

ALLEN DISTORTING FACTS

Populist Senator Makes Statements to Defend His Brethren.

HIS CONNECTION WITH THE STOCK YARDS

Some Peculiar Manipulations of the Party's Platform in Which Advantage Was Taken of a Sleepy Convention.

LINCOLN, Oct. 24.—(Special).—The discovery has been made that it is Senator Allen that is telling the newspaper men that the buying of butterine is exclusively a republican crime.

LYONS, Neb., Oct. 22.—To the Editor of The Bee: At several points in the state it is reported that Senator Allen has made the statement in public meetings that he ordered the butterine purchased by the populist officials.

The statement is not correct, as Allen well knows. The butterine was bought by the populist officials on entirely new contracts and they did not begin to take the stock until they had been in office six months.

Allen and the Stock Yards. That Senator Allen is himself not unfamiliar with the packing houses and stock yards is proven by the records of the last populist state convention, where he acted the leading part in getting the stock yards plank knocked out of the party platform.

The stock yards of South Omaha are necessarily patronized by the people of this state in their business and domestic life. The stock yards company charges extortionate prices for the services it renders.

For these reasons we favor the ownership of the stock yards at South Omaha by the state itself, such ownership to be secured either by the purchase of the property or by the issue of state bonds to take the same.

At 10 o'clock in the morning, after one of the delegates had left the convention and another of them had been elected, Senator Allen moved that the party platform be recommended for the purpose of making some minor changes.

We demand a speedy determination of the radical stock yards plank that has been stricken out of the platform of the populist party.

Both Were in the Deal. There has been much discussion over the question as to who were the parties interested in the manipulation of the stock yards plank.

The records of that convention also show the sentiments of Senator Allen on the annexation question and will be interesting reading to those who have heard some of his recent speeches.

The populist suggested the war policy adopted by the national administration. Men of all parties are at the front, and the others who have been in the front are all publicans.

Populists at North Loup. NORTH LOUP, Neb., Oct. 24.—(Special).—On Saturday evening the big gun of the populist campaign was fired at this place.

Any of these extracts and many others just as interesting can be found in the files of the morning newspapers of August 3 and 4. Senator Allen has changed his mind a number of times since then, but on the manipulation of the stock yards plank the populist leaders have been silent as the grave ever since.

Part of Porter Palaver. News comes in of some speeches being made by Secretary Porter in which that great reformer makes some statements well known to be untrue.

the state house. At a meeting in Clay county the other day he was called down by a citizen who said he knew of his own knowledge that warrants were at a premium in 1855.

It is well known that warrants went up to a premium in the winter of 1855, sometimes reaching as high as 2 per cent. During the legislative session there was considerable rivalry among the money lenders as to who should get the warrants and at every payday of the legislative session agents from the brokers swarmed the state house and made bids for the warrants.
