate banquet was spread. Immense Area of British West Indian Islands in Path of Barbadoes Cyclone.

DAMAGES AT BRIDGETOWN AND ST. VINCENT

Saturday Night's Storm of Ten Hours' Duration and Many Fatalities Reported-Warned by New Indian Weather Service.

TRINIDAD, B. W. I., Sept. 15.-A steamer which has arrived here from Barbadoes reports that fearful havoc was caused there by hurricane on Saturday night.

Destruction of property was immense. It was believed over 150 persons were killed throughout the island and large numbers were rendered homeless and destitute. The shipping suffered seriously. The ship Loando, a bark, and two barkentines broke from their anchorages and were driven to sea, They had not returned when the steamer left Barbadoes. Many local vessels were wrecked or blown out to sea.

The reports from the country districts are incomplete, but there has been a heavy loss of government and private property. Assistance is urgently required.

Warning by Indian Weather Service. WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.-The weather bureau furnishes the following statement: "The hurricane which created such de struction in the West Indies on Sunday night was detected at its inception Saturday by the newly established West Indian hurricane service of the weather bureau of the Department of Agriculture. Advisory messages were sent to Colon, Curacoa, San ingo, Trinidad and Santiago. A message was also sent to Admiral Watson's fleet lying in the harbor of Caimanera, Cuba. "How completely these warnings were verified by the coming of the storm twentyfour hours later is shown by the press dispatches of this morning. While the destruction of life and property has been great there is no question that hundreds if not thousands of lives and millions of dollars worth of property were protected by the complete warnings given by the United States. These warnings were of profit to the commerce of all nations. "Without considering the saving in human life, they have from a commercial standpoint fully justified the president in asking for the necessary appropriation and in personally directing the inauguration of a complete and efficient meteorological service. Secretary Wilson said many do not realize that the area embraced in this daily atmospheric survey is fully as great as that covered by the continental area of the United
