The stormy weather in the northwest was an additional influence. It soon developed, however, that in the face of this informa-tion the people were selling. Then came a denial of the export business at the sea-board and there were reports also that the exporting itrms were undenlably tak-ing profits on long wheat. The actual ex-port clearings were not up to the usual high total and the primary market receipts indicated that a big export business could be supplied and leave a surplus here be-sides. Though the bulls reinforced their early battle with reports of large flour sales in the northwest and told of a snow storm in North Dakota, trade was inclined to wait until noon to see what the increase in the visible would be. There was quite a large trade in oats at higher prices. The demand was urgent at the beginning, but later in the day quite a few of the early buyers turned sellers and caused the market to lose nearly all of the advance. Provisions opened firm in sympathy with grains, despite an easier hog market and large receipts here and elsewhere. Later in the session, when grains began to raily and when it became known that thero was a large demand for cash ribs, there was a raily in the whole list. January pork opened unchanged at $2.17%, rose to $2.20, sold off to $9.12%, then recovered to $9.20, the closing figures. The range in lard and ribs was inconsequential. was scarcely relieved by a single feature. Even the "trust" stocks fell into neglect after a long period of erratic fluctuations. Tobacco was razed down at the opening on the explicit announcement that the much talked of plug tobacco combination had once more fallen. There were injected into the dullest portion of the day's trading two successive transactions of 12500 shares and 6.000 shares, respectively, of Tobacco preferred at 15, "sellers 30" This repre-sented a transaction of over $2,000,000 and was supposed to show the disposal of the company's treasury stock, application for the listing of which was made yesterday. The common stock was rather feverish for a time after this sale, but settled down into steadiness and neglect. There was an up-turn in Sugar also during the day, which was explained by the news that certain grades of soft sugars had been advanced in prices. Bealizing subsequently wiped out practed all the advance. The railroad list held generally firm throughout the early part of the day, but subsequently cased off in sympathy with Sugar and the Northern Pacifies. The daily attack on the coalers lacked vim and the decline only reached a point in New Jersey Central. The traffic statement of St. Paul for the second week in October, showing an increase over last year's earnings of nearly 144.000, is undoubtedly a prety fair indica-NEW YORK, Oct. 18.-The following an the closing quotations on mining stocks:

 Parameter
 Parameter about the same prices as were paid last Cow stuff was in fair request at the mane prices current yesterday, the demand being good in proportion to the offerings, which were far from large. The most of the cattle here were stock-ers and feeders, and as there was very little country demand the general market was not overly active. Still a good many cattle changed hands, local speculators taking hold quite well. The market was no worse than yesterday. The general run of feeders can safely be called 159200 lower. Choice or fancy cattle as a mat-ter of course would show less decline, but they were all of 10015c lower. Repre-sentative sales: STEERS.
