POPOCRATS IGNORE THE LAW

Zeal to Save Money Leads State House Patriots to an Extrem.

BUTTERINE IN STATE INSTITUTIONS

Discount Manufacture Given Preference Over the Nebraska Cows by the Economical Managers of the Public Charities.

LINCOLN, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—The "reformers" at the state house who are posing as money savers and farmers' friends, and who have had printed on their official stationery such mottoes as "Stand Up for Nebraska," "Stand Up for the Children of Nebraska," and other equally hypocritical sayings have been detected practicing a deception that strikes directly at the pockets of every farmer in Nebraska. It is no more nor less than the feeding of oleomargarine and butterine to the helpless wards of the state. This imitation butter, that was declared contraband in the state of Nebraska in 1895, is being purchased of a packing firm at Kansas City, and the price paid runs from 2 1/2 to 12 1/2 cents per pound. Thus, instead of patronizing the farmers, dairymen and creameries of the state, the "money savers" at the state house send the money outside the state and pay a cheap price for an imitation article.

An examination of the vouchers filed in the state auditor's office shows that butterine was purchased quite generally for the state institutions last year and that it continues in favor up to the present date, although there is no record that any of the state officials and pretended "friends of the common people" use it themselves, or that they called for it to be served in the special cars when they were out on their numerous junking trips. The state institutions that are being served exclusively with imitation butter at the present time are the Institute for Feeble Minded Youth at Beatrice, the Asylum for Incurable Insane at Hastings, the Industrial Home for Boys at Kearney and the Institute for the Blind at Nebraska City, and it is probable that all the other institutions are getting the same kind of butter, although the contracts do not seem to be made directly with the Kansas City manufacturer.

Victims Can't Kick.

The last consignment that has been bought, so far as the books show, was on September 12, when the state paid for 1,000 pounds of "special solid" butterine for the Hastings asylum, the price being 10 cents per pound. It is the natural presumption that the "special solid" is fed to the Hastings incurables because it is folly to feed real butter to persons who never can become independent citizens and voters; that the blind children at Nebraska City are not expected to be able to detect the fraud, even though the butterine be colored pink, as is required in some states, and that the feeble minded children at Beatrice are entitled to nothing better. It is also said that the youths who are kept at Kearney are served with the imitation article in order that they may better appreciate the good butter when they are released and sent back to their homes. Such would naturally be the excuses offered by the "reformers and farmers' friends" who are on the state board.

The damaging discovery of the state butterine contracts leads to the asking of some very embarrassing questions regarding Holcomb's friendship to the butterine manufacturers three years ago and about the visits that have been made to several of the big packing houses by fusion candidates within the last month. The question will also come up as to how Poynter, an officer of the State Dairyman's association, can run for an office on a butterine platform. It may be taken for granted, now, that the plank in the popocratic platform calling for state control of the stock yards and packing houses means that the reformers have dreams of a future coalition tion of state affairs when under their "good management" the packing houses can be operated by penitentiary labor and butterine can be manufactured on such a grand scale that all the spotted cows will be driven out of the butter business within the state.

Porter's Especial Ingratitude.

In connection with this scheme of the state house reformers to save money at the expense of the farmers and butter makers of the state mention can be made of the ingratitude shown by Secretary Porter. The state officer from Merrick county is trying to secure a re-election on account of his record in the office and in attempting the impossible feat of "fooling all of the people all the time" he publishes a long list of fees he has collected. Along with this campaign compilation he finds it necessary to certify that he has obeyed the law and turned all the money collected into the state treasury. The fees he refers to came in because of the large number of articles of incorporation that have been filed and during the last twenty months the new creameries incorporated have exceeded in number any other branch of business. And yet, with so much of his office revenue and campaign thunder being paid in by the creamery men, Secretary Porter is on record as favoring state contracts with Missouri butterine manufacturers. He in company with other members of the state board have issued "standing permits" to the institutions to buy imitation butter in place of the real article, and the notation of these permits is made on the vouchers by the clerks before they are audited by the members of the board.

There are 155 creameries in the state of Nebraska, with a total investment of $500,000, and besides these factories every farmer in the state is directly interested in the butter business. But these interests receive no recognition from the sham reformers who have "brought state warrants to a minimum."

Weather and the Reunion.

The weather man is giving his brightest and best goods for the Grand Army veterans now to make up for the excess of moisture the first few days of the reunion. The attendance has been all that could be desired yesterday and today and the programs are full of things especially appreciated by the boys of '61. Paul Vandervoort came down from Omaha this morning and made an address. Prof. J. F. Taylor, candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, also made a good talk. The Sunday program will be a grand religious celebration in the Auditorium, with Chaplain Tate of the Second Nebraska regiment, principal speaker. The music will be both sacred and patriotic. It is expected that Hagenow's band will give an open air concert in the afternoon.

R. W. Reid, one of Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders, is visiting relatives in the city. He was a member of Troop G and participated in the first battle at Santiago, where he was wounded in the hip. Mr. Reid has only words of praise for Roosevelt as a man and as a commander.

Charles Weeks of the Second regiment has been made commander of the University battalion and the organization will be completed next week.

Lincoln Local Notes.

Omaha people at the hotels: At the Lincoln-Lon Levy, H. B. Thompson, M. P. Seider, A. J. Linn—W. C. Allen, T. W. Bodie, A. T. Johnson.

At the police station last night Jack Finley died of delirium tremens, after a day and night of being in the hospital. Finley leaves a wife and three small children.

The Jewish new year was celebrated last night by services at their temple. Rabbi Fischelberger of Cincinnati conducted the services and during the evening made a short address on "The Eternal Mystery."

The first of a series of entertainments was given at the rooms of the Lincoln Business college last night before a large and appreciative audience. The program was of a musical character and most of the numbers were given by the first-class instructors and the management feels that in the selection of Dr. D. W. C. Huntington as chancellor it has secured a man of broad scholarship and sound judgment as its head.

Dr. H. B. Ward of the University of Nebraska returned yesterday from Chicago, where he was attending the serious illness of his brother. Dr. Ward has spent his vacation in special work for the government on the white fish grounds in Lake Erie. He also attended the Phi Beta Kappa convention at Saratoga as a delegate from the University of Nebraska.

The church board of Grace Methodist church tendered a reception to its members last night. The program consisted of musical numbers by the Wesleyan quartet and Mrs. O. M. Hunter, an address and reports from the different departments of the church work. In his report of the Sunday school work Superintendent L. O. Jones stated that they had the largest school in the city, as shown by the last quarterly report, in average attendance of 355 pupils for each Sunday. Rev. L. T. Guild reported that during the year just closed he had received from probation and letters 135 new members. The church board disposed of all united in a social song time.

SHOOT NEIGHBOR IN THE BACK.

Details of a Murder Committed in Western Nebraska.

ALLIANCE, Neb., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Later developments in the Krause-Sylvester homicide show that for several years there has been blood between them which had been the cause of several wars. Krause claimed a piece of hay ground, part of which was in dispute between the sister of Sylvester's and Krause. The county surveyor had run a line through it which Sylvester did not acknowledge but kept on cutting the hay upon the disputed part, the value of which could not exceed $50. Krause was down in the field and ordered Sylvester to abandon his cutting. Hard words followed and resulted in Sylvester drawing his gun and running Krause from the field. About eight hours afterward while Sylvester was building a wire fence, Krause came up near him and with a Winchester rifle shot him in the back, killing him instantly. This shooting was done without warning and at a time when Sylvester was unarmed. The body lay where it fell until today awaiting the arrival of the coroner, who lives at Rushville. Four or five different people saw the shooting.

The death of Sylvester leaves quite a large family orphans, their mother having died not long since. Both men were quite well-to-do.

Short on School Room.

YORK, Neb., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—A serious problem confronts the Board of Education in the way of securing seating capacity sufficient to accommodate the increased number of school attendants. All the graded schools and the High school are overcrowded. In the High school this year there are nearly 150 students and it has been found necessary to increase the number of teachers in the city schools to eighteen. The crowded condition of the schools is directly due to the steady increase in York's population that has been going on for the past year or so. The other educational institutions located at York also report a gratifying increase in the number of students. York college opened this week with an attendance of 25 per cent greater than it has ever been before. The Ursuline school has students here from all over the northwest and some from far eastern states. There is not a suitable house to be found in the city, and every available store room has been taken by new merchants or artisans. R. Young of Omaha is arranging to put in a large line of notions at this place in the near future.

Seventh Day Adventists.

YORK, Neb., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—The annual state camp meeting of the Seventh day adventists will be held at York, beginning September 22 and lasting until October 3. Prominent members of the denomination will be here from all parts of the country. Elder N. P. Nelson, president of the Nebraska conference, will take charge of the meeting. Among those who will be present are Elder Luther Warren of Chicago, Elder G. A. Irwin, president of the general conference, N. W. Knable of Union College, and I. H. Morrison. Two large tents will be erected at the fair grounds, where the meetings are to be held, for the purpose of holding meetings, and about 200 family tents will be put up. A large attendance is anticipated.

Political Pointers.

FALLS CITY, Neb., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Senator Allen and James Mahan, fusion candidate for congress in the First district, spoke in the court house Friday night. A good crowd attended. The republicans here on Tuesday evening, September 20.

FALLS CITY, Neb., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the fusion committee on Friday A. J. Weaver was selected to fill the vacancy on the county ticket caused by resignation of Warren Hutchings. Mr. Hutchings was the silver republican nominee for the legislature. Mr. Weaver is a silver republican.

WEST POINT, Neb., Sept. 17.—(Special.)

"The democratic local representative convention has been called to meet in Pender on September 26. Cuming county will be able to name the nominee, as this county has a majority of all the votes of the convention. However, it is expected that they will throw their votes to Guy Graves of Pender. Cuming county will have fourteen delegates, Thurston five and Dakota seven.

FALLS CITY, Neb., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—The Phelan opera house was crowded to full capacity last night to hear the sixth of the joint discussions by Norris Brown, republican congressional candidate for the Sixth district, and W. L. Greene, the present populist incumbent. Mr. Brown, according to the terms of the agreement, had the opening and closing speeches here and Greene the naming of the chairman. For this position he chose G. M. Sullivan of this city. Mr. Brown, by reason of his plain, straightforward statements, and frank and genial manner, has won the favor of the audience from the start. He quoted facts and figures and instead of being answered in like manner elicited nothing from Greene but equivocation and gusto. He exposed the congressional record of the populist, the fact that he had voted neither for nor against the four most important bills of the last session, thus demonstrating the fact that the Sixth district is practically unrepresented. The people were shown how every promise and statement made two years ago by Greene of what conditions might be expected in the event of republican success had proven fallacious and utterly wrong. When Mr. Brown started his closing speech of ten minutes he was interrupted so frequently by Greene that the latter's own chairman was forced to compel him to desist and it was plain that the audience was disgusted with the lack of decorum shown by their representative. Box Bute county can safely be counted in the republican column this fall.

YORK, Neb., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—The populist, free silver republican and democratic of York county had a difficult time in putting up a county ticket. It took the triple alliance the larger part of the day to agree on the candidates. S. P. Mapps and J. A. Gilbert are the nominees for representatives and R. V. Whitcomb for county clerk. W. L. Kirkpatrick refused nomination for county attorney and George B. France was named in his stead. Resolutions of the usual character were passed regarding allegiance to free silver and the St. Louis platform, and the populist, free silver and referendum for Nebraska, approving of the present state administration and endorsing Allen and Stark.

RANDOLPH, Neb., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—The general conference of the Swedish Baptist church of the United States will convene at the new Baptist church in this city Monday, September 19, and will remain in session one week. It is estimated that at least 400 will be here, among them some of the leading Baptist preachers in the United States.

Music was rendered for the occasion and during the evening luncheon was served. It was quite a sociable affair and was greatly appreciated by the band boys.

Suicide at Juniata.

JUNIATA, Neb., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—John Newell committed suicide this morning just before daylight at his son-in-law's, John Sadder, where he had been staying for a short time. Some time about 5 o'clock Mrs. Sadder thought she heard the report of a gun, but did not think anything about it, but when they got up they missed John Newell and on searching for him found him in the buggy shed dead. He had gotten up in the night without awakening the family, got a shotgun, a 12-gauge, and gone out to the buggy shed, about 125 feet from the house. He went inside, sat down on the ground with his back to the frame work of a disk harrow, placed the breech of the gun in a piece of well curbing, bared his breast by laying back his coat and shirt, held the muzzle of the gun by his right hand and fired. He was lying on his back, his left hand deliberately pressed the trigger, sending the charge into his breast and heart, dying without a struggle. A hole was made in his breast the size of the barrel and the flesh was quite badly puffed and burned. He was about 60 years of age and in failing health and had worried over his inability to take care of three small children. The coroner held an inquest and the jury gave a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane.

Narrow Escape from Death.

HASTINGS, Neb., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Mrs. Fred Hibbler and her 5-year-old boy had a miraculous escape from death tonight. They were in their buggy going home when they attempted to cross the B. & M. main track at Denver avenue. Just as the buggy was on the center of the road the gates were lowered. This locked the buggy and its occupants on the track with the Burlington Flyer, No. 6, within 100 feet, coming at a high speed. Almost before Mrs. Hibbler could move the engine struck the rear wheels of the buggy and smashed the vehicle in several hundred pieces. At the same time tossing Mrs. Hibbler and her son several feet. They were picked up and found that neither had sustained any serious damage. The horse jumped the gate and ran away. Parts of the buggy were found nearly a block away from where the accident happened.

HASTINGS, Neb., Sept. 17.—(Special.)—The news has just reached Hastings that Dave Taggart, a former Hastings boy but now at Salt Lake City, has just been discharged from a hospital, having had his right leg cut off just below the knee.
