Total admissions yesterday, 19,550. Total to date, 1,688,370.

The closing day of the first month of autumn was one that marked an epoch in the history of the exposition.

In addition to the occasion being Georgia day it was also a day set apart for the territorial pioneers of Nebraska.

It would seem that with the two celebrations heretofore mentioned the program for the day would have been filled.

It was filled, but there was another event crowded in among the other highlights.

The passing generation and the coming were on the grounds yesterday, the one reminiscent and the other inquisitive and enthusiastic.

Georgia's Day at the Fair. Editors and Statesmen Breathe Their Pride in Their Home State.

LINCOLN, Sept. 30.—(Special.)—John L. Webster has boasted that he has spent twenty-five years in self-sacrificing devotion to the interests of the republican party.

Going into the record a little further, it develops that some of Mr. Webster's work for the good of the party is of a very questionable character.

It was in the first race of the day, a selling plate for 3-year-olds and upwards, that Sloan was able to do better than second.

It is manifested again in all the sporting newspaper offices tonight, where the leading authorities in racing matters are printing double-headed eulogies of Sloan's successes.
