was cut off. That this might be accomplished the firemen turned two streams upon the main, choking the flow of gas and at the same time cooling the pipe. Electrician Gliem, braving the intense heat, entered the meter room and cut off the gas at the floor valve of the main.

Throughout the lower central portion of the old capitol building, doors, windows and fittings in committee rooms and other apartments are badly damaged. Just north of th crypt an archway almost over the meter room was completely blown out and great masses of masonry torn from the floor were hurled to the ceiling with such force as to burst the stone and plaster of the walls above. Ponderous flagstones were wrenched from their resting places and throughout the corridors the frescoing on the ceilings and walls was utterly ruined. No damage was done to the main foundations of the building, as these are of solid masonry deeply embedded and twenty-five feet four Inches thick.

The electric light apparatus, including dy namos, boilers and wirings, was not damaged. In order to enable the firemen to work without peril from live wires Electrician Gliem cut off the current from all of the Second division. Articles of incorpowires except on the circuit which lighted the lower western part of the building. Within thirty feet of the scene of the explosion a solitary incandescent lamp, marking the exact center of the capitol structure and hanging directly over the bler in which it was proposed to lay the remains of George Washington, burned brifliantly.

Among the losses which will be most sin cerely regretted are those of busts of Chief Justice Marshall and other distinguished members of the supreme court, which were arranged on small pedestals about the supreme court chamber. In the smoke and ruin which followed the explosion these valuable works of art were either hadly damaged or wholly destroyed and with their destruction the country has suffered an irreparable loss. Many of them have been treasured as exhibits in the supreme court chamber for half a century.

Most Disastrous of All.

The capitol building has been damaged a number of times before by fire, but it is believed that tonight's fire will prove to be the most disastrous in the history of the building.

On two occasions prior to this fires have been started by explosions of gas. Seventeen years ago a large amount of damage was done to the same part of the building by an explosion of this kind and in 1876 there was an explosion of gas that killed one man and came near killing another. No intelligent estimate of the money los by the explosion and fire can yet be made In the opinion of capitol officials and me chanles who examined the structure tonight the loss will reach probably $200,000 to the building. The loss on the library and rec ords, as stated above, can scarcely be estimated in dollars and cents. A million doltars would not replace them, because of many of them no duplicates are in existence

Arrangements were completed tonight by Librarian Clarke of the supreme court and Colonel Richard Bright, sergeant-at-arms of the senate, by which the sittings of the supreme court will not be interrupted. The court will convene tomorrow in the room of the senate committee on the District of Columbia, one of the most spacious rooms in the capitol. How long the sessions of the court will be held there will be determined by the justices themselves.

The Girl's Clear Complexion the Reflection of Her Good Health.

"You are desirous of baving a clear complexion?" inquires Ruth Ashmore in the ternally. The complexion is the thermometer that tells by its sallowness that the liver is out of order; by the red spots upon it that heavy look that the kidneys demand treat-Water externally and internally ment.

makes woman good to look upon. Taken internally, it flushes several important organs and acts upon them as a rinser, carrying away all the poisonous matter that has so rapidly accumulated. Where your digestion is out of order a simple medicine recommended by a southern mamy and found of it is looked forward to with pleasure. while its effect is shown by the utter lack of nimples or scots, by the smoothness of the skin and the brightness of the eyes.
