WORKING UP THE STOCK SHOW.

ENTRANCES NUMEROUS AND COMPETITORS ARE MANY

There is a great show of activity around the dairy building, where preparations are under way for the live stock exhibit, which opens Monday.

The girls and the smaller boys came on the trains, while the older boys drove across the country to Council Bluffs, where they boarded a motor and were taken direct to the grounds. After reaching the exposition the attendants started out to see the sights. They were escorted along the bluff track down through the buildings on the south side of the Grand Court and back through the buildings on the north side. After that they journeyed out to the Indian camp and through the Midway to the Iowa building, where they rested until it was time to start for home.

There are about 800 inmates in the Glenwood institute. A larger portion of them are able to work. They perform all the labor about the farm and in the shops. They milk and take care of the cows, raise considerable grain and are taught trades. This year they have sixty acres of orchard and have raised fifteen tons of grapes.

Order of Exercises for the Big Celebration at the Auditorium.—The second Swedish-American day will occur at the exposition Wednesday, and the committees that have the matter in charge have arranged an especially elaborate celebration. Some of the most prominent orators and musicians of that nationality in this country are expected to be present. The arrangements have been made to secure an exceptionally large attendance of the Swedish people. The previous celebration was given during the first month of the exposition, when the attendance was comparatively small. It is expected that on this occasion the real turn-out of Swedish-Americans will occur. The exercises of the day will be held in the Auditorium in the morning and afternoon, as follows:

MUSIC—Organ Solo: Sonata in F minor, op. 65, No. 10, by Frederic Chopin. Prof. A. D. Bodvorsky of Augustana Conservatory of Music, Rock Island, Ill. Address: Gordon W. Wattles, President of the Transmississippi Exposition, International Exposition.

Address: Rev. J. Sward, D. D., K. N. O., President of the Nebraska State Sunday School association to see the objects of the exposition. He is president of the association by virtue of his position as chairman of the promotion committee. It was the intention to have each day presided over by a different person, but at the close of motion by W. Semelroth of St. Louis prevailed, electing Mr. Sward to preside over the exposition by acclamation. Mr. Wallace then selected Mr. Semelroth, J. F. Drake of Topeka, Kan., and Rev. E. K. Bailey of Shenandoah, Ia., a committee to select three vice presidents and a secretary, one of the vice presidents to preside over each of the three days to come.

Why the Congress is Held.—In his address Mr. Wallace said the congress grew out of a two-fold desire—first, to have an opportunity to see the display of temporal wealth, power and prosperity of the school workers of national reputation from all parts of the country would be introduced. The congress, he explained further, is a unique and rather spontaneous gathering, not a convention, but just a gathering for the purpose of discussing methods of Sunday school work.

The first work of the congress was a bible study, which was conducted by Rev. George R. Merrill, D. D., of Chicago. The topic was the "Method of Four Steps," and was illustrated by the Twenty-third psalm. A symposium of addresses on Sunday school work followed. The first subject was "Normal Work," and was explained by W. J. Semelroth of St. Louis, editor of the International Evangelist; the second was on the "Home Department," represented by Mrs. Norton, of Toledo, general secretary of the Ohio Sunday School association, and the third was "House to House Visitation," by Hugh Cork of Minneapolis, field secretary for the state of Minnesota.

Notes of the Exposition.—Edward Wilder, treasurer of the Santa Fe department, accompanied by Mrs. Wilder, Mrs. Bartholomew and Mrs. Norton, all of Topeka, Kan., are in the city the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Muensterling. Yesterday they spent the day on the exposition grounds, visiting the points of interest.

L. N. Russell of the South Milwaukee Journal is an exposition visitor and is delighted with the show. He says that the month the exposition has been open, he has seen more of the exhibits than he has seen in all the months. He says that the features of the day's celebration would be of unusual interest, including an address by Chas. M. Dewey. He advised that this would be an excellent opportunity for the exhibitors in Omaha to show the representatives of their own state some attention.

After some discussion it was suggested by H. T. Clarke that steps be taken to effect a state organization with headquarters at Omaha. The committee on the part of the exhibitors throughout the state, J. E. Riley, secretary of the exposition, and Judge Elzezer Wakeley action was deferred until a meeting could be called at the Commercial club. Victim of Fritz Muller's Wrath is in a Precarious Condition.—Henry Engstadt, the exposition guard who was brutally assaulted by Fritz Muller, the saboteur man at Twentieth street, and the charges against him, were taken to the hospital and is in a critical condition, with little hope of his recovery. Both laws are broken and he is otherwise injured. A warrant is out for the arrest of Muller, charging him with assault with intent to commit great bodily harm. It has been issued by County Judge Baxter, before whom the hearing will be had. In addition to this the exposition authorities have instructed their general attorney, Carroll S. Montgomery, to bring suit for $10,000 damages against Muller. The suit will be instituted in the name of the exposition.

Engstadt is very weak and all of the nourishment that he takes is injected through his nose. He is conscious, but is unable to talk, consequently he cannot give the detailed account of the assault. People are anxious to see him, however, say that shortly after 11 o'clock last Sunday night Engstadt entered the place and informed Muller that he would have to obey the rules of the exposition and close his place. In reply Muller said the exposition was not running for the benefit of the people, but for the benefit of the exhibitors. He then struck the guard over the head, knocking him down.

After the affray Muller ran from the place toward Sherman avenue and meeting a couple of guards drew his revolver and threatened to shoot them if they interfered.

Feeble Minded Youth Visits.—One of the features of yesterday at the exposition was the attendance of 150 boys and girls of the feeble minded for the ground set apart for the Feeble Minded, located at Glenwood. They came early and remained until evening. They were attended by Dr. George Mogridge, superintendent of the institute, and a number of the attendants.

They milk and take care of the cows, raise considerable grain and are taught trades. This year they have sixty acres of orchard and have raised fifteen tons of grapes.

Order of Exercises for the Big Celebration at the Auditorium.—The second Swedish-American day will occur at the exposition Wednesday, and the committees that have the matter in charge have arranged an especially elaborate celebration. Some of the most prominent orators and musicians of that nationality in this country are expected to be present. The arrangements have been made to secure an exceptionally large attendance of the Swedish people. The previous celebration was given during the first month of the exposition, when the attendance was comparatively small. It is expected that on this occasion the real turn-out of Swedish-Americans will occur. The exercises of the day will be held in the Auditorium in the morning and afternoon, as follows:

MUSIC—Organ Solo: Sonata in F minor, op. 65, No. 10, by Frederic Chopin. Prof. A. D. Bodvorsky of Augustana Conservatory of Music, Rock Island, Ill. Address: Gordon W. Wattles, President of the Transmississippi Exposition, International Exposition.

Address: Rev. J. Sward, D. D., K. N. O., President of the Nebraska State Sunday School association to see the objects of the exposition. He is president of the association by virtue of his position as chairman of the promotion committee. It was the intention to have each day presided over by a different person, but at the close of motion by W. Semelroth of St. Louis prevailed, electing Mr. Sward to preside over the exposition by acclamation. Mr. Wallace then selected Mr. Semelroth, J. F. Drake of Topeka, Kan., and Rev. E. K. Bailey of Shenandoah, Ia., a committee to select three vice presidents and a secretary, one of the vice presidents to preside over each of the three days to come.

Why the Congress is Held.—In his address Mr. Wallace said the congress grew out of a two-fold desire—first, to have an opportunity to see the display of temporal wealth, power and prosperity of the school workers of national reputation from all parts of the country would be introduced. The congress, he explained further, is a unique and rather spontaneous gathering, not a convention, but just a gathering for the purpose of discussing methods of Sunday school work.

The first work of the congress was a bible study, which was conducted by Rev. George R. Merrill, D. D., of Chicago. The topic was the "Method of Four Steps," and was illustrated by the Twenty-third psalm. A symposium of addresses on Sunday school work followed. The first subject was "Normal Work," and was explained by W. J. Semelroth of St. Louis, editor of the International Evangelist; the second was on the "Home Department," represented by Mrs. Norton, of Toledo, general secretary of the Ohio Sunday School association, and the third was "House to House Visitation," by Hugh Cork of Minneapolis, field secretary for the state of Minnesota.

Notes of the Exposition.—Edward Wilder, treasurer of the Santa Fe department, accompanied by Mrs. Wilder, Mrs. Bartholomew and Mrs. Norton, all of Topeka, Kan., are in the city the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Muensterling. Yesterday they spent the day on the exposition grounds, visiting the points of interest.

L. N. Russell of the South Milwaukee Journal is an exposition visitor and is delighted with the show. He says that the month the exposition has been open, he has seen more of the exhibits than he has seen in all the months. He says that the features of the day's celebration would be of unusual interest, including an address by Chas. M. Dewey. He advised that this would be an excellent opportunity for the exhibitors in Omaha to show the representatives of their own state some attention.

After some discussion it was suggested by H. T. Clarke that steps be taken to effect a state organization with headquarters at Omaha. The committee on the part of the exhibitors throughout the state, J. E. Riley, secretary of the exposition, and Judge Elzezer Wakeley action was deferred until a meeting could be called at the Commercial club. Victim of Fritz Muller's Wrath is in a Precarious Condition.—Henry Engstadt, the exposition guard who was brutally assaulted by Fritz Muller, the saboteur man at Twentieth street, and the charges against him, were taken to the hospital and is in a critical condition, with little hope of his recovery. Both laws are broken and he is otherwise injured. A warrant is out for the arrest of Muller, charging him with assault with intent to commit great bodily harm. It has been issued by County Judge Baxter, before whom the hearing will be had. In addition to this the exposition authorities have instructed their general attorney, Carroll S. Montgomery, to bring suit for $10,000 damages against Muller. The suit will be instituted in the name of the exposition.
