National Council Opens Its Annual Session in the Congregational Church.

WORK OF THE MEETING WELL UNDER WAY

Many Women of National Repute in the Various Movements for the Advancement of Their Sex in Attendance.

The National Council of Women of the United States began its convention to this city yesterday morning in the parlors of the First Congregational church with a business meeting of the officers and a presidential address by Mrs. May Wright Sewall.

The credentials of the delegates were first considered. The report of the executive committee was read and the secretary, Mrs. Louis Barnum Robbins, of Adrian, Mich., also submitted reports which were full of encouragement for the future.

The entire morning, until long after the noon hour, was taken up in a discussion of the question, "What is the Next Triennial?" The first triennial was held in February, 1891, in Washington, D. C. The second triennial was also held there, but it was postponed from 1894 to 1895 because of the work done by the national council for the congress of representative women in Chicago in 1893.

The postponement of the third triennial was due to the long illness and consequent resignation of the president, Mary Lowe Dickinson. The present executive session is being held under the auspices of the exposition.

Another question discussed was whether the council should unite in recommending an amendment to the constitution of the International Council of Women for the purpose of securing a more direct representation. Both these matters were referred to committees.

The afternoon meeting was the first of a series of public meetings to be held while the executive session of the National Council of Women is in session here throughout the week. It was fairly well attended and most of the eighteen organizations affiliated together in the council were represented.

The west is honored by the opportunity to welcome these representatives of American womanhood. Our welcome is inspired by a patriotism that is loyal to all those forces that tend for the betterment of our country.

Woman as a thinking and acting being is no longer a phenomenon. It is true she is not like the man in her power of intellect, but she has her own sphere of activity.

ing to write: "I have come; I have seen; I have conquered." As the president, Mrs. May Wright Sewall, addressed this evening, she said she would be met in less than a fortnight and would indulge in but a brief response.

Council and Expositions. Mrs. Sewall called attention to the grand work done by the bureau of education connected with the exposition in the number of congresses and conventions it had secured for Omaha.

After her, individual responses were made by other officers of the council and the representatives of the affiliated organizations. The first came from Mrs. Louise Harsh, vice president of the council.

"Equal Rights" Start Debate. Susan B. Anthony, the president of the National Woman's Suffrage association, advocated the right of equal suffrage.

Temperance union is to have one this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon the National Suffrage association. The State Suffrage association will probably get together Thursday afternoon.

Reception Last Night. A very pleasant incident of the session of the National Council of Women of the United States was the reception tendered to the speakers and the visiting delegates by the local branches of the Woman's Christian Temperance union.

The annual convention of the American Association of Pairs and Expositions meets at the Millard hotel.

Each state is entitled to five delegates to the convention and the same number is allowed to each province of Canada.

The officers of the association are: President, ex-Governor Robert C. Furnas of Iowa; vice president, A. J. Lewis of Kansas; secretary, James W. Fleming of Columbus, O.

MISS ANTHONY ON EQUAL SUFFRAGE. Object for Which She Has Devoted Many Years' Effort.

Miss Susan B. Anthony, for forty-eight years has been laboring with voice and pen in behalf of woman suffrage and who is now in attendance upon the meeting of the National Council of Women of the United States in this city.

"There is this difference between the work of other women's organizations and that of the suffrage associations. They have something directly to work upon. There is something they can see, feel or obtain which brings immediate results and encourages the work."

"Whenever you hear it charged that we are republicans, or democrats, or other party sympathizers, you may set it down as erroneous. We are for nothing except such conditions as will bring about the changes we have been advocating."

"It is not a majority of the republican party favorable to our cause, therefore we cannot take a party name. It is not the republican party, it is not the political party, it is not the party of any political party or religious belief, but all organizations of women are welcome to join it."

Mrs. Sewall took occasion to remark that it was a pleasure to have in attendance upon the national council would readily entertain the anti-suffragists were they organized. Miss Anthony retorted that she would be only too glad to have them present to hear their objections.

LIVE STOCK EXCHANGE CASE. Kansas City Decision Does Not Dispose of South Omaha Matter.

Points of Difference Between the Suits Brought by the Government in the Cases and What May Result Therefrom.

In discussing the opinion handed down by the supreme court in the case against the Kansas City Live Stock exchange and the Kansas City Traders' Live Stock exchange, Warren Switzer, one of the attorneys for the South Omaha Live Stock exchange, said yesterday: "The reports of the decision published hereafter will be somewhat misleading."

The cases were pushed under the Sherman law, which was passed in 1897, the government claiming that the exchange violated the anti-trust provisions of that act.

The Live Stock exchange is an association composed of commission men, traders, buyers, sellers and packers. The Traders' exchange is a kind of general organization composed exclusively of those who buy and sell their own account.

Not Out of the Woods. "The case is settled as far as the Live Stock exchange is concerned by the holding of the court that they are not engaged in interstate commerce unless the matter is taken up under the state law."

John T. Cathers made no attempt to conceal his disappointment when informed of the decision of the supreme court in the Kansas City Live Stock exchange case.

South Omaha Live Stock exchange permit it to build and operate railroads, build and maintain stock yards, feed, slaughter, buy and sell live stock, by which it is held to be transacting business of an interstate character.

It is also alleged that shippers in adjoining states draw on commission men for amounts which are supposed to cover the value of a shipment and the drafts are honored and that stock is received, sometimes accompanied only by a bill of lading, which the commission men accept, and after marking the sale, paying the freight and yard charges, deducting his commission, etc., takes it to the bank, which remits to the shipper the amount due him.

Exchange People Well Pleased. The news of the decision was received with unmistakable signs of pleasure at the stock yards at South Omaha.

FIRE AND POLICE MATTERS. Board Removes Sergeant Halter and Appoints Major Llewellyn to the Position.

Another step was taken in the reorganization of the police department by the Board of Police and Police Commissioners last night. Sergeant W. Halter, a political appointee of the former board, was displaced and the vacant vacancy filled by the appointment of C. E. Llewellyn.

A Police Relief association warrant in the amount of $500 was issued to Mrs. Lucretia M. Brown, secretary of the organization, by Patrolman Dillon, secretary of the board, on November 1st.

The next meeting of the board will take place on November 1, because of the coincidence of the regular meeting night with Omaha day.

WIFE'S AWFUL ECZEMA. Torture was so Intense Husband Thought She Could Not Live Twelve Hours. Doctors Finally Reached Could Not Even Relieve. No Sleep For Seven Days.

Tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. Asleep after First Application. Cured Well and Hearty.

I desire to inform you what CUTICURA (ointment) and CUTICURA SOAP have done for my wife. She was in the most miserable condition of any human being, from that most torturing of skin diseases, Eczema. She could neither sit down or lie down, her torture was so intense that she thought she could not live twelve hours.
