

COUNCIL NEWS OF INTEREST FROM OMAHA.

MINOR MENTION.

Stockert Carpet Co., 265-297 Bwy. Moore's food kills worms and fattens. Dell G. Morgan, druggist, 142 Broadway.

Miss McCarthy has returned after spending the summer in Manitou, Colo. W. L. Douglas and bride have arrived home and for the present will reside at the Grand hotel.

Mrs. J. L. Harrington of Geneva, Ill., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. B. Hayden of Glen avenue. Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Scott of Loup City, Neb., are entertaining their sons, G. H. and L. G. Scott.

Pottawattamie tribe, No. 21, Improved Order of Redmen, will meet in regular session tonight. B. J. Stevenson and E. Henry of Tinley, Ia., are the guests of Mrs. O. G. DuBois on North Eighth street.

A. Belding and May L. Hill, both of Omaha, were married this morning. Justice Vign performing the ceremony. J. C. Bixby, heating and sanitary engineer, plans and specifications for heating, plumbing and lighting, 292 Main, Council Bluffs.

A. Belding and May L. Hill, both of Omaha, were married this morning. Justice Vign performing the ceremony. J. C. Bixby, heating and sanitary engineer, plans and specifications for heating, plumbing and lighting, 292 Main, Council Bluffs.

Don't you think it must be a pretty good laundry that can please so many hundreds of customers? Well—that's the "Eagle," 724 Broadway.

L. H. Shoup, manager of the Odd Fellows Publishing Company of Maxwell, Ia., is in the city attending the sessions of the grand lodge and state Rebekah assembly.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Collett of Denver were in the city yesterday for a short time visiting friends. Mr. Collett was formerly a resident of Council Bluffs, but is now connected with the Denver Times.

Manager James Harrington of the Doherty and wife have gone to Chicago, where Mr. Harrington will combine business with pleasure and will look to the securing of several attractions for his house.

Officer Swanson, who was kicked out of the Metropolitan hotel a few evenings ago by the proprietor, Charles Bierwirth, has information against the latter yesterday in the superior court, charging him with assault and battery.

Mr. Reuben Perkins and Miss Kathleen Kelly were married last evening at the Christian church parsonage. Rev. S. M. Perkins, brother of the groom, officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends.

Andrew Erickson of Garner township, a former subject of the king of Denmark, was granted his naturalization papers yesterday in the district court by Judge May. Jens Carlson, a Dane, 53 years of age, who had resided in this country for seven years, but could not speak English, was refused his.

President Kirkland of the Council Bluffs Woman's Sanitary Relief commission has issued a call for all members to be at the New Pacific hotel this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to meet Mrs. E. Reynolds of Des Moines, Mrs. Bellamy of Knoxville and Mrs. Harcourt of Des Moines, members of the State Sanitary commission, who are in the city attending the Rebekah state assembly.

James Peterson, an old man 70 years of age, who resides on Twenty-first avenue in the southwestern part of the city, was struck by Milwaukee passenger train No. 25 yesterday morning at the intersection of the Eighth street and Fourteenth avenue. He was seriously injured, his jaw being broken and his face cut in several places. He was removed to the Women's Christian Association hospital.

John J. Fisher, a colored porter whose home is in Jersey City, N. J., died suddenly at 2 o'clock yesterday morning in a Pullman dining car in the Milwaukee yards. He was one of a crew which came here a few days ago in charge of the Pullman car. A party of exposition visitors from the east, Fisher was engaged in a game of cards with other members of the crew when taken suddenly ill. A physician has hastily summoned, but the man died in about half an hour. The body will be sent to Chicago.

Physical perfection, the secret of beauty. Call and send for "Viavi Message." Viavi Co., 228 McClain Block.

N. Y. Plumbing company, Tel. 256.

BOYD OF EDUCATION MEETING. Pupils Will Be Allowed to Contribute on a Battle-Ship Fund.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education held last night Superintendent Hayden reported that the proposed plan to hold special exercises in the city schools yesterday in celebration of Lafayette day had been abandoned, but in place of the permission of the board that the pupils might be permitted to contribute to "The American Boy" fund. This fund is being raised by voluntary contributions from the boys and girls of the United States and is to build a battleship to replace the ill-fated Maine. The new battleship is to be named "The American Boy." Captain O. W. Butts and Lieutenant Mac Hanchett and Maurice DeKay comprise the local committee. The permission was granted and within the near future a day will be set aside for special patriotic exercises in all the city schools and the pupils afforded an opportunity to contribute to the fund.

Chairman Stewart of the teachers' committee reported that all the teachers and substitutes were ready to whom the matter had been referred, the salary of Miss Maggie Wallace was increased from $50 to $60 a month and that of Miss Drake, a former substitute, now assigned to regular work in the Washington avenue building, was fixed at $40 per month.

On the recommendation of the committee on fuel and heating the new boiler recently placed in the High school building by Contractor Gilbert was accepted.

The board decided not to renew the insurance on the different school boilers as the policies expired but to carry the risk itself.

The committee on fuel and heating was given power to act in the matter of purchasing covering for the steam pipes in the different school buildings.

Superintendent Hayden extended an invitation to the members of the board to attend the sessions of the meeting of the Southwestern Iowa Teachers' association which will be held in this city next month and at his request the schools will be closed on Friday, November 4, to enable the teachers to attend that day's sessions of the association.

Chairman Spruit of the committee on fuel and heating reported that W. S. Keelme had failed to complete his contract with the board for supplying the district with cord wood and the secretary was instructed to notify Mr. Keelme that if he did not file his bond within five days the contract would be annulled. It being the first regular meeting of the month the allowing of bills occupied the remainder of the session. Members Cooper and Sims were absent.

Sullivan is having a big run on fresh oysters, but he keeps up with the trade and always has a supply. His shipments come in daily.

Walter Johnson, lawyer, notify. Sapp book Collections notice, every body in U. S.

Part 2 of the Bee's photographs of the exhibition is now ready and can be had at the Council Bluffs office.

that there were ninety-nine delegates present, being only a short distance from the full number. During the session addresses were made by Past Grand Master Jones of Kansas, who was introduced by Past Grand Master Evans; Past Grand Master Bula of Clinton, Past Grand Master Tilton of Ottumwa, Past Grand Patriarch Genney of Des Moines, Rev. P. W. Evans of Des Moines and others. Mrs. Bary of Des Moines read a letter from the Iowa Sanitary commission extending its thanks for the aid rendered by the Rebekahs throughout the state in providing for the soldiers. The letter said that the good work of the Rebekahs was the best received by the commission. It also introduced Mrs. E. Reynolds of Des Moines, representing the commission, who made a short address, giving an account of the work done for the soldiers of the state and personally thanking the Rebekahs for their generous aid to the commission. It also introduced Mrs. E. Reynolds of Des Moines, representing the commission, who made a short address, giving an account of the work done for the soldiers of the state and personally thanking the Rebekahs for their generous aid to the commission.

Sullivan's fresh fish and oyster market has developed into one of the biggest things of the kind in the entire country. One thing about his market that pleases is that you can always get what you want, and you get it at the lowest prices prevailing anywhere.

Those desiring copies of the Jubilee edition of the Daily Bee can secure them at the Council Bluffs office of the Bee.

In the district court yesterday Charles Downs, indicted for horse stealing, pleaded guilty and was given a sentence of three days in the county jail. Downs stole a horse belonging to D. E. Weightman of Norfolk township, July 7 of last year, but was not captured until early last June.

The trial of Hans Frabm, a Stain street saloon keeper, charged with selling intoxicating liquors to Frank Kissel and two other minors, which was commenced yesterday afternoon, came to an abrupt termination after the testimony of the main witness for the state, Frank Kissel, had been given. Judge May took the case and ordered a verdict returned for the defendant. The case came on appeal from the court of Justice Vign, where Frabm had been fined $50.

This is the time of the year when oysters are palatable. Sullivan's is the place to get what you want.

Those desiring copies of the Jubilee edition of the Daily Bee can secure them at the Council Bluffs office of the Bee.

Real Estate Transfers. The following transfers were filed yesterday at the Council Bluffs office of the Bee:

Sigal McDowell and wife to Almon C. Ives, new n.w. 20-14-40, w. d. $82. Emma, D. S. Johnson, M. C. Townsend, S. Stillwell, John Townsend, J. H. Henderson, E. C. Cameron.

Relief of members... $44.28. Relief of widows and orphans... $74.31. Relief expenses... $12.82.

Available assets June 30, 1898... $12,022.29. Number lodges enrolled December 31, 1897... 29. Charters reclaimed... 8.

Warden Angus Mercer of Greenfield introduced a resolution that section 9 be added to Article IV of the constitution of the Rebekah assembly under duties of delegates. The section provides that it shall be the duty of each delegate to the assembly to request from the grand lodge a list of deceased members, also their instructions, if any, to the delegates for the following assembly. This request to be made by delegates from said lodges in ample time for their deliberation before assembly convenes. Also that each delegate must make either a report or a resolution of the proceedings of the state assembly to all the lodges in his district not later than the second regular meeting after the close of the assembly. The resolution was referred to the committee on constitution and by-laws.

A resolution making the Iowa Odd Fellows published at Maxwell, the official organ of the assembly, was adopted.

Miss Eva De Hard, a delegate from Red Oak, was reported to be seriously sick at her boarding house and a committee was appointed to call on her and tender whatever assistance necessary.

Colonel Saunders, in extending a welcome on behalf of the local lodges, said he did so in the name of 800 Council Bluffs Odd Fellows, and that he was proud to say that they were meeting in a temple erected by Odd Fellows, owned entirely by Odd Fellows and almost free from debt. The members of the order, he said, represented the highest types of citizenship.

The response to the addresses of welcome was made by Grand Master J. C. Koonz of Burlington, who expressed the thanks of the visiting officers and delegates for the cordial and hearty reception, and the generous manner in which they were being entertained. His speech was mainly eulogistic of the order.

Short speeches were also made by Hon. O. C. Bloomer of this city, R. L. Tilton of Ottumwa, Lieutenant Governor Millman and others. Lieutenant Governor Millman said a glowing tribute to the Rebekahs, saying, as he pointed to where the delegates to the state assembly were seated, "Here today is the strength of Odd Fellowship."

In the evening the officers and delegates to the grand lodge and state assembly were entertained at a banquet by the local members; when a dance program of twenty-five numbers was carried out.

Sullivan, the grocer, is prepared to fill orders for fresh fish and oysters, and to send notice to all the surrounding towns.

Miss Julia O'Brien, teacher of piano, 533 Willow avenue, Fall and winter term.

Snap Shots, a beautiful souvenir of the exposition, featuring the prominent buildings, together with a bird's-eye and general views of the grounds, can be had at the Council Bluffs office of the Bee for 25 cents. It is just the thing to send to your friends at a distance.

Equal Suffragists Gather. Miss Susan B. Anthony Urges Her Ideas on the Meeting.

The principal feature of the opening session of the twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Iowa Equal Suffrage association held last night in the auditorium of the First Baptist church, which was filled to the doors by an interested audience, was the address by Miss Susan B. Anthony, the noted suffragist of Rochester, N. Y. Miss Anthony was in bad voice, owing to a cold, and experienced considerable difficulty in completing her address, but managed to hold the attention of her audience to the close. Some of the ideas she advanced were now and she urged that the women of Iowa accept no half measures but insist on entire suffrage or nothing.

She called attention to the fact that after the negro was enfranchised his race was devoted to the party which was in power at the time. She asked the reason why no party for selfish reason alone takes up the cause of women, and answered it by saying that it is because politicians know that women if allowed to vote will vote for the party which is in power at the time. She said that men had come to believe that any movement in which women are interested, such as movements for social purity, for temperance and religious purposes, are for women only and they hold themselves apart and do not interest. It is useless to enlist minor parties. Women must secure the attention and interest of the politicians of the two great parties, one or the other of which inevitably dominates the national government. For the last forty years women have been struggling for the freedom, but now if they are to accomplish their desire they must find means to reach the politicians and the political papers of the two great parties.

Other numbers of the program were a vocal solo by Mrs. W. J. Leverett, an address of welcome by Hon. D. C. Bloomer on behalf of the local club, an address of greeting by Mayor Jennings, who expressed warm approval of the cause, a response to these addresses by the president, Adelaide Ballard, of Hull, Ia., and a recitation by Miss Allie Woolsey of Webster City.

The convention will last over tomorrow, concluding with a meeting of the executive committee on Saturday morning. Mrs. Carrie Chapman-Catt of New York, national organizer, is in attendance and will deliver an extended address this evening. She and Miss Anthony are the guests of Mrs. P. J. Montgomery of Fourth street while attending the convention.

Sullivan's fresh fish and oyster market has developed into one of the biggest things of the kind in the entire country. One thing about his market that pleases is that you can always get what you want, and you get it at the lowest prices prevailing anywhere.

Those desiring copies of the Jubilee edition of the Daily Bee can secure them at the Council Bluffs office of the Bee.

Real Estate Transfers. The following transfers were filed yesterday at the Council Bluffs office of the Bee:

WARRANT OUT FOR STATERER

Further Revelations in the Mysterious Des Moines Poisoning Case.

Officers Are Looking for the Fello, but as Yet Are Unable to Locate Him—Said to Be a Hard Character.

DES MOINES, Oct. 19.—(Special Telegram.)—In the Stader mystery here, a warrant was issued this evening for the arrest of Milton Stader on the charge of murdering his wife, Jennie Stader. After her death Sunday afternoon Stader, who was a volunteer at Camp McKinley, awaiting muster out, secured a ten days' furlough to bury his wife. Evidence has been introduced to show that after the affair with her in the hotel last Wednesday night, when his wife was saved from the effects of morphine by a doctor, he went to her stopping place the next night and administered certain mysterious pills to her, that he was nervous that night and that when he went away he left directions to have the pills given to her every hour.

Today Mr. H. Crosby, who formerly resided in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronor Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as a desperate character. He testified that Stader had four wives and that he had trouble with all one of them dying in the poor house from desertion. Coronar Anthony told his jury to bring in a verdict. The jurors demanded a post-mortem examination of the young woman who died Sunday in an ambulance, at first supposed from morphine taken in Cedar Falls, where he was a detective, testified that J. M. Stader, the soldier in this case, is the same man as "Milt Stader," whom he knew at Cedar Falls as