FRANK BURNS' EXCITING LIFE

Deceased Iowa Pioneer Organized the Court in Andersonville. IDA GROVE, Ia., Oct. 5 .- (Special) .- The week recalls one of the most interesting events of this well known man's life. Among many thousands of other union soldiers, he was captured by the confederates, number of those locked up inside the awful stockade at Andersonville prison.

Here it was that the true spirit of justice of the man manifested itself, and with a firm and unflinehing hand he saw that justice, summary in its nature but warranted by the circumstances, was dealt out. Among the many thousand suffering wretches inside that stockade were a few men whose greed turned them into thieves and outlaws of the worst kind. These men would prowl about at night, and would steal from the stores of those who had accumulated a few scraps of food for the next day. They would hold men up in the dark and rob them of what little they had, and many other crimes were laid at their doors. But about the worst thing these fellows did was to take food away from dying men-men who were literally dying of starvation. This kind of thing had gone on some time, and it was Frank Burns who undertook the leadership of a band of men to prevent further out-The offenders, themselves union soldiers, were captured and taken before a regularly organized court composed of other prisoners inside the stockade. They were given a fair and impartial trial, and the court passed the sentence of death in each case. It was carried out, and the men were hung inside the stockade by their comrades in arms.

This had its moral effect upon the whole camp. It was a lesson to others who might have done the same thing, had not a firm hand been stretched out against the offenders, and there was little if any more of the stealing from dying men. The organization of the punishment was one of the early incidents of the man who afterward became one of the most beloved and influential men in Ida county.

For years the people of this county kept Frank Burns in public office. For eighteen years he was a member of the Board of Edu cation, for eight years he was mayor of Ida Grove, and for eight years treasurer. At the time of his sudden death he was postmaster. The funeral services were held | called to order this morning the cross-exover his remains here Sunday afternoon. Postmaster E. P. Helzer, of Sloux City, attended, and he says he never saw so many people turn out to a funeral in respect to a eitizen. No man in Ida county was so well liked as Frank Burns, and this was demonstrated by the spirit of his neighbors and fellow townsman at the services Sunday af-

DES MOINES, Oct. 5.—Governor Shaw promises to be out of pocket as a result of liberality in extending loans to hundreds of members of the detail stationed at Camp McKinley. The government refused to issue pay prior to the return of the two regiments now home on furlough, and Governor Shaw in the goodness of his heart placed in the hands of the adjutant general $500 to be distributed in the form of loans of $5 each to the detail. Before all entitled to the money had received it some in " "'s of the detail reappeared at the desk of the disbursing agent of the government, securing $10 by algning fictitions names. As a consequence some members of the detail are without the money intended for them.

OFTUMWA, Ia., Oct. 5 .- (Special.)-Next Friday afternoon and evening society men and women of Ottumwa will pose as public entertainers inside the sawdust ring, and while they do their "turns" on the trapeze, on the slack wire and on the backs of trained horses, other leaders of the smart set will clamber over the seats as dispensers of peanuts, candy popcorn and photos of the leading performers in costume, or entice the wary nickel from behind the lemonade stands, where they will serve customary red circus beverage, and as a side dish, 'hokey-pokey" ice cream. Leaders of the ball room and club circles will be in the ticket box, in the side show, and will act as "barkers" in front of the canvases, to inform a susceptible public what they have on the inside. The indications now are that the affair will be a success, both in receipts and in glory. The Ottumwa Hospital association, composed of charitable women of the city who maintain a free institution, is the promoter of the event, and whose coffers are to be benefited by the entertainment. Two performances are to be given, afternoon and evening. A tent with a seating capacity of 3,000, together with several minor canvases, has been erected, in which daily rehearsals are now going on. There will be parades both afternoon and evening. A feature of the parades will be floats representing all the business houses of P. Howes, deceased, appellant, from of the city. The program of events is as yet a carefully guarded secret, but the ladies promise all the features to be seen in an up-to-date traveling circus, including a menagerie, T. D. Foster, Ottumwa's millionaire pork packer, is to be ringmaster. A concert will be another feature after each regular performance, in which the best musical tulent in the city will take part. The country for miles around has been plastered with gaudy lithographs and posters announcing the society circus, railroads will run special trains on that day and the prospects are for a large crowd.
