Board of Directors of the Exposition Want More Money.

WILL LOOK INTO THE NEW ORGANIZATION

Do Not Want to Sell at Any Price Until It Knows Who is Behind the Scheme for Another Show.

The board of directors of the exposition will meet at the Millard hotel at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The principal business is the report of the executive committee on the proposition submitted by P. E. Her and Hayden Brothers at the previous meeting to purchase the entire chattel property of the association for $100,000. It is unofficially intimated that the committee is not likely to recommend the acceptance of the proposition. It is urged that the property is worth much more than the amount that is offered, and some of the members have stated they do not propose to sell the property unless they know who is behind the scheme, and are satisfied that they have the funds and capacity to make it a success.

SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE

Episcopal Delegates Gather to Discuss the Needs and Methods of Their Work.

The Sunday School Institute of the Episcopal Diocese of Nebraska, which convened in Trinity cathedral Wednesday evening, continued in session all of yesterday. Bishop Worthington, ex-officio president, presiding, Wednesday evening the business consisted of the discussion of a paper presented by Dean Fair, entitled "The Ideal Sunday School."

In the morning the institute opened by the administration of holy communion, followed by the business meeting, at which reports of the final condition of the institute were presented and adopted. These showed a healthy condition and a steady gain during the last year. The election of officers resulted in the selection of the following: Vice president, Rev. George E. Walk; secretary, Rev. Charles L. Hopper; treasurer, Mrs. Mary C. Burnam. A paper on "What is the Best Arrangement of Services and Lessons for Sunday Schools?" was presented by Rev. Charles Herbert Young, who contended that there was no rule that would apply to all Sunday schools, owing to the fact that the same conditions could not prevail in any two schools. A general discussion of the subject was taken up and continued until the arrival of the hour for the presentation of the paper, "What is the Best Method for Sunday School Offerings?" The discussion of this subject continued during the remainder of the morning session, several different views being presented.

During the noon hour the members of the convention met around the dinner table and at 2:30 o'clock they gathered at the cathedral, where after the preliminary exercises papers were read by the local clergy: "How Can We Entertain the Older Children in Sunday School?" Rev. Potter of St. Matthias; "What is the Best Method to Interest Parents in Sunday Schools?" Rev. Doherty of St. M. (Ibid.); "How Can We Persuade Men to Take an Interest in Sunday Schools?" Rev. Walk of the Church of the Good Shepherd; "What Preparation Ought to Be Made for Sunday School Teachers?" Rev. Young of St. John's. Discussions followed.

The Fire and Police Commissioners met last evening and adjusted a few items of unfinished business. The trial of Captain A. C. Taylor of Hook and Ladder company No. 1 was to have been held, but owing to the absence of the principal witness, W. H. Cray, it was continued until the meeting next Monday evening.

A request made by the Joseph Schlitz Brewing company, that the amount of money paid by it for a saloon license for 3502 North Sixteenth street and not allowed because of the protest of residents of the vicinity, be referred to the Finance Committee. MATTERS IN DISTRICT COURT Hearing of the Exposition Contempt Cases Proceeds with Routine Testimony—Docket Notes.

The testimony of Gaston Akoun of the Streets of All Nations was the feature of the exposition contempt case before Judge Scott yesterday morning. Akoun testified in such a manner as to leave the impression that the Orientals have come together in a combination to get the best of the exposition management. Something of a sensation was created when Akoun swore that Carroll Montgomery had told him that Judge Scott was crazy. The main point of Akoun's evidence had reference to the obtaining of the Keyser-Powell-Slabaug injunction.

Habeas Corpus for a Girl

An application for a writ of habeas corpus was made yesterday by Mrs. Sarah C. Crisman in behalf of her 12-year-old daughter, Stella. She claims that the girl, Van Techine, and Mrs. Van Techine's mother, Mrs. Carson, have been unlawfully detaining the girl at Second and Spring streets and, under the impression that Mrs. Van Techine took the girl to Fort Wayne, Ind., Mrs. Crisman went there yesterday to get possession of the child. County Judge Scott, before whom the case was partly heard, found it necessary to continue the matter to the 26th in the absence of the petitioner, in the meanwhile ordering the girl to be kept at the Good Tidings home conducted by Mrs. Amanda C. Benedict at Twenty-seventh and Decatur streets. The girl testified that she was whipped by her mother and that great wells were made on her body and she wanted to be left with Mrs. Carson. Her mother has been soliciting for the Good Tidings home.

Carroll's Case Postponed.

Burkett, the secretary, Sheriff McDonald has been appointed receiver of the Haid-Gotly Soap company. Burkett claims that he put $5,507 of stock into the concern and that the other stockholders are trying to dispose of the stock in such a way as to threaten his interests.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

Commission men at the Live Stock exchange appear to be greatly pleased at a decision rendered a day or two ago by the Kansas City court of appeals in connection with the somewhat celebrated and long standing case of Thompson, Payne & Co. against Irwin, Allen & Co. The case originated in 1879 and has been in the Kansas and Missouri courts for nineteen years. This case, it is stated, contains the principle of whether a commission man is liable for the sale of stolen cattle and naturally settles every person engaged in the live stock business. The Kansas City court of appeals affirms that he is not and thereby settles a controversy that has furnished food for lawyers for nearly a score of years. In 1879 a shipment of Irwin, Allen & Co. of a lot of stock valued at $520. This firm sold the consignment to Thompson, Payne & Co. A few days after the deal was closed it developed that the cattle had been stolen. Thompson, Payne & Co. instituted proceedings against Irwin, Allen & Co. to recover. The case was carried from one court to another in Kansas and Missouri. After a few years there was talk of a compromise but it was thought best to fight the question to an issue and establish a principle whether the commission man is liable. This case cost both litigants thousands of dollars but it is claimed now that the decision settles the matter for good.

Stamps and Live Stock Exchange.

When the National Live Stock Exchange held its annual session here last month the question of placing revenue stamps on all bills, etc., was taken up and discussed and referred to the executive committee with power to act. The question was brought up again by one of the judges in the United States court in Chicago a day or two ago and the court held that all transactions at live stock exchanges must be stamped and that stamps must be affixed to all bills, checks, etc., dating from July 1. While the commission men here and at other exchanges commenced stamping checks on July 1, account sales and other memoranda between buyer and seller were not stamped. It was not until September 18 that Omaha revenue officers compelled an enforcement of the law in every detail. Statements have been made by the commission firms showing how much they owe the government for account sales, etc., not stamped between July 1 and September 18, but the amounts have not been paid owing to the desire on the part of the exchangers to fight the case. After 430 the court has handed down its decision in the case brought by the executive committee the exchangers were notified of the result with the request that the executive committee be advised if further action was desired. More than likely the case will be taken to the United States supreme court, as that appears to be the wish of a majority of the exchangers composing the national exchange.

Fire Department Affairs.

Chief Smith of the fire department received a check from General Manager Kenyon of the stock yards company yesterday as an evidence of appreciation for the work done by the paid fire department at the recent hay barn fire. The fire did not amount to much, but the flames were prevented from spreading by the prompt work of Chief Smith and his men.

At a recent meeting of the council Chief Smith was authorized to appoint captains for the two hose companies in order to have a responsible head at both houses. The chief has not made these appointments yet, but expects to take the matter up with Mayor Ennor in a day or two. No provision was made for paying the captains more than the regular firemen and Chief Smith would like to see this matter arranged. He thinks that a captain should be paid at least $5 a month more than the other men.

Street Railway Improvements.

In fulfillment of its promise to provide better street car service for the Third ward South Omaha street railway company yesterday afternoon it laid a double track along a portion of Q street west of the viaduct. This double track will extend from Twenty-seventh street to about Thirtieth street. One more car will be placed in service on the line, the additional stretch of track allowing the operation of an additional car.

It is understood that the proposed loop around Twenty-sixth and Q streets, has been abandoned. So much opposition developed that officers of the street car company decided not to make the change in the main line.

New Cooper Shop.

The new cooper shop at Thirty-fifth and I streets is about ready to commence operations. It is thought that the making of casks and barrels will begin on or about November 15. Most of the machinery has been placed in position and nearly all of the seventy-five men who will be given employment at the start have been engaged. Some delay has been caused by the non-arrival of material for the rollers and rollers which will be laid from the Belt line to the factory. The stock yards company will lay these tracks and work will commence on them as soon as the material needed reaches here.

Gregg-Hansen.

On Wednesday evening last at the residence of William H. Goodman, W. M. Gregg of Orange, Cal., and Miss Elizabeth M. Hansen of this city were married in the presence of invited friends. The ceremony was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Wheeler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The bride has been for the last two years one of the teachers of Douglas county while the groom is the eldest son of Calvin D. Gregg of Avery, Neb. Mr. and Mrs. Gregg have gone to Orange, Cal., where they will reside in the future. Mr. Gregg is engaged in orange and lemon raising.

Twins, a son and a daughter, were born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Henry West, Twentieth street and Missouri street. City Treasurer Frank Broadwell left for New York, state's last night, having been home by the serious illness of his mother. Members of the paid fire department are arranging for a grand ball to be given on the evening of November 23 at the hall on the new city building.

The Packers' bank is issuing a new style of check book with the revenue stamp printed in colors in the center of the book. A book contains fifty checks and is sold for the cost of the stamps. Interment at the German Catholic cemetery.

A. P. Allen, one of the pioneers of Nebraska, died yesterday at the age of 93 years. The deceased was born in Lee county, Virginia, and came to Nebraska, Neb., in 1856. Four daughters survive him, they being Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Burch and Miss Clark. The funeral will be held at Calhoun this afternoon at 3 o'clock. A series of instructions will be begun this evening at St. Martin's Episcopal church, which will continue throughout the coming week on each evening except Sunday. Rev. W. S. Howard, head of the Associate mission, Omaha, will be the lecturer. A question box, in which any person attending the services may place questions, will be a feature of the service. The subject of Rev. Howard's discourse tonight will be "Lot's Choice."

Keeps Up Her Jumping.

Ruby Nicholson, an insane Salvation Army lazie, made an attempt to jump from one of the windows of the women's department in the second story of the city jail Thursday morning, but was frustrated by Police Martin Tiedeman. The woman was part way through the window when the matron discovered her.

A ROYAL SWINDLE.

The Cuban lottery one of the curses of the island.

The Royal lottery of Cuba, with headquarters in Havana, is still doing business. It is the king of Spain, as every winning the grand prize of $50,000 at each drawing. The royal gambling scheme, however, is nearing the end of its fortune-promoting and pauper-producing career in Cuba. For many years, relates the Washington Post, this operation, existing by royal grant and under royal favor, has conducted a thoroughly honorable swindling business. Its little red tickets have spread over the island, irritatingly, like the signs of prickly heat over a body. Billetes de Loteria have sold 1,000,000 a month at $1 each. And 25 per cent of the amount has been paid monthly to the royal ruler of Spain. But now that the said royal ruler is no longer to rule Cuba, and since his royal army is to evacuate the island, his royal lottery is in danger of extinction.

Hence, the corporation's president and all its vice presidents have put their heads together and concocted a scheme, by the operation of which they hope to continue business at the old stand. They have planned to cut loose from the royal head in Spain, to change the corporation's name from "Royal" and substitute the word "Cuban." Moreover, the 25 per cent of the gross receipts now demanded and received by Spanish royalty will be offered to the Cuban government. The question now is, will the Cuban government, or rather, ought the Cuban government, to accept the proffered bribe and permit the lottery to continue business?

In Havana, Santiago, Cienfuegos, Matanzas, everywhere in the island, lottery tickets are sold by every worthless man, woman or child who can secure the concurrence of a broker. The broker trusts the peddler with the tickets and the peddler sells them for a commission. Thus far the lottery scheme is good—it furnishes employment for the needy and the never-do-well. The peddlers part by the commission firms showing how much they owe the government for account sales, etc., not stamped between July 1 and September 18, but the amounts have not been paid owing to the desire on the part of the exchangers to fight the case.

After 430 the court has handed down its decision in the case brought by the executive committee the exchangers were notified of the result with the request that the executive committee be advised if further action was desired. pen tray, letter file, paper cutter, stamp box, letter rack and candle for sealing wax. These things are so enumerated as the positive necessities and there are always to be seen many other dainty accessories—photographs without number in every possible sized and shaped frames, vases (small and large), silver-topped mullage bottles, silver boxes filled with shot or bristles in which to put pens, silver ink erasers, etc., until there positively seems no end to the pretty trifles that can be used on a writing table.

The antiquary mahogany desks are very fashionable, and many old treasures have been brought to light of this design with brass handles and feet of most beautiful wood. There are many imitations of the real antique desks that are exquisite in finish and design—some are of plain mahogany; others of the marquetry. A desk with a swell front with three large drawers is very popular, but another style with two small drawers at either side, and in shape somewhat like the dressing table, is also much liked.

For bedrooms the simple desks are the best, made of the same wood as the rest of the furniture, these do not have many drawers nor pigeon holes, and are only for temporary use in guest rooms. They are very inexpensive, some being sold for as little as $2.50 and $3, rather in contrast to those of mahogany or marquetry, for which hundreds of dollars are asked. Roll-top office desks are now sometimes seen in bedrooms. Women who have a great deal of correspondence find them so useful that their ugly shape and cumbersome size are not thought of. An office desk is never an attractive piece of furniture, but is undeniably useful. The dainty furnishing now so fashionable for writing desks is not of necessity expensive; silver articles are surprisingly cheap, while in leather and china the same things are duplicated. Christmas, Easter and birthday presents of these same little trifles soon accumulate, and the writing desk is furnished very quickly, while pretty writing paper is now inexpensive.

What She Would Want. Chicago Post: "And when we are married," said the beautiful young girl to whom the aere millionnaire had just proposed, "will you give me everything I want?" "Everything, my charmer," replied the old man in an ecstasy of delight at this intimation that she would surrender; "everything that you can ask."

"If I could believe you," she said doubtfully, "I would not hesitate a minute." "Why should you doubt me?" he asked. "Oh, because of the character of the request I would make," she answered. "You mean well but I'm afraid you might back out. You see, the first thing I should ask for is divorce, and I should like to get it as soon as possible." "I will give you that," said the millionaire. "I will give you that," said the millionaire.

Victory. Detroit Journal: With glittering reins the victorious proconsul returned to Rome. He was met at the gates by the conscript fathers. SINGULAR STATEMENT. From Mrs. Rank to Mrs. Pinkham. The following letter to Mrs. Pinkham from Mrs. M. Rank, No. 2354 East Susquehanna Ave., Philadelphia, Pa., is a remarkable statement of relief from utter discouragement. She says: "I never can find words with which to thank you for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. Some years ago I had womb trouble and doctored for a long time, not seeing any improvement. At times I would feel well enough, and other times was miserable. So it went on until last October, I felt something terrible creeping over me. I knew not what, but kept getting worse. I can hardly explain my feelings at that time. I was so depressed in spirits that I did not wish to live, although I had everything to live for. Had hysteria, was very nervous; could not sleep and was not safe to be left alone. Indeed, I thought I would lose my mind. No one knows what I endured. I continued this way until the last of February, when I saw in a paper a testimonial of a lady whose case was similar to mine, and who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I determined to try it, and felt better after the first dose. I continued taking it, and to-day am a well woman, and can say from my own experience that it is the best medicine I have ever used. Thank God for such a medicine."

Mrs. Pinkham writes all suffering women to write to her at Lynn, Mass., for advice. All such letters are seen and answered by women only.
