BILLY WALKER IN A SERIOUS CONDITION

Andy Dupout, Who Dealt the Rain of Blows, Disappears While Chief Carroll Walts for Some One to Swear Out a Warrant.

Billy Walker lies dying at a room in the Blum hotel at South Omaha from the effects of a blow or blows delivered by Andy Dupont of Kansas City during the course of a prize fight on Monday night. It was lus pefore 12:30, in the twelfth round of the fight, that Walker sank slowly to the floor under the rain of blows showered on hin by Dupont. He has not since regained consciousness and at midnight last night the surgeons who are attending him said he could not live and that his death might ensue at any time. Walker appeared to rally a little about noon on Tuesday and gave some signs of returning life, but before night all these signs had vanished and his strength began to slowly ebb away.

Walker has been lying unconscious evesince the finish of the fight at midnight Monday night, and there is danger that he will die as a result of the injuries received. Yet Chief of Police Carroll has not made the slightest effort to apprehend Dupont. As an explanation of his non-action the chief declares that he is waiting for a warrant to be sworn out for Dupont's arrest, despite the fact that this crime under the laws of Nebraska took place directly before his eyes. In the meanwhile those who are liable to punishment for participating in the fight are busily engaged in making themselves Dupont has apparently separated himself from Omaha, South Omaha and this section of the country, for he is nowhere to be found. The officials who took part in the affray have also disappeared, and if they are still in the city they are not receiving

The fight was witnessed by Chief of Police Carroll and a majority of the police force of the pork-packing town. They saw it from start to finish, and beheld the blow that stretched Walker out upon the floor of the arena. If they did not, they must be numbered among that class who have eyes and do not see. Yet all the participants in the fray were allowed to disperse without molestation. Most of them remained over night in South Omaha.

Walker is Still Unconscious.

In the meanwhile Walker has been lying in a very precarious condition. When he was picked up and carried to his corner he was unconscious and has not regained consciousness since. He bears no serious outward marks of injury. The only noticeable bruise is located on his right eye, which is badly discolored. The man appears to have Handspring, b. c., by Prodigal considerable difficulty in breathing, and it is therefore feared that he is suffering from internal injuries. He has been lying in room in a boarding house a few doors north of Blum's hall, where the fight took place.

There was no indication given during the There was no indication given during the course of the fight, that Walker was receiving punishment more than he could stand, and consequently the officials of the fight did not feel called upon to bring the bout to an end on account of any fear that the fighter was receiving serious injuries. While it was apparent that he was becoming weaker from the blows he received at Dupont's hands, yet at the beginning of each round he stepped to the center of the ring briskly and apparently in good condition. This was even the case at the beginning of the twelfth and final round. According to the testimony given by spectators, Walker started some rushing tactics in a wild sort of way. Dupont met these rushes with straight jabs and hooks that rapidly weakened his opponent. Finally, in one of the rushes, Dupont landed a hard blow upon the point of Walker's tay that brought him to the ground. He rolled over on his back and at the conclusion of the ten seconds his seconds rushed out to him and found him unconscious. The spectators state that Walker's injuries were not caused by his striking the floor He went down once before, but not with enough force to injure him. In the knockout he did not fall violently, but his knees gave way beneath him, he sank down on one elbow and rolled over on his back From these statements it would seem, therefore, that whatever injuries the man sustained were caused by the blows of hi opponent

Efforts to Revive Him Fail. The spectators cheered and dispersed without thinking that the knockout was more than an ordinary kind. The seconds thought likewise, but finally, as their efforts to resuscitate the man failed, they were forced to believe that the man had received serious injuries. No physician was called until it became certain that ordinary efforts to bring him back to consciousness were of no avail. This fact became certain

Dr. James Kelley of South Omaha, who i attending Walker, said at 2 o'clock yesterday that there was a chance of bringing him through yet, although it is remote.

about 3 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Mayor Ensor and Chief of Police Carroll have made arrangements by which they will pay the expenses of the illness of Walker, and though the relatives of the latter are not entirely satisfied, they have agreed to drop the matter on this condition, in case Walker

EVENTS ON THE RUNNING TRACKS.

Bona Dea Has it All Her Own Way in Race for McGrathiana Stakes. NEW YORK, Oct. 18.-At Morris oark the opening event was a -furiongs for selling platers, maiden jockeys. Charentus was seven-furlongs with maiden jockeys. Charentus was a hot favorite and fully justified the choice by winning all the way. For the Castleton stakes, Satin Slipper was an odds-on favorite and ran like one, too, for she took the lead when the flag fell, winning with something to spare. There were but four starters in the McGrathiana stakes and Lillian B was the favorite. Bona Dea made all the running and won in a drive, while in the last few jumps the favorite managed to get the place away from l'Alouette. Summaries:

niversity of Nebraska Alumni Undertakes to Purchase the Big Exposition Instrument.

Those who have had the pleasure of hear ng the big organ in the Auditorium at the exposition will probably be glad to learn that there is a prospect for the instrument remaining in the state. The alumni of the University of Nebraska is interesting itself in the subject and has hopes it may be able o purchase the organ for the university. meeting of the alumni was held at Lincoln Monday evening and great interest in the project was shown. This was heightened materially when it became known that subscriptions had already been made to the purchase price which left but $2,500 to be aised by the alumni, the price being set at $7,000. It has been decided to call upon each graduate of the university for a subscription of $10 toward the amount needed o complete the purchase price. Prof. Willard F. Death of Thomas Oscar Murphy While the death of Thomas Oscar Murphy came as a severe blow to his friends and relatives it was not unexpected. past the deceased has been suffering from oulmonary troubles and at the suggestion of his brother, James, he spent several months in the south. Upon his return he appeared to be better and the fact that he was at home again and among his relatives brightened him up considerably and no doubt prolonged his days. All of the brothers of the deceased were untiring in their efforts to do all in their power to put off the fatal day, and to the kind and careful treatment accorded the doctors ascribe the lengthening of his life. Funeral services will be held at St. Bridget's church at 8:30 o'clock this morning, Rev. Gleason officiating. The interment will be at Neola, Ia. All of the relatives and a number of friends will accompany the remains to their last resting place.

Architect Davis of the Board of Education has been authorized to make a report of all changes in plans made in the new school buildings, and also to fix the price the contractors are entitled to on account of these changes. The changing of heating plants from hot air to steam has caused a reduction in the cost which will amount to considerable. This report of Mr. Davis will be submitted at a special meeting of the board to be held next Monday night.

Turned Down Along with the Initiative and Referendum.

At an uneventful meeting of the city ouncil last night the ordinance by which a proposition to vote $200,000 market house bonds was authorized was repealed by a unanimous vote. On account of financial reasons it was not thought advisable to submit the proposition. It was also determined that, in accordance with the recent decision of the district court, the initiative and referendum should not be submitted at the coming election. The petition for the submission of the matter was placed on file.

There were a couple of interested speciators at the humdrum proceedings. One was Joe Southard, an old-time city clerk of Omaha, who occupied a seat of honor by the side of City Clerk Higby. GERMAN DAY ENDS IN DANCING Last Night to Conclude the Fer tivities of a Notable Exposition Celebration. The Germans, ushered out their day at he exposition by a grand ball at Turner hall last evening. It was given under the auspices of the united German societies of the city. Although weary from an eventful day at the grounds, the visitors were not too tired to join the festivities of the evening, and inspired by the tunes dear to every fatherlander's heart they danced far into the night. The hall was decorated with the flags of the empire hung with patriotic, yet sentimental, feeling beside the stars and stripes of the states, while the emblems of the different societies participating in the exercises of the day were conspicuous among the folds of the bunting. Music was furnished by Thiele's orchestra, stationed on the stage before a scen representing a landscape in the fatherland At either side were palms and potted plants The dancing began at 8:30 o'clock. But the visitors returning late from the exposition grounds continued to arrive until midnight. They were greeted by the members of the executive committee, representing twenty-four of the German societies, consisting of Theodore Sinhold, Hermann Busch, Fritz Bloemer, Charles Rumohr, Philip Andres, Jacob Lutz, Charles Epplen, Peter Laux and Anton Gross. The hall was filled before midnight and in

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS the gallery were many who preferred to listen to the music and watch the dancers than join in the galety themselves. At midnight the dancing was interrupted long enough to allow Philip Andres, vice president of the arrangements committee, to present to the visitors from Loup City Neb., the gold medal offered to the delegation coming from the greatest distance to participate in German day. Then the waltzes, two steps, schottisches and polkas began again and the merry-makers swung and circled to the music as with a renewal of life and vigor.

The committee in whose charge the ar rangements for the observance of the day rested consisted of the following: Fred Krug, Philip Andres, Edward Rosewater, R Noack, Dr. Max Adler and Theodore Sinhold

RALLY IN THE NINTH WARD

Republican Voters Hear the Doctrin of the Party Preached by Earnest Speakers.

The rally of the republican voters of the Ninth ward at the rooms of the Ninth Ward Republican club was well attended last night and those present resolved to worl zealously for the success of the republican ticket at the coming election. President Henderson of the club, who presided over the meeting, announced that the voters o the ward would roll up a majority of 300 for the republican ticket. Those present declared that they would make good this prediction.

William I. Klerstead, candidate for county commissioner in the Second district, addressed the meeting on the good results acomplished by the republican commissioners during the last year. His claims for th election of the republican candidates for th board were well received.

Edgar J. Cornish addressed the meeting and found his text in the first plank of the conference should soon be held with the platform put out by G. M. Hitchcock, pop ocratic nominee for congress.
