$50,000 DRESS GOODS AND SILK SACRIFICE

The indiscretion of an eastern firm's dress goods and silk buyer, entails a loss of over fifty thousand dollars to his house. He bought twice the quantity he was authorized to, with the result of an immense overstock, which had to be turned into cash IMMEDIATELY to settle the bills, regardless of the sacrifice it might entail.

OUR IMMEDIATE, QUICK, SPOT CASH OFFER TOOK THE LOT.

GOSSIP ABOUT NOTED PEOPLE. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., employed as a mechanical engineer in the New York Central railroad, has designed a freight engine that is now being tested with results which promise, so far, to be highly satisfactory. It is said to be capable of handling loads greater by 20 per cent than those handled by any of the older locomotives, and while it consumes more coal it saves, by drawing more cars, the wages of a certain number of engineers and firemen.

that the prices were raised; it was therefore decided that the students of the Conservatorium must waive their usual right to free admission to these concerts. But the students objected with vigor. They were as anxious as anybody to hear the "Swedish Nightingale." A protest was made, and young Otto Goldschmidt, aged 18, was the student deputed by the others to interview the authorities. In the end he won the day. He little thought then that in half a dozen years he would be equally successful in winning the singer herself.

Joseph Jefferson says that while acting in the west one evening he received a note, the writer of which stated that he was so overcome by Mr. Jefferson's performance that he felt he must let the actor know how he had appreciated it. The letter closed: "My name is Blank, and I am the inventor of Blank's spring beds. I would like to send, as a token of my gratitude, one of my beds to you for your family. I am entirely disinterested in the matter, and all I ask you to do will be simply, when you wake up in the last act, to say you wouldn't have felt so bad if you had been sleeping on one of Blank's spring beds."

this, which he told to a Philadelphia acquaintance: "An Irishman named Dugan was brought before a Dublin magistrate on the charge of stealing a goose. It appeared that Mickey was ignorant of the warning that for weeks past he has gathered all the stale eggs he could find in the village and amused himself by bombarding her. It was probably his playful way of owning up that this marriage was a failure. The houses of Byron and Bulwer will be united by the wedding in London of Neville Lytton, the younger of the late earl's two sons, and Miss Judith Blunt, the granddaughter of Byron's. Ada, sole daughter of my house and heart." Both are very young and the bridegroom will not be 20 at the time of the wedding.

One of Roosevelt's Rough Riders has proved himself a veritable Lochinvar. Virgil Ramsey eloped with Elsie Mullen at Everly, Ky., and the two rode on horseback forty miles to catch a train for St. Louis, pursued by the bride's father. They were married in Jeffersonville, Ind., just before the angry parent arrived. W. T. Clifford, who jumped into the sea and ineffectually tried to save the life of Barney Barnato, the diamond king, has been rewarded by his bravery by Mrs. Barnato, who has settled an annuity on him. His deed of valor won a bride for him also and next month he will wed Miss Gertrude Rodney, a South African heiress, who was on board the ship from which Barnato jumped into the Atlantic. There was "a hot time" in that section of Milwaukee known as Jones' island recently all day and night. "Governor" Kanski, ruler of the island, was married in the morning to Miss Valentina Butwick in St. Stanislaus church in the presence of a great throng of his subjects and friends. After the wedding party had been photographed the members returned to the island and the festivities were begun. The "governor" kept open house and no one had to ask for a glass of the beverage "that made Milwaukee famous." The unique part of the festivities, known as the bride's dance, was started during the afternoon. In this function it is expected that everyone who dances with the bride will drop a contribution in a box conspicuously placed for that purpose. As will be seen, the bride's dowry depends much on her strength and ability to bear fatigue. Mrs. Kanski was still ready to meet all partners and the box was well filled. She set her limit at 500 partners before the dance began. Miss Beatrice Hoyt, who has now for three successive years won the women's golf championship of America, is a granddaughter of Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase.

THE OLD-TIMERS. David Kahnweiler, the inventor of the cork jacket life preserver, who died in New York last week, lost a fortune several times and made it again by new inventions, among which were a mulling machine, a metallic life raft and a cash carrier system for use in large stores. He was born in Bavaria and was 72 years old. Frau Charlotte Eubelen, the only surviving sister of Heinrich Heine, has just celebrated her 84th birthday. She received many congratulations, including presents of flowers and hundreds of letters and dispatches. The emperor of Austria sent her a photograph of the late empress and returned a collection of the poet's letters which Frau Eubelen had presented to her majesty in 1892. Mrs. Lucy Alexander, believed to be the oldest person in the state of Iowa, died at Keokuk, Ia., last Monday. Her death was due to the infirmities of old age. She said that she was 10 years old at the close of the revolutionary war. The best obtainable records place the year of her birth as 1779. She seemed familiar with the details of revolutionary history and the constructive period of American history. Her hearing and sight were unimpaired and she had one tooth remaining. She was of full African blood, her grandparents being brought over as slaves from Africa.
