This calamity statement was published in the "reform press" under the caption:

Then this popocratic compilation went on to show that during the year 1897 the total state tax levied against the counties was $1,181,919.76 and that the total tax paid during the same year was only $1,173, 232.17, making an increase in the delinquent list of $8,687,59. This fact was exulted over and the "reform press" article closed its dignified argument by shouting:

REV. E. W. WILCOX, PASTOR OF THE Medothist Eposcopal Church, Elgin, Neb., writes Dr. Shepard as follows, under date of August 30th, 1898; "I believe it is in line with my duty to my fellow men to recommend your treatment for catarrh and deafness. I will say what merely I know from personal experience. For a number of years I suffered from a catarrhal disease in my head, ears and throat. After public speaking or singing for a few minutes I would become hoarse with a feeling of fullness and irritation in the throat and bronchial tubes. My nostrils became stopped up, giving a nasal tone to my voice and causing continual headaches. I had not breathed through the left nostril for two years. Marked deafness came on with other symptoms until my hearing was very dull. This was the west affliction of all. "After waiting for some time to see what the result of Dr. Shepard's treatment has been I can now state that it is curative. My whole system has been thoroughly restored to good health and the local catarrhal symptoms have been mastered. The throat and nasal symptoms have disappeared and my hearing is excellent."

One of the Best Planned Train Holdups Ever Perpetrated Near Kansas City-Program is Carefully Carried Out.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 24.—Seven masked men held up the westbound Missouri Pacific passenger train, known as the Little Rock and Wichita express, at a point in the woods between Leeds and Dawson; seven miles from Kansas City, at 9:40 o'clock last night. To prevent interference they first smashed the telegraph instruments at the Belt line station, the function of the Belt line and the 'Frisco, near the scene of the holdup, and marched the operator, D. M. Hisey, before them to a point half a mile east. While two men covered Hisey the others flagged the train as it approached, quickly covered Engineer Slocum and Fireman Weston and compelled them to dismount, and detaching the engine and the Pacific express car, ran them down the track a mile and a half toward Dawson. The passengers were unmolested, but the porter, who attempted to interfere, was quickly sent to cover by a shot directed by one of the roadmen. At a desolate spot up the road the baggage car was quickly broken into, great quantities of dynamite placed upon the through safe, and the local safe placed on top of it. So much explosive was used that the car was literally blown to splinters and the safes thrown way to one side of the This morning nothing but fragtrack. ments of the local safe could be found, and the through box was a wreck, the top hav ing been blown off and the door wrenched and otherwise damaged. The explosion, which was of such force as to have been heard distinctly in Kansas City, undoubtedly destroyed any valuables in the safe and that the robbers themselves were not blown to atoms seems strange, so terrific was the blast. The express officials examined their

The mask of one of the men slipped and I tried to get a good look at him. Quick as a flash he hit me on the head with the butt of his revolver. They put seven sticks of dynamite on the big combination safe and set the portable safe on top of the dynamite. The car finally stopped and they set a fuse. I saw a match struck. They jumped out leaving me in the car. I pleaded with them and they finally let me jump down. We all moved up on the other side of the road. It seemed an age as we waited. The fuse had apparently refused to work, and they sent me to uncouple the engine from the baggage car. Just as I was doing it there was a flash and a roar. I fell to the ground stunned. When I recovered and regained my feet some one said, 'Git quick, git.' I started on a run down the track toward the rest of the train while the rest of the robbers who had come up by this time made for the express car."

During the day a liveryman in the southern portion of the city reported to the police that a horse and buggy that had been hired from his stable by an unknown man late last night returned alone this morning. In the buggy there was a gun case and gun. The liveryman was unable to give a good description of the man who had hired the vehicle. The police prefer to believe that John

Kennedy, whose connection with several train robberies in this vicinity is suspected, and who was but recently released on bail pending trial for the murder of Miss Schumacher, a grocery woman, was connected with last night's holdup. To the officers today Operator Hisey gave a card which he asserts was handed to him by one of the two men who entered his office last night, The card read: "We, the masked knights of the road, robbed the M.
