

STATE MEETING OF A. O. U. W.

Lincoln Lodges Getting Ready to Entertain Grand Lodge Delegates.

GENERAL NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL CITY

Soldiers of the Second Very Low from Typhoid Fever—Some New Corporations Chartered—Farmer Dies Suddenly.

LINCOLN, Sept. 21.—(Special.)—Members of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and Degree Lodges are making extensive preparations for entertaining delegates who will be present at the session of the grand lodge to be held in Representative hall October 4.

Eugene F. Parks, a member of Company F, Second regiment, is very low with typhoid fever at his home in Lincoln. He was taken sick since returning from Chickamauga.

Articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state today by the Riley-Hubbard company, which will do business in Omaha with a capital of $50,000.

Superintendent Jackson and his office force are busy preparing programs of exercises to be used in the observance of Liberty day.

Simon Alex, a farmer who was on his way home to Beaver City and stopped overnight with relatives in the city, was found dead in his bed this morning. It was found upon examination that death resulted from heart failure, brought on by a prolonged attack of asthma, from which disease Mr. Alex suffered for several years.

Mrs. Ann Rymer, through her attorney, has filed a petition in the district court praying for an injunction to restrain the city of Lincoln from taking any action against the city of Lincoln for damages claimed to have been sustained by her by reason of a fall on a defective sidewalk. The accident occurred in June of this year.

The young people of the First Christian church gave a reception to the university students last night. An informal program was rendered and delightful refreshments served. Many of the new students were present and met the young people of their own church.

Mrs. Sarah M. Rapp died at her late home in this city yesterday afternoon, aged 78 years. Mrs. Rapp has been in poor health a number of years and her death did not come as a surprise to relatives and friends.

Mrs. Luther P. Ludden received a message yesterday saying that her mother was seriously ill at her home in New York, and accompanied by her son John left immediately for that place.

Prof. D. B. Brace, who is at the head of the department of physics at the University of Nebraska, has just returned from a summer trip to Europe. Prof. Brace went over in the city of Paris on the last trip.

Charles Kennedy, a 15-year-old boy, was received at the penitentiary yesterday. Albert Herman, a farmer living six miles southeast of town, near the Colfax county line, came in yesterday afternoon and caused the arrest of Charles Booth, a young man who had been working for him, on the charge of adultery.

Methodist Conference. The Nebraska conference of the Methodist Episcopal church convened here yesterday at St. Louis, Mo., presiding, Bishop Fitzgerald of St. Louis, Mo., presiding, the day was devoted to the examination of undergraduates and the permanent organization of the conference will be effected today.

Instantly Killed. CRETE, Neb., Sept. 21.—(Special.)—Joseph Kompost, a young Bohemian farmer, living south of this city, was instantly killed yesterday evening by falling into the cylinder of a threshing machine while feeding it. The whole left side of the body was terribly lacerated. Deceased was a member of the Z. C. B. J., a benevolent Bohemian society, under whose auspices the funeral will take place.

Republican Nominations. WAHON, Neb., Sept. 21.—(Special.)—The republican convention met in this city today as per adjournment. Hon. W. J. Lehr chairman and F. J. Pickett secretary. The following strong ticket was nominated: County attorney, Marion Newman of Wahon; county commissioner Second district, Peter Rymel of Malvern; representative in the legislature, Frank Pollak of Prague and C. H. Gustafson of Mead.

Allen and Porter Speak. CRETE, Neb., Sept. 21.—(Special Telegram.)—The demo-pop campaign was opened in this county today by Senator Allen and Secretary Porter. They did not have either a very large or very enthusiastic audience.

Mortality Among Hogs. SHELBY, Neb., Sept. 21.—(Special.)—Peter Hasser, who lives about three miles from town, started to drive in forty hogs to market yesterday forenoon. By evening he had driven them only one mile and fourteen of his hogs were dead from overeating. He then hauled the remaining ones to Shelby in wagons. The animals weighed 250 pounds each.

Dies of Injuries. COLUMBUS, Neb., Sept. 21.—(Special.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Egger, aged 68 years, who lived with her son across the Loup river, and who was killed in the side by a bolt last Saturday, died from the effects of her injuries and was buried yesterday. She was internally injured. About two years ago she was attacked by a bull and severely gored.

Court at Tecumseh. TECUMSEH, Neb., Sept. 21.—(Special.)—The fall term of district court in and for Johnson county will convene in this city October 10. The petit jury has been drawn and there will be no grand jury. The docket contains nearly a hundred cases, half a dozen of which are of a criminal character.

On the Bee's Excursion Train. WESTERN, Neb., Sept. 21.—(Special Telegram.)—The Bee and Woodman excursion train passed through here on time, with ten coaches all well filled. Western leading the sale of tickets, selling sixty-five. A coach was reserved for western. A coach was appropriately decorated with banners.

Drive Away Non-Union Men. CLEVELAND, Sept. 21.—Another ineffectual attempt was made today by the officials of the American Wire company to drive away non-union men. Fifty non-unionists, mostly Poles, accompanied by two of the company's officers, started to march from a street car to the plant. They were met by 150 strikers, who were doing picket duty around the mill, and driven away. The police allege that no violence had been attempted and refused to arrest any of the strikers.

Troops Prepare to Occupy Cuba. WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—It is stated at the War department that no determination has yet been made as to whether the evacuation of Cuba by the Spanish would begin at the west or east end of the island, although the inclination seems to be that the evacuation should proceed from west to east.

Perusal of the Records Might Help Popoarts. Tell the Truth.

ADOPTS AT DISTORTING STATISTICS. Documents Show that There is Very Little of Merit in Their Boasted Cry of Helping the State.

LINCOLN, Sept. 21.—(Special.)—The members of the popoart party who are endeavoring to prove by a distortion of figures that the present state officials are doing a fearful thing for the state and who reject with scorn any suggestion that either the national administration or the good crops have any bearing on the showing they make could disprove their own assertions by quoting from the records showing the amount of unpaid principal on school lands and interest and lease of school lands.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

Table with columns: Year, Leases, Interest. Rows for 1888, 1889, 1890, 1891, 1892, 1893, 1894, 1895, 1896, 1897, 1898.

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

BETTER READ THE FIGURES

Perusal of the Records Might Help Popoarts. Tell the Truth.

ADOPTS AT DISTORTING STATISTICS

Documents Show that There is Very Little of Merit in Their Boasted Cry of Helping the State.

LINCOLN, Sept. 21.—(Special.)—The members of the popoart party who are endeavoring to prove by a distortion of figures that the present state officials are doing a fearful thing for the state and who reject with scorn any suggestion that either the national administration or the good crops have any bearing on the showing they make could disprove their own assertions by quoting from the records showing the amount of unpaid principal on school lands and interest and lease of school lands.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

BETTER READ THE FIGURES

Perusal of the Records Might Help Popoarts. Tell the Truth.

ADOPTS AT DISTORTING STATISTICS

Documents Show that There is Very Little of Merit in Their Boasted Cry of Helping the State.

LINCOLN, Sept. 21.—(Special.)—The members of the popoart party who are endeavoring to prove by a distortion of figures that the present state officials are doing a fearful thing for the state and who reject with scorn any suggestion that either the national administration or the good crops have any bearing on the showing they make could disprove their own assertions by quoting from the records showing the amount of unpaid principal on school lands and interest and lease of school lands.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

The figures below are taken from the records in the office of state superintendent of schools and show the amounts derived from the lease of school lands and the interest on unpaid principal on school lands purchased, being two of the items that go to make up the state appropriation:

In this table, the last year of the first Cleveland administration, the four years of the Harrison, four years of Cleveland and first year of McKinley administrations are given, so that an impartial observer will be able to see that there was a substantial increase in 1888, which was Harrison's first year, and that the amounts remained high until the democrats again took charge of national affairs.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN.

Deeds of daring that involve risk of life are always fraught with attractions for the crowd, and this morning when a painter scaled the flag pole above the Continental tower to a height of 150 feet and suspended himself in mid-air, calmly gliding the round pole and repainted the pole, he was watched by several thousand people on the streets below.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN.

Deeds of daring that involve risk of life are always fraught with attractions for the crowd, and this morning when a painter scaled the flag pole above the Continental tower to a height of 150 feet and suspended himself in mid-air, calmly gliding the round pole and repainted the pole, he was watched by several thousand people on the streets below.

The Continental block is four stories high. On the corner of the building is a clock tower which reaches a height of 25 feet. It is not larger around than a man's arm and on its top is a gilded ball.

The top of the tower was reached from the roof by means of a ladder; then began the feat of mid-air that attracted a crowd which filled the streets for blocks.

There is a pulley just beneath the gilded ball at the top of the pole and through the pulley runs the halyard used to hoist the flag. It was by means of this contrivance that the painter managed to get up the pole and foot rests of rope were improvised, and when these were made fast to the halyards the painter slowly pulled himself into the air. A paint can and brushes were tied to his waist and for more than an hour he worked with the steady and sure hand of a professional painter.

He was amazed and it is more than likely that he will locate a claim rather than go back to the frozen north.

Speaking of the Klondike region Mr. Brooks said: "All told there has not been more than $6,000,000 in gold taken out of the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

HEARD ABOUT TOWN.

Deeds of daring that involve risk of life are always fraught with attractions for the crowd, and this morning when a painter scaled the flag pole above the Continental tower to a height of 150 feet and suspended himself in mid-air, calmly gliding the round pole and repainted the pole, he was watched by several thousand people on the streets below.

HEARD ABOUT TOWN.

Deeds of daring that involve risk of life are always fraught with attractions for the crowd, and this morning when a painter scaled the flag pole above the Continental tower to a height of 150 feet and suspended himself in mid-air, calmly gliding the round pole and repainted the pole, he was watched by several thousand people on the streets below.

The Continental block is four stories high. On the corner of the building is a clock tower which reaches a height of 25 feet. It is not larger around than a man's arm and on its top is a gilded ball.

The top of the tower was reached from the roof by means of a ladder; then began the feat of mid-air that attracted a crowd which filled the streets for blocks.

There is a pulley just beneath the gilded ball at the top of the pole and through the pulley runs the halyard used to hoist the flag. It was by means of this contrivance that the painter managed to get up the pole and foot rests of rope were improvised, and when these were made fast to the halyards the painter slowly pulled himself into the air. A paint can and brushes were tied to his waist and for more than an hour he worked with the steady and sure hand of a professional painter.

He was amazed and it is more than likely that he will locate a claim rather than go back to the frozen north.

Speaking of the Klondike region Mr. Brooks said: "All told there has not been more than $6,000,000 in gold taken out of the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"It is not necessary for me to go to the Klondike. Of course there is work, but not more than one out of every 300 men can get employment. There are no new discoveries being made and not a claim has been located during the past six months."

"